Commissioners discuss Four Rivers, bridge repair

The Martin County Commissioners met Tuesday, May 22.

Sherry Tredway, with Four Rivers, submitted their annual request for funding. Four Rivers Board President Noel Harty was also present.

Four Rivers serves 67 individuals in Martin County through the Healthy Families, preschool and adult services programs. They are requesting $5,000, same as last year, however Commissioner Dan Gregory said the commissioners will put $6,000 in their budget.

Highway Superintendent Leo Padgett asked about the status of the ordinance they had discussed requiring any driveway coming exiting to a county road have a culvert. The ordinance would require the property owner to pay for a culvert installation if the county was forced to put on in due to drainage issues. County Attorney Dave Lett said he would need to speak to Padgett more about the ordinance.

Padgett reported that CLR started work on bridge 58 on Brickyard Road today. They are putting in rebar and concrete to keep the bridge stable until funding can be secured to replace the bridge. It will take a few weeks to finish the work. The concrete on the arches under the bridge have continuously washed out causing serious damage.

Sheriff Travis Roush was unable to attend the meeting however he left a report that there are currently 84 inmates in the jail, 21 of them are from Vigo County.

The courthouse will be closed Monday, May 28 for Memorial Day.

135th Anniversary

-Photo provided

On Sunday, May 20, Hindostan United Methodist Church celebrated 135 years of worship. With current Pastor Marty Evans standing in front, including past pastors in back, from left to right, Gerald Frye, Mike Strawn, and Bill Kidwell. Each one gave a speech about the church during their term as pastor. The church was so full fold up chairs had to be placed in the aisle and going back in time reminiscing, the AC unit decided it would as well, so fans were brought to the front of the church. Many elders were honored during the service as well as Sam and Leah Albaugh, who donated the land for the church many years ago. A spray of flowers was prayed over during the service and then placed on their tombstone in honor. A lunch was provided after the service with many attending.

RATE

The top ten spots in the state for the highest unemployment for April were Vermillion County at 4.8 percent, Lake County at 4.4 percent, Fayette County at 4.1 percent, LaPorte, Starke and Sullivan counties at 3.9 percent; Crawford and Newton counties at 3.8 percent, Greene County at 3.7 percent, and Miami, Orange, Owen, Switzerland and Vigo counties at 3.6 percent.

Indiana's unemployment rate stands at 3.2 percent for April and remains lower than the national rate of 3.9 percent. With the exception of one month when it was equal (October 2014), Indiana's unemployment rate now has been below the U.S. rate for more than four years. The monthly unemployment rate is a U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) indicator that reflects the number of unemployed people seeking employment within the prior four weeks as a percentage of the labor force.

Indiana's labor force had a net increase of 11,655 over the previous month. This was a result of a 737 increase in unemployed residents and an increase of 10,918 employed residents. Indiana's total labor force, which includes both Hoosiers employed and those seeking employment, stands at 3.33 million, and the state's 64.0 percent labor force participation rate remains above the national rate of 62.8 percent.

In addition, Indiana's initial unemployment insurance claims continue to be at historical lows.

Learn more about how unemployment rates are calculated here: <http://www.hoosierdata.in.gov/infographics/employment-status.asp>.

Employment by Sector
Private sector employment has grown by more than 23,900 over the year, and has decreased by 7,000 over the previous month, primarily due to losses in the Trade, Transportation and Utilities (-2,500) and the Construction (-2,300) sectors. Losses were partially offset by gains in the Other (1,200), which includes Mining and Logging, IT and Other Services, and the Manufacturing (400) sectors. Total private employment stands at 2,698,400 and is 9,500 above the December 2017 peak.

DORIS PAULINE SEALS

Doris Pauline Seals entered the gates of Heaven on May 15, 2018. A resident of Yakima, Washington, she was 91. She left this world peacefully at home with her family by her side.

She was born in Shoals on October 8, 1926; daughter of Dewey and Marie (Canfield) Hawkins. She had three brothers, Floyd, Roy, and Alvin Hawkins; and one sister, Francis Hickman.

