Messmer visits Loogootee model with former residents

Yesterday, State Rep. Mark Messmer (R-Jasper) visited the model of the Town of Loogootee displayed at the Statehouse and created by Loogootee resident Tom Strange. Rep. Messmer viewed the model with former Loogootee residents Albert and Candy Kennedy.

The model, hand-built by Loogootee native Tom Strange, depicts Loogootee's downtown square as it was in 1953, just as to the Statehouse. the town was celebrating its centennial.

What started out as a train set turned into a full-blown historical model when Strange ran across an aerial picture of Loogootee's town square in a 1953 school yearbook. The model has been displayed in Loogootee as well as the Indiana State Library, where it will be partially disassembled for the move

"The dedication and care Mr. Strange took to create the model is very apparent," said Rep. Messmer. "I'm proud to represent and see one of Indiana's finest small towns displayed at the Statehouse for all Hoosiers to see."

Commissioners hear resident complaint, road safety issues

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT Martin County Journal Publisher

Highway Superintendent Jim Williams reported he received a complaint of a safety hazard at the Poplar Grove Road and Davis School Road intersection to the Martin County Commissioners Tuesday night, February 8. He said it is currently only a threeway stop with only one stop sign and there is a blind spot in both directions when you pull up from Davis School Road. "There has been some real close calls right there at that intersection," he said. He said the only way to fix the road is to cut it down on both sides which is not feasible so the intersection will be changed to a three-way stop.

Williams also reported that the differential went out of one of the dump trucks. The repair was around $1,200 to $1,300.

Civil Defense Director Monty Wolfe spent some time discussing upcoming flood training classes with the commissioners including state requirements, etc.

Auditor Nancy Steiner reported that a Loogootee homeowner reported damage done to their property after a member of Martin County Civil Defense stepped through their ceiling while investigating the smell of smoke reported.

Wolfe told Steiner that it needed to be double checked to make sure the firefighter was with civil defense and not the Loogootee Volunteer Fire Department since it was in Loogootee's district. He said if the

Councilman questions what is made public knowledge

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT Martin County Journal Publisher

Martin County Council member John Stoll expressed problems with the January minutes during the approval process at the February county council meeting Monday night. He said that when issues with the downstairs judge's offices were discussed at the January meeting, they were more detailed than what was portrayed in the minutes. With letters from Judge Lynne Ellis, along with employees of the courthouse being discussed at length, he felt that a one word line in the minutes made it sound different than what was actually talked about. "I think we covered everything on that letter and I don't think one line of she's having trouble with computers really tells what the problem was down there," he said.

"Well, I do things at my discretion John, I mean this was the facts," said Auditor Nancy Steiner who writes the minutes for the council.

"But that wasn't the facts because this is important that somebody knew what was going on down there," said Stoll.

Auditor Steiner said she has no problem changing the minutes but she would like for Stoll to tell her what to put down word for word and have the council approve it.

Stoll said he just wanted to see a set of minutes that told what went on at the meeting and if he doesn't see that he will just disapprove it.

Steiner said, "Ok, that's fine, what do you want me to put down?"

Council President Rich Summers asked Stoll, "So, are you stating you want a correction in the minutes?"

"I want it to say what went on in the minutes," said Stoll.

Stoll told Steiner that the audio recording she keeps should say what was said at the meeting so she would already know what to put down. Steiner replied that if she put down everything that was said in a meeting the minutes it would be 10 pages long.

Stoll said that he wanted stated that the new judge had to change a telephone line to her office, put in a computer line to her office, change the lights in her office, change the combination and keys to 45 doors. "And it went on and on," he said. "She didn't have any of the passwords, the main safe was open but the combination was gone and if you don't think anything like that is important to have in the minutes than your opinion of what should be in the minutes is completely different than mine," he said.

Steiner replied that their difference in what's important from each meeting would probably happen from time to time.

Stoll said that Steiner did think it was important to add that information to the commissioners' minutes but not the council minutes.

"If you want me to go back and put (See 'COUNCIL' on page two) around talking about it'

To the editor of the Martin County Journal,

Don't believe the talk you'll be hearing about raising the government debt ceiling. Those who want to scare us into thinking the government will completely shut down the day we reach the current limit are not telling the truth.