After graduating from Shoals High School in 1945, Pauline worked as a secretary until her marriage to Max Seals on February 23, 1946. Leaving friends and family behind, they traveled by car from Indiana to Washington state to begin a new life together. Settling in Yakima, she raised her five children, Rose, Fred, Rita, Betty, and Mike using love and faith as her guide.

Pauline loved to cook and bake. Her cookie jar was always full and she was famous for her delicious pies. She never met a recipe she didn't want to try. Hers was the house where all the neighborhood kids gathered. She was a good friend, a great listener, and a selfless woman who was always understanding of the problems of others.

Pauline was an excellent storyteller. She entertained her children and grandchildren over the years with stories about growing up with her siblings in rural Indiana, her travels around the United States and abroad, and her day-to-day adventures around town.

She was a member of Holy Family Catholic Church and active in The Legion of Mary for many years. Later, she became a Eucharistic Minister to the Homebound. She loved her "people" whom she visited each week. This was a true calling for her and she made many friends through this ministry over the years.

Pauline was a gentle woman with a sweet disposition who lived her life as her faith taught her, "love one another as I have loved you." Her kindness and generosity were shown to friends and strangers alike. She was loved by many.

She was preceded in death by her parents, siblings, and an infant grandson, Sean Hurley.

She is survived by her children, Rose (Bob) Love, Fred Seals, Rita (Scott) Larson, Betty (Don) Vicena, and Mike Seals; her grandchildren Robert Love, Kirstie (Ray) Turowski, Dr. Kevin (Julia) Seals, Megan Hurley, Shea Hurley, Adam Simons, Sam Heilman, and Shelby Seals; and great grandchildren Alina and Leah Turowski. All of whom will miss her greatly.

A Prayer Vigil will be held at 6 p.m., Thursday, May 24, 2018 in the Chapel at Holy Family Catholic Church. Mass of Christian Burial will be Friday, May 25, at 10:30 a.m. in the Chapel. Private burial will be at Terrace Heights Memorial Park.

In lieu of flowers, please consider making a donation to Holy Family Catholic Church (5315 Tieton Drive, Yakima, Washington) in Pauline's name. In memory of Pauline go to www.keithandkeith.com.

Foot patrol results in arrest of three on methamphetamine charges

On Monday, May 21, at 12:05 a.m., Martin County Sheriff's Office Deputy Tyler Reed was on foot patrol on an access lane off of Spout Springs Road in Shoals. Deputy Reed observed an occupied vehicle in the parking area at the end of the lane. He was able to get close enough, undetected, to observe for several minutes the occupants pass back and forth, among one another, and smoke from a glass smoking device. Deputy Reed recognized the device as being commonly used to ingest methamphetamine. Deputy Reed then made contact with the subjects, and also smelled the odor of marijuana. He observed the smoking device in the hand of the subject in the front passenger seat and confiscated the item. Residue in the smoking device field tested positive for methamphetamine. Deputy Reed then detained the subjects, Russell J. Tussey, Timothy C. Troutman, and Ashton V. Pottorff, and requested that Loogootee Sgt. Rick Norris assist him.

A search of the vehicle resulted in officers locating a pill bottle containing a white crystal substance that field tested positive for methamphetamine, a hand-rolled cigarette containing a green leafy plant-like substance that field tested positive for marijuana, and a glass smoking device containing a burnt residue with the odor of burnt marijuana. Officers also located a second hand-rolled cigarette containing a green leafy plant-like substance that field tested positive for marijuana in Mr. Pottorff's pocket. All three were arrested and transported to the Martin County Security Center.

Jury trial ends in conviction of Shoals man

On May 15, 2018 a jury trial was held in the Martin Circuit Court. Andrew J. Stone, 34, of Shoals, was convicted of resisting law enforcement with a vehicle, a Level 6 Felony and battery on a public safety official resulting in bodily injury, a Level 5 Felony.

On January 18, 2018 Major Andy Burkhardt with the Martin County Sheriff's Office was on duty and attempting to serve civil process. He passed Mr. Stone and observed Stone driving a vehicle. Major Burkhardt believed Stone was driving on a suspended license. He also saw a passenger in the vehicle who Stone was prohibited from having contact with as the result of a Martin Circuit Court order. Major Burkhardt contacted dispatch and was able to confirm both that Stone had a suspended license and that the no contact order was also valid.

Major Burkhardt was unable to immediately stop Stone because Major Burkhardt was serving the civil process and he needed to confirm that Stone was suspended and that there was a valid protective order. Major Burkhardt also contacted Sheriff Travis Roush and advised him of the situation. Sheriff Roush began a search for Stone. After completing the service of civil process Major Burkhardt also began searching for Stone.

After about an hour Sheriff Roush passed Stone, who was still operating the vehicle on Sherfick School Road, east of Shoals. Sheriff Roush executed a three-point turn, activated his emergency lights, and began pursuing Stone. Stone fled east on Sherfick School Road and did not stop until Stone reached his residence. Stone and Sheriff Roush got out of their respective vehicles. Sheriff Roush ordered Stone to stop. Instead Stone fled towards his residence. Sheriff Roush pursued Stone on foot. Stone got to his residence and entered the residence with Sheriff Roush immediately behind him. Stone attempted to close the door while Sheriff Roush blocked the door with his foot. Stone slammed the door on Sheriff Roush's foot and ankle. Roush struggled with Stone in an attempt to get the door open. Major Burkhardt arrived and both officers were able to make entry and arrest Stone. Sheriff Roush suffered abrasions to his hand and ankle as well as bruising and swelling to his ankle.

"We were obviously pleased with the verdict. In this age we simply cannot tolerate individuals fleeing from police officers or physically resisting them. These officers have dangerous jobs and that behavior is completely unacceptable," said Martin County Prosecutor Mike Steiner. The State of Indiana was represented by Steiner and the defendant by Paul Schneider. Sentencing has been set for June 28, at 1 p.m.

ARRESTS

MONDAY, MAY 14

11:49 a.m. - Allen Tuttle, 62, of Shoals, was arrested by Captain Dant and charged with invasion of privacy and is being held without bond. Assisting with the arrest were Sheriff Roush and Chief Deputy Greene.

8:35 p.m. - Jasmine Harner, 22, of Shoals, was arrested by ISP Trooper Ewing on a Martin County warrant. She is being held on a $25,000 10% bond.

TUESDAY, MAY 15

3:52 p.m. - Robin Higgs, 38, of

Mitchell, was arrested by ISP Trooper Lents on a Martin County warrant and is being held without bond.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 16

12:50 p.m. - Brandon Chastain, 31, of Mitchell, was arrested by Chief Deputy Greene on a Martin County warrant and is being held without bond. Jailer Lents assisted with the arrest.

5:20 p.m. - Michael Sluder, 40, of Mitchell, was arrested by ICO Doane and charged with driving while suspended prior and is being held without bond.

-- MEMORIAL DAY --

This weekend we celebrate Memorial Day. It is a time when people across America pause to reflect on the supreme sacrifice made by American soldiers who have died in service to our nation. It is a particularly meaningful holiday for those who have loved ones who died in military service.

Memorial Day has its origins back to May 5, 1868 when General John A. Logan called for a nationwide day of remembrance on May 30, 1868. The day's purpose was to decorate the graves of their comrades who died in defense of their country as a result of the Civil War. At that time, it was called Decoration Day. It has only been with- in the last 50 years that the day was officially recognized by our government as Memorial Day.

-- MEMORIALS --

To memorialize a loved one is an important part of any family's, and their friends', grieving process. Memorials are a way that families can remember and pay tribute to loved ones who have passed on. Memorials allow a person to be remembered for years to come.

A memorial tells the family that while their loved one may be gone, his or her memory and spirit lives on. They will be forever tied together in the circle of life, that the loved one's life mattered and will continue to matter. Their acts of goodness, kindness and courage will never be forgotten. A memorial is a way to remember a loved one forever.