I was reading an article in the Wall Street Journal about this subject. The research says that if Congress refuses to raise the debt ceiling, the federal government will still have far more than enough money to fully service our debt. After all, don't all of us pay taxes every day? Tax revenues will cover about 67 percent of all government expenditures, so why would the Chicken Little "sky is falling" mantra be necessary?

I'm not in favor of expanding the amount of debt our children and grandchildren have to carry. Heck, I don't even want to saddle them with the current amount of debt we owe. We must continue to hammer home to our elected officials that we need to see substantive work done on lowering our debt. We can no longer afford to sit around talking about it -we need to deal with it!

Please contact our legislators and urge them not to raise the debt ceiling. Don't let them continue to play "chicken" with our children and grandchildren's futures.

'The move to Eastern Time is now an outdated decision'

To the editor of the Martin County Jour-

Many people think that Indiana moved from the Central to Eastern Time Zone in 2005. WRONG! Here is what really happened.

80 Indiana counties began moving from Central to Eastern in 1961 - fifty years ago - with 12 counties remaining on Central.

In 2005, Senate Enrolled Act 127 adopted daylight saving time AND, in Section 6, urged Governor Daniels to petition USDOT to hold hearings to determine which time zone was best for all Hoosiers. In his petition, Governor Daniels suggested appropriate locations scattered throughout Indiana for the hearings to be held.

On August 10, 2005, USDOT declined

'We can no longer afford to sit holding statewide hearings because Indiana's request hadn't specified where the time zone boundaries should be located. Instead, USDOT agreed to allow individual counties to request a change of time zone and gave counties 36 days to file those requests. Even though this short amount of time caused great internal controversy, 17 counties filed requests to move to Central Time. This would have brought the total to 29 counties on Central and 63 on Eastern.

What was wrong with this picture?

The entire state is affected by our time zone situation, not just a few counties; yet, Indiana's citizens were denied statewide hearings because of a "technicality".

The confusion caused by having a state divided into two time zones is very divisive for its citizens and costly for businesses. USDOT's approach escalated the divisive-

House Concurrent Resolution 0011, is intended to correct the mistake made in 2005. It requests USDOT to restore all of Indiana to its correct Central Time Zone (with the exception of certain counties in southeast-Indiana located in Cincinnati/Louisville metro-area). HCR 0011 has been assigned to the House Public Policy Committee and Hoosiers are waiting to see if we will again be denied the opportunity to be heard - this time by our own legislature.

Conditions have changed in the last 50 years. Today, Indiana is part of the global economy and modern communications allow instant interaction anywhere in the world, including the financial centers on the East Coast. The move to Eastern Time is now an outdated decision that is causing unintended and unforeseen health, safety, and welfare consequences for today's Hoosiers. Eastern's dark mornings are unsafe for students and commuters. Research proves that dark mornings and late evening sunlight negatively impact educational performance.

Restoring Indiana to the Central Time Zone costs nothing and would return Indiana to the sunlight schedule Hoosiers enjoyed when our summers were on "Chicago Time" (Central Daylight Time). The Central Time Coalition is urging Hoosiers to contact their legislators. More information can be found on www.hoosiersforcentraltime.com.

word for word I will John," said Steiner.

"I didn't say you had to put word for word, just about what I said would take care of it," said Stoll.

"I can do that; that's not a problem," said Steiner.

Highway Superintendent Jim Williams from the audience suggested that Auditor Steiner attached the letter from Ellis to the minutes as an amendment. The council felt this was a good idea and approved adding Judge Ellis' letter along with the four from employees to the public minutes.

In other business, Council President Rich Summers discussed with the other council members options for bringing money into the general fund. The council was provided with a large booklet to look over pertaining to LOIT (Local Option Income Tax) and Summers said that he and Auditor Steiner spoke with Kim Chattin of the Department of Local Government Finance on what the county's options were. One option presented was imposing the wheel tax although Summers said that could be discussed at the next meeting; LOIT being the second option. He said that the COIT and EDIT funds are maxed out and no more money can be acquired for the county there. Property taxes are also maxed out. He noted that the wheel tax would not help the general fund but it would benefit the highway department.

At the end of the meeting Council member John Stoll addressed the other council members stating he was approached by two male residents in a public setting, one with questions concerning WestGate. The first question was when Martin County would receive monetary value for WestGate and how many employees at the tech park actually come from Martin County. He said that when WestGate was granted tax abatement one stipulation was that they would provide jobs for Martin County residents. The third question was how many jobs were created and how many were over $50,000.

"I think he needs to go to a WestGate meeting and ask them this," said Council member Lynn Gee. "How come we have

Council member Warren Albright told Stoll that the tax abatement given was not based on the amount of employees it was based on the amount of money given from the state. He said that once they reached 50 employees the state was to give them $200,000 and the redevelopment commission received back a portion of that money.

Stoll's fourth question from the gentleman asked when the land was sold now occupied by WestGate and what did the county receive in payment for the real estate. The last question concerned a transfer of foreclosed real estate to the commissioners and then from the commissioners to the redevelopment commission.

Auditor Steiner told Stoll that all transfers of real estate are public record located in the recorder's office.

Stoll said that the resident's issue was that the property was never put up for bid and his main question was what did the county ever get out of WestGate?

Council member Gee said that the county got industry.

Council member Albright said that the county receives property tax on the land and local income tax from the employees on the Martin County side.

After the discussion ended Auditor Steiner asked if the gentleman's questions should be included in the minutes for the record. Council member Randy Wininger said that a name should be included with the questions. Stoll said he would ask the man if his name could be put in for the record.

Sheriff Rob Street reported to the council that he is currently getting estimates on what it will cost to repair the plumbing in 15 jail cells that are currently closed down.

He also reported that most of the outside lighting was not working. Duke Energy was responsible for four of the lights and Sheriff Street said they came last week to replace the bulbs. He said, however, that only five of the six lights located on the outside walls of the jail were out and the bulbs in those have been replaced but still were not operable. He said they look as though they have been burnt but is not sure if lightning was the cause. He is currently getting estimates for those as well.

The sheriff also reported that the jail's water bills are averaging $3,000 a month due to the stools running which is more than double the average and has been going on for around eight months. Some of the valves have been replaced however more work is needed to repair some of the stools. He said Messmer Mechanical, of Jasper, came to the jail and said that there are enough parts available in house to fix six of the stools, so labor would be the only added cost. The sheriff said that he will be unable to house anymore Department of Correction's inmates until the cells are repaired. "We're losing money on the DOCs and we're losing money on the water bills too," said Council member Lynne Gee. The council verbally agreed to have the cells repaired and reopened as soon as pos-

The council approved the following additional appropriations:

From the judge for $1,564 for law books from the general fund, $21,815 from the Emergency Telephone System for dispatcher II, and $276,028 from the Rainy Day fund for health insurance that was approved at budget time.

He said there is still an outstanding bond associated with WestGate that will be paid off in three years. "Long term debt we're done, short-term debt we have a little bit to go," he said.

After the meeting Judge Ellis invited the board and auditor to take a tour of the downstairs and the improvements and changes that have been implemented so far.

New Beginnings Church WEEKLY MESSAGE

BY SHIRLEY CANELL Pastor's wife

Be Sure! 2 Peter 1:3-4

Are you so sure of whom you are in Christ that it drives you to better things in your faith and in your life? Are you stronger now than you were a month ago, a year ago, five years? Too many Christians are still living in defeat, powerless and unsatisfied. They need a change in their prospective on who they are and what they have gained and what God has given them.

2 Peter 1:3-4, "For His divine power has given us everything required for life and godliness, through the knowledge of Him who called us by His own glory and goodness. By these He has given us very great and precious promises, so that through them you may share in the divine nature, escaping the corruption that is in the world because of evil desires."

Jesus Christ is the one and only power source that provides you the power for living in peace, love and joy. So many times we hear that the power is within us to do whatever we want to do. That is true if you have the right power source. God is the one who holds all things together. When we trust in Him and are obedient to Him, He becomes the source we draw on. He is the vine we are the branches if we are not connected to the vine we will have no power to be over comers in this world. When we become a Christian His power has been given to us in full. Our faith in Jesus Christ and His death on the cross for the sacrifice for our sins gives us the power in full.