-- GIFTS TO CHARITIES --

There are several ways to remember our loved ones, some of which are headstones or grave markers, memorialization urns, statues, plants, flag cases, acts of kindness, writing a heartfelt letter to the family, or a donation to a charity.

When making a donation as a memorial or tribute to a loved one, you need to be sure that it is made to a charity that honors that person. In obituaries you will often see the phrase "in lieu of flowers, memorial contributions/donations may be made to...". This identifies where to make your donation as a memorial. If you do, you need to do this in a timely fashion (within 10 days after the funeral), so that the family can include you when writing thank you notes.

If a charitable organization was not specified, then choose one that may have been a favorite charity of the deceased, or perhaps a medical research organization if they passed on from an illness.

-- MCCF FUNDS --

The Martin County Community Foundation has several funds that will let your memorial donation, and the spirit of your loved one, live on forever. The MCCF funds will always be used for future assistance to our local community needs, whether they be for a cemetery, a library, church or other charitable organization, certain areas of interest, or a variety of scholarships.

And if you are not sure which specific fund or need to donate toward, the MCCF has several unrestricted funds that have the flexibility to address the emerging and changing needs in our community, today and tomorrow.

-- MORE INFORMATION --

If you would like to find out what funds are available to let the memory of your loved one live on forever, please contact the MCCF Executive Director, Curt Johnson, at 812-295-1022 or mccf@cfpartner.org.

Lady Lions Tennis fall in Sectional opener

The Loogootee Varsity Girls' Tennis Team was defeated in the first round of the Sectional last week. The Lady Lions fell to Barr-Reeve 1-4. The girls finished the season with a record of 14-3.

Head Coach Mike Tippery said after the matches, "Both Sectional matches were a lot closer than the 4-1 scores indicate. In order to win Sectional, I knew it would come down to whoever played best on that given day. Barr-Reeve played better than we did and deserved to win. It is always difficult to say goodbye to the Seniors. Katie Sims and Jody Seals showed great senior leadership this season and will be missed. Katie finished her career with 59 wins which places her in the top 5 in school history. Jody returned to the court this year after tearing her ACL and missing all of last season and played really well at #1 Doubles."

Middle Way House announces winners of 2018 Teen Dating Violence Awareness Essay Contest

The Martin County Outreach office of Middle Way House, Inc. hosted an essay contest to raise awareness about teen dating violence for local students in grades 7-12. The students were given a packet which contained excerpts from books centering on teen dating violence. The goal of this essay contest was to engage students in conversations about teen dating violence, encourage critical thinking, and to help students identify and recognize signs and patterns of dating violence and dating abuse.

A $100 Visa Cash gift card was awarded to first place winner, Karoline Tedrow; a $50 card was awarded to second place winner, Asia Crim; and a $25 card was awarded to 3rd place winner, Maria Chestnut. All three students are freshmen and attend Loogootee Junior High School.

This was the second year Middle Way House invited students to participate in the Essay Contest. Middle Way House plans to continue to offer the contest in future years.

The following businesses sponsored the contest with their donations: Blake Car Wash, Blake Funeral Home, Jones Oil Company, Loughmiller Machine, Tool & Design, Inc.; and Old National Bank, Loogootee Branch.

Middle Way House is a non-profit agency serving survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, and human trafficking across six counties. Middle Way House is based in Bloomington, but also has three county outreach offices in Greene, Owen and Martin counties. You can reach the Martin County office at 812-295-2993. Middle Way House also does prevention programming in schools and has provided the Building Healthy Relationships program to Loogootee Schools for the 2016-2017 and 2017-2018 school years.

Young adult dating violence is a big problem, affecting youth in every community across the nation. Learn the facts below.

Below are some statistics from loveisrespect.org a website dedicated to ending dating violence among teens.

Too Common

Nearly 1.5 million high school students nationwide experience physical abuse from a dating partner in a single year.

One in three adolescents in the U.S. is a victim of physical, sexual, emotional or verbal abuse from a dating partner, a figure that far exceeds rates of other types of youth violence.

One in 10 high school students has been purposefully hit, slapped or physically hurt by a boyfriend or girlfriend.