The things that pertain to life and godliness have been given to us. When we came to know Jesus Christ as our personal savior we have what we need. He has given it to us. When we know Jesus as Lord and Savior personally you experience God's power and this power produces life and godliness. When we are born again into the family of God by faith in Christ you are born complete. You have been given everything that makes you eternally secure in your salvation and will persevere and grow because you have received everything necessary to sustain eternal life through Christ's power.

Just as a baby has a definite genetic structure that determines how he will grow, so the believer is "genetically structured" to experience glory and virtue. One day we will be like the Lord Jesus Christ. Progressive sanctification is a growing process to be more like Jesus. We have been called by God to be His and when you answered that call you became His child, His work, part of His kingdom, His witness on earth, holy and righteous.

The promises of God are what hold us together; it sustains us and helps us with life and the life that pleases God. In verse 4 we are told of his precious promises. Precious means their value is beyond calculation. The Bible is full of God's promises. I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me. If you confess your sin, He is faithful and just to forgive us our sins and cleanse us from all unrighteousness. Draw near to God and He will draw near to you. Cast your care on Him because He cares for you. God is faithful; He will not let you be tempted beyond your ability but with the temptation, He will also provide a way of escape that you may be able to endure it. The promise of the Holy Spirit; given for our help to endure it.

Through the promises of God we become partakers of the divine nature. When the sinner believes in Jesus Christ the spirit of God uses the word of God to impart the life and nature of God within. A baby shares the nature of its parents and a person born of God shares the divine nature of God. The lost sinner is dead, but the Christian is alive because he shares the divine nature. The lost sinner is decaying because of his corrupt nature, but the Christian can experience a dynamic life of godliness because he has God's divine nature within.

Nature determines appetite, the pig wants slop, the dog will eat his own vomit, but the sheep desire green pastures. Nature determines behavior, an eagle flies, dolphins swim because that is their nature, moles burrow underground, trout swim in water. Nature determines association, lions travel in prides, sheep in flocks and fish in schools. If nature determines appetite and we have God's nature within, then we ought to have an appetite for that which is pure and holy. Our behavior should be like that of the father and we should live in the kind of Spiritual environment that is suited to our nature.

At the time of salvation we escape the decay, the bondage, the defilement of this present evil age. If we feed the new divine nature in us the nourishment of the word, then we will have little interest in the garbage of the world. Godly living is the result of cultivating the new nature within. We have to live in the nature of who we are. We have to feed, nourish and grow in our new nature. Are you sure of who you are in Christ?

This Sunday we will be having our Valentine party pitch-in dinner following our Sunday morning service that starts at 10 a.m. with praise and worship. If you have any questions call pastor Ernie at 709-0258.

Winning name number one: Greg Clark, Martin County

Four Rivers Resource Services awarded threeyear CARF accreditation

CARF International announced that Four Rivers Resource Services has been accredited for a period of three years for its Community and Employment programs. The latest accreditation is the sixth consecutive three-year accreditation that the international accrediting body has awarded to Four Rivers

This accreditation decision represents the highest level of accreditation that can be awarded to an organization and shows the organization's substantial conformance to the CARF standards. An organization receiving a three-year accreditation has put itself through a rigorous peer review process and has demonstrated to a team of surveyors during an on-site visit that its programs and services are of the highest quality, measurable and accountable.

Four Rivers is a nonprofit organization with offices in Daviess, Martin, Greene, and Sullivan counties. It has been providing services to adult individuals with disabilities in the Washington, Loogootee, Lyons, and Sullivan area since 1986.

CARF is an independent, non-profit accrediting body whose mission is to promote the quality, value and optimal outcomes of services through a consultative accreditation process that centers on enhancing the lives of the persons served. Founded in 1966 as the Commission on Accreditation of Rehabilitation Facilities, and now known as CARF, the accrediting body establishes consumer-focused standards to help organizations measure and improve the quality of their programs and services.

State GOVERNMENT

Week in review at the Indiana General Assembly

Along with many businesses and schools around the state, the General Assembly was shut down for two days due to the severe ice and snow storms that blanketed all of the Midwest last week. Legislative business picked up again Thursday with lengthy committee and session agendas. This brief summary highlights some of the bills moved through the Senate last week.