Long-Lasting Effects

Violent relationships in adolescence can have serious ramifications by putting the victims at higher risk for substance abuse, eating disorders, risky sexual behavior and further domestic violence.

Being physically or sexually abused makes teen girls six times more likely to become pregnant and twice as likely to get a STI.

Half of youth who have been victims of both dating violence and rape attempt suicide, compared to 12.5 percent of non-abused girls and 5.4 percent of non-abused boys.

Lack of Awareness

Only 33 percent of teens who were in a violent relationship ever told anyone about the abuse.

Eighty-one (81) percent of parents believe teen dating violence is not an issue or admit they don't know if it's an issue.

Though 82 percent of parents feel confident that they could recognize the signs if their child was experiencing dating abuse, a majority of parents (58 percent) could not correctly identify all the warning signs of abuse.

NRC grants final adoption to amended biennial wildlife rules package

The Natural Resources Commission voted unanimously today to withdraw a rule proposal that would have authorized a bobcat hunting and trapping season, and another proposal that would have required nuisance wild animal control permit holders to euthanize raccoons, opossums and coyotes.

Proposed changes to other rules that involved the possession or sale of bobcats were also withdrawn from the DNR's biennial wildlife rules package. A modification was given to some language (in 312 IAC 9-10-11) governing reporting requirements for nuisance wild animal control permit holders.

After making these amendments, the NRC granted final adoption to the rules package, which includes a number of amendments to 312 IAC 9, which governs rules relating to wildlife.

The actions took place at the NRC's regularly scheduled meeting at Fort Harrison State Park.

The NRC granted preliminary adoption to the original biennial rules package in September 2017, starting the rule-change process.

The most significant of the wildlife rule amendments that were granted final adoption as part of the rules package include:

- Allowing the hides and carcasses of legally harvested furbearers taken during the season to be kept year-round by hunters and trappers without a special authorization or permit.

- Adding several bats and the rufa red knot (a federally threatened bird) to the state's endangered-species list.

- Removing the osprey and several mussels from the state's endangered species list.

- Adding Elkhart, Kosciusko and Noble counties to the fall wild turkey firearms hunting season.

The rule package that was presented to the NRC today is on the NRC's website is at nrc.IN.gov/files/Ex_H.pdf. It does not reflect the changes made at today's meeting.

Once the rule package has been signed in its final approved form, it will be sent as a part of an assembled rule package to the Office of the Attorney General for review. The Office of the Attorney General has 45 days to conduct its review. Upon approval, the Office of the Attorney General will forward the proposed rule amendment to the Governor. The Governor then has 15 days, which may be extended by an additional 15 days, to approve or disapprove the rule package as it was forwarded to him. If the Governor neither approves or disapproves the rule package, it is deemed approved by statute. The rule package, if approved or deemed approved, is then filed with the publisher (the Legislative Services Agency). In most cases a rule becomes effective 30 days after it is accepted for filing by the publisher.

During the meeting, the NRC also approved Glacier's End, in Johnson County, as a new nature preserve. The action increases to 285 the number of state-designated sites protected by the Nature Preserves Act.

Glacier's End Nature Preserve covers 298 acres and lies approximately 3 miles south of Trafalgar, in the county's southwest portion, within the Brown County Hills Section of the Highland Rim Natural Region. The land borders Laura Hare Preserve at Blossom Hollow and Bob's Woods Conservation Easement. The new designation extends the amount of contiguous forestland where the Wisconsinan Glaciation ran into the Brown County Hills to more than 550 acres.

Central Indiana Land Trust, Inc. owns and will manage Glacier's End Nature Preserve. The Benjamin Harrison Conservation Trust assisted with acquisition of the nature preserve.

In other actions, the NRC ...

- Considered petitions to establish or increase slip rental rates for the 2019 boating season that were filed with the Commission by Fourwinds Resort and Marina operated on Monroe Lake, and Hoosier Hills Marina operated on Patoka Lake. The Commission approved the findings and recommendation of the hearing officer. The Commission's findings and recommendations will be forwarded to the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers for final approval.