Bills considered by full Senate

Senators were in session last Monday and approved several bills including Senate Bill (SB) 80 pertaining to provisional ballots. Gaining unanimous approval, the bill would require election material related to provisional ballots, excluding the ballots themselves, to be made available for copying and inspection under the access to public records law in the same manner as other election material. The bill passed by a vote of 49-0 and now proceeds to the House of Representatives.

Two bills dealing with driver education issues were considered this week. SB 101 would provide more training for teenagers behind the wheel of an automobile. The bill would authorize the Bureau of Motor Vehicles (BMV) to issue a learner's permit to a person at least 15 years of age (current law is $15 \frac{1}{2}$ years). This change would provide a full 18 months of supervised driving time before teens could obtain a driver's license. The bill would also require new drivers who do not pass a driver education course to be at least 17 ½ years of age and to have held a valid learner's permit for at least six months before a driver's license could be issued. This bill has not yet been voted on by the full Sen-

SB 127 would combine all driver training schools under the operation of the BMV. This would include moving to the BMV commercial driver training schools, motorcycle operator education, secondary school driver training, and truck driver training, all of which are currently operated under various state agencies. The bill passed the Senate by a vote of 44-5 and advances to the House.

Legislation affecting school referendum levies also passed the Senate. SB 323 provides that county councils would no longer be required to certify referendum questions, thus removing them from the school operating levy referendum process and simplifying those procedures.

Committee activities

Last Monday, the Senate Elections Committee advanced a bill aimed at getting more voter responses to public questions on election ballots. SB 161 would require that local public questions be placed on primary and taken on those bills.

general election ballots after the voting instructions and before the offices with candidates for nomination.

The Senate Committee on Pensions and Labor approved SB 575. This controversial proposal would make numerous changes to teacher collective bargaining agreements, including limiting what topics could be contained under the agreements and limiting the duration of an agreement to the end of the state's two year budget cycle. Hundreds of teachers came to the Statehouse last week to oppose the bill. SB 575 passed the committee along party lines.

Both bills are now eligible for consideration by the full Senate.

Numerous bill hearings were cancelled this week due to the inclement weather. Among those cancelled was SB 590, a bill pertaining to illegal immigration matters. Numerous provisions in the bill have raised concerns among representatives of Indiana businesses, faith groups, and social service organizations. Some opponents think that immigration policy is a federal issue and should not be a patchwork of 50 different state policies. Others have expressed concerns about the "English only" provision, which would require that only English be used in public meetings, public documents, by officers and employees of state or local governments, and information provided by state and local government web sites. The bill has been rescheduled for a hearing by the Senate Pensions and Labor Committee February 9. Similar legislation has been heard by previous general assemblies, but has failed to pass both chambers.

Rep. Messmer's bill encourages job growth

State Rep. Mark Messmer (R-Jasper) has up to three years of 100 percent abatement authored House Bill 1007 that would provide additional economic development tools to local governments in order to help attract new businesses to Indiana and promote job growth. In September, House Republicans introduced their "Strengthen Indiana Plan", which included the legislative plan to provide local communities the tools they need to promote job creation.

In summary, the bill would:

-Allow individual counties the option to exempt personal property from the property

-Allow individual counties the option to exempt new investment in personal prop-

-Allow municipalities to pay hiring incentives for new employment.

-Allow municipalities to utilize a point system to enhance abatement schedules for both new and existing businesses.

-Reduce the age limit for the property tax deduction for rehabilitated property from 50 years to 25 years.

-Enhance abatement schedules to allow if the business meets one point on a list of criteria.

-Remove sunset date on the ability of municipalities to exempt enterprise information technology.

HB 1007 passed its second reading in the House. It will now go onto a third and final reading on the House floor.

"House Bill 1007 is going to help attract new businesses to Indiana and therefore put more Hoosiers back to work," said Rep. Messmer. "By giving local governments the necessary tools to encourage economic development in their communities Indiana will continue to lead the nation out of this recession."

HB 1007 was written to help to reform personal property taxes, which is cited as a major impediment to investment by the business community, Indiana Economic Development Corporation and local government officials. Personal property taxes are closely looked at by companies looking to do business in Indiana, and neither Ohio nor Illinois have a personal property tax.

The Messmer Report

By District 63 State Rep. Mark Messmer

Weathering the storm

Despite the ice and snow last week, we were able to make progress in the House and voted on several significant bills. The Speaker fast-tracked a bill from the Senate that would establish vote centers as an option for all counties. In addition, two other bills of public interest were discussed. The first would help Indiana pay back a major deficit and the second would amend the universal carding law created last year.

Senate Bill 32 would increase access for Hoosier voters and decrease the cost of future elections by giving counties the options to create a central voting center. This is in contrast to the traditional precinct voting process where residents are assigned to a specific polling location and on Election Vote Centers were tested in three Indiana counties: Tippecanoe, Cass, and Wayne. All three counties saved thousands of dollars by establishing Vote Centers because they were able to cut down on rental costs of the polling locations and hiring volunteers to work the polls, as well.

Senate Bill 32 passed its second reading in the House. If it passes a third reading in the House then the bill would be put in effect before elections in May so that counties may have the option by the primary election.

On Monday, House Bill 1450 was discussed at length. HB 1450 focuses on the Unemployment Insurance Trust Fund. Currently, the fund is in a $2 billion deficit. The state of Indiana borrowed the money from the federal government, but now must pay it back and this bill would allow us to do so without hurting employers. One of our continued goals is to create jobs and put Hoosiers back to work, so putting more pressure on employers during this recession was not an option. HB 1450 would pay back the $2 billion that the state of Indiana owes while maintaining the weekly the maximum benefit of $390 per week.

Two fairness issues are also resolved by the bill. First, benefits are based on annualized wages which ensures two people making the same amount of money over a year receive the same benefit. This didn't happen in the past, as the formula favored those who worked seasonally.

The second fairness issue is in regards to who is eligible. Unemployment is intended to help those individuals who are between jobs and not receiving a paycheck. This bill closes loopholes so that an individual who takes a voluntary buy-out cannot also draw unemployment, and to make sure that severance packages are counted as weekly wages. Unemployment eligibility would begin the week after the severance package expires.

Finally, a bill that was passed last year has been reconsidered after listening to Hoosiers' concerns. House Bill 1325 would amend the law that requires everyone 21 or older to show ID before purchasing alcohol. It would now only require anyone who looks younger than 40 to be carded. The bill passed its third and final reading on the House floor this week and is being sent to the Senate for consideration.

As always, I welcome your feedback and will continue to keep you updated on our progress in the House.

IRS to start processing delayed returns February 14

The Internal Revenue Service plans a February 14 start date for processing tax returns delayed by December's tax law changes. The IRS reminded taxpayers affected by the delay they can begin preparing their tax returns immediately because many software providers are ready now to accept these returns.

Beginning February 14, the IRS will start processing both paper and e-filed returns claiming itemized deductions on Schedule A, the higher education tuition and fees deduction on Form 8917, and the educator expenses deduction. Based on filings last year, about nine million tax returns claimed any of these deductions on returns received by the IRS before February 14.

People using e-file for these delayed forms can get a head start because many major software providers have announced they will accept these impacted returns immediately. The software providers will hold onto the returns and then electronically submit them after the IRS systems open on February 14 for the delayed forms.

Taxpayers using commercial software can check with their providers for specific instructions. Those who use a paid tax preparer should check with their preparer, who also may be holding returns until the updates are complete.

Most other returns, including those claiming the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC), education tax credits, child tax credit and other popular tax breaks, can be filed as normal, immediately.

The IRS needed the extra time to update its systems to accommodate the tax law changes without disrupting other operations tied to the filing season. The delay followed the December 17 enactment of the Tax Relief, Unemployment Insurance Reauthorization, and Job Creation Act of 2010, which extended a number of expiring provisions including the state and local sales tax deduction, higher education tuition and fees deduction, and educator expenses deduc-

Lt. Governor Skillman accepting Hoosier Rising Star applications

Lt. Governor Becky Skillman announced Monday that she is now accepting nominations for the Hoosier Rising Star Award. The Hoosier Rising Star, created by Lt. Governor Skillman in 2007, acknowledges Hoosier youth who have made a significant difference in their Indiana communities.

"When I travel the state, I connect with Hoosiers from all walks of life and our youth never cease to amaze me," said Lt. Governor Skillman. "This award celebrates Indiana's outstanding young Hoosiers, many who roll up their sleeves daily to make their communities stronger."

Hoosiers are encouraged to nominate an outstanding youth in their community. Any Indiana student enrolled in grades K-12 during the 2010-2011 school year is eligible for the Hoosier Rising Star Award. Priority will be given to students who have created and/or taken the lead on innovative projects that address targeted issues in their communities including economic development, environmental issues, tourism, education, and social issues (abuse, crime, hunger and poverty).

A completed nomination form is required. Nominations forms can be found on the Lt. Governor's website, http://www.lg.in.gov/. Nominations may be supplemented by the student's resume or biography, up to three letters of recommendation and any relevant press clippings.

VU-Jasper to offer social services workshop

A half-day conference on Clinical Services in a Criminal Justice Setting will be held March 4 at the Vincennes University Jasper Campus. The conference will run from 8 a.m. (EST) to 12:30 p.m. in the New Classroom Building at VU Jasper.

The program is designed for social workers, psychologists, mental health counselors, addiction counselors, and marriage and family therapists. Topics for the breakout sessions include Batterer's Treatment Program, Clinical Services at a Secure Facility, and Sexual Offenders' Treatment Program. Upon successful completion of the program, participants will receive a Certificate of Attendance for 4.0 CEUs.

According to Dr. Laura Gibson, assistant professor of Social Sciences at VUJC, "This is relevant to many service providers because these clients will eventually return to their communities and their families. It is hoped that providing information about clinical services for this population will enhance continuity of services for clients, as well as provide a broader perspective for family centered services." The fee is $55 per person and group discounts available for enrollments of three or more from the same organization. To register or for more information, contact Jim McFaul, director of Continuing Education, at 812-481-5909 or email jmcfaul@vinu.edu.

Winning name number two: Gina Divine, Martin County.

The nomination form and any additional materials must be submitted by February 28, 2011.

For more information on the award and nomination process, visit www.lg.in.gov/ or call the Lt. Governor's Office at (317) 232-

Free Bluegrass Jam is February 13 at VU

The 11th Annual Old Post Bluegrass Jam is coming to Vincennes University on February 13. Admission is free and the public is invited to VU's Beckes Student Union to enjoy acoustic musicians as they jam together from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. (EST). The student union is located at 1101 N. Second Street and free parking is available on Third Street, behind the building.

The VU Food Court and Grinder's Coffee Shop will be open.

"We invite area musicians to bring their acoustic instruments and be prepared to find folks to jam with. The Bluegrass Jam is a lot of fun for both participants and the audience," said Bill Stedman, one of the event organizers.

In addition to jams throughout the student union, there will also be groups performing on stage in the food court during the afternoon. Groups performing there include Mariah Creek at 1 p.m., White Knuckles at 2 p.m., Flat Mountain at 3 p.m., and Bales of Hay at 4 p.m.

For more information call 812-882-0429 (evenings).

Lady Rox defeated by BR in sectional first round

The Shoals Lady Rox kicked off the 2011 IHSAA Girls' Basketball Sectional Tuesday night going up against Barr-Reeve. Despite a close battle at times, Shoals finished up their season with a loss 60-44.

The Lady Rox came out firing in the first quarter and held pace with the Lady Vikings. Shoals' Michaela Brockman put eight points on the board and Nicole Harder fired a threepointer at the first quarter buzzer putting the score at 16-13 in favor of Barr-Reeve. In the second quarter Shoals was unable to close the gap and three starters saw a bit of foul trouble including Rachel Harder who was forced to the bench with three. Brockman contributed five more points in the second quarter, Nicole Harder added four, and Jenna Bleemel had four putting the halftime score at 35-29 in favor of Barr-Reeve.

Turnover's plagued the Lady Rox in the entire game finishing up with a total of 26, 16 of those in the second half.

In the second half Shoals couldn't get anything to fall only scoring nine points in the next two quarters. Barr-Reeve didn't see much action through the hoop attempting 50 shots in the first three quarters. Shoals came out shaky in the second half having the ball stolen twice early on and Barr-Reeve quickly extending their lead to 11. In combination with the turnovers and sending Barr-Reeve to the foul line the lead continued to extend for the Lady Vikings ending the post season hopes of Shoals.

Brockman finished with a game high 23 points. Nicole Harder added 14 points, Briana Wagler contributed four, Lezlie Hart had two points, and Jenna Bleemel had one Barr-Reeve finished with a dismal 37 percent from 2-point range, and merely 20 percent from 3-point range. They shot 63 percent from the free throw line hitting 21 of 34 attempts.

Shoals finished 40 percent from 2-point range and 50 percent from 3-point range and were 63 percent from the free throw line hitting 10 of 16 attempts.

Barr-Reeve ended with 10 turnovers.

The Lady Vikings will move on to face Washington Catholic Friday night in round two. Shoals ended their season with a 6-14

On February 2, Shoals travelled to West

Washington where they were defeated 61 to with two 2-pointers, a three, and two free 58. Michaela Brockman was leading scorer with 23 including three 3-pointers, Rachel Harder finished with 16 including two 3pointers, both Nicole Harder and Briana Wagler had eight points each, and Lezlie Hart finished with three points.

For West Washington T. Packwood was leading scorer with 20 followed by S. Springer with 18, E. Wise with 10, K. Nice with seven, and S. Keller with six.

On Monday, January 31, Shoals hosted Wood Memorial and was handed a loss 45-

Lady Lions end season with loss to Rivet

The Loogootee Lady Lions faced a mountain to climb in the first round of the sectional Tuesday night with a draw of Vincennes Rivet undefeated at 21-0. The Lady Patriots ended up being too much for the Lions who were defeated 66-29.

Things started off bad for the Lady Lions when their first two possessions ended in turnovers. Freshman Demi Richardson demonstrated her nerves by turning over the ball the first three times she touched it. Rivet took the lead early and despite three blocks by Loogootee's Christina Ziegler, they finished the first quarter up 17-10.

Rivet continued to pull away in the second half outscoring the Lions 37-15. Loogootee had 20 turnovers in the first half of play which didn't help close the gap and didn't go to the free throw line once. They shot 6-14 overall to Rivets 15-28 in the first two quarters of play. Rivet also dominated the boards with 15 rebounds; the Lions had eight in the were down 53-20 at the end of the third.

In the fourth Wynter Wagoner fouled out with two minutes remaining in the game. With her possible last game in sight, LHS Senior Tia Pennington put six quick points on the board in the third. Rivet's lead was substantial and with two girls fouled out the clock wound down quicker than shots could Wynter Wagoner finished with a game high14 points, Tia Pennington with eight points, Taylor Walker finished with three, and Gabby Ritchey and Hannah Lamar finished with two points each.

Loogootee finished shooting 33 percent from two-point range, 38 percent from 3point range, and 35 percent from the free throw line hitting 10 of 28.

Rivet shot 52 percent from field goal range, 67 percent from 3-point range, and took a whooping 48 shots from the free throw line hitting 26.

Rivet doubled the Lady Lions in rebounds 25-12. Loogootee finished with 32 turnovers, Rivet had 15.

DIAMOND WRIGHT

Diamond Jim Wright is the son of Jim and Cheryl Wright. His favorite hobbies include hunting, four-wheeler riding, and traveling with his family and friends. During high school he was involved in the Beta Club, Student Council, helper in the Special Olympics, SADD, and track and field. One of his best memories of his childhood is growing up in Padanaram and one memory he will hang onto is when Mr. Gee shaved his head because everyone in the class passed the ISTEP test. After high school, Diamond plans to attend college or go into the family business.

EMILY BRATTON

Emily Annette Bratton is the daughter of the late John Bratton II and Ann Staats Bratton. Some of her favorite hobbies include Cosmic Bowling with Kim, Sammi, and Shaquille; spending time with family, and date night Mondays with Kim. During high school she has been involved in the choir. One of her best memories of her childhood was camping as a child. She says that she and her dad would go to his friends' campground and she would swing and sing on the swing he made her. After high school Emily says she plans to make something of herself.