- Accepted the hearing officer's report as the report of the Commission on the Petition for Formation of Lake George Conservancy District. The Lake George Conservancy District is being proposed for purposes of (1) flood prevention and control, and (2) the operation, maintenance, and improvement of a work of improvement for water-based recreational purposes. The Commission's report will be filed with the Steuben County Circuit Court for consideration in Case #76C01-1711-MI-000330.

The NRC is an autonomous board that addresses topics pertaining to the DNR. More details on these actions are available at nrc.IN.gov/2354.htm under "May Agenda."

The NRC is a 12-member board that includes the DNR director, heads of three other state agencies (Environmental Management, Tourism Development, and Transportation), six citizens appointed by the governor on a bipartisan basis, the chair of the DNR's advisory council, and the president of the Indiana Academy of Science. The Academy of Science president and the agency heads, other than the DNR director, may appoint proxies to serve the commission in their absences.

Osprey watch at Patoka Lake, June 23

Look for ospreys by boat and by car at Patoka Lake during a special program on June 23. The osprey watch runs from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Ospreys are a unique, migratory raptor that frequents Indiana during breeding season and returns to South America for winter. DNR nongame bird biologist Allisyn Gillet will share information about the state's osprey reintroduction program and how the species has made a remarkable return.

Cost is $15 per person and includes a provided lunch. Advance registration is required by calling the Patoka Lake Nature Center at 812-685-2447. This event is limited to 55 people.

Dress for the weather and don't forget to bring binoculars, spotting scopes and cameras.

Patoka Lake (stateparks.IN.gov/2953.htm) is at 3084 N. Dillard Road, Birdseye, IN 47513.

The garden seems to have gone into fast forward this week. The lingering cool weather had delayed the blooming of some plants and had allowed some blooms to last longer than normal. The hot weather last week seemed to change everything quickly. Plant growth has been rapid, as anyone who has to mow a lawn can attest.

Spring is always a busy time for gardeners and this period of rapid growth has just added to the work to be done. Generally, the first time I cut back species mums and tall sedums is in early June. However, those plants are taller than usual for this time, so I began cutting back the mums this weekend. This will help prevent the plants from getting too tall and splaying, or falling down, becoming unattractive. It also causes the plants to become bushier and delays blooming. These cuttings may be used to grow more plants. Both mums and sedum root easily and as long as the varieties are not patented, you may put those cuttings into a moist growing medium, where roots will form in a couple of weeks. Those extra plants may be used to fill in holes or fill empty pots.

There are many other plants that will benefit from being cut back at this time. It will delay blooming, but the plants will be sturdier. Coneflowers, black-eyed Susans, ironweed, asters and many other plants respond well to being reduced at this time. Selective pruning may also help lengthen the bloom time of some plants. One may simply cut back half of the stems in a clump. The stems that are uncut, will bloom earlier, while the cut stems will become bushier and will bloom later. The later blooms may be smaller, but more numerous. This technique is particularly effective on heleniums, blanket flowers and black-eyed Susans.

Snake fungal disease identified in Indiana

An emerging fungal disease lethal to some snakes has been found in Indiana.

Snake fungal disease, caused by the fungus, Ophidiomyces ophiodiicola, is not a risk to people, but in snakes it can cause facial swelling, disfigurement, skin and scale lesions, internal lesions and death. A team of researchers led by Matt Allender and Sarah Baker of the University of Illinois discovered the disease during surveillance in late 2017. Researchers swabbed the skin of 53 snakes from Indiana and identified the fungus in 13 of them. Two of the 13 had visible lesions. Species that tested positive included Northern watersnake, racer, milk snake and queen snake.

Sampling has occurred in 10 Indiana counties and will resume this year.

The fungus is an emerging pathogen identified in many diverse species of captive and free-ranging snakes in more than 20 states so far. It can persist in the soil. How the disease spreads is unknown, but it may occur through contact with soil, other infected snakes, or from mother to offspring.

Snake fungal disease may cause high mortality rates in Eastern massasauga rattlesnakes, a federally threatened and state-endangered species that lives in scattered locations in northern Indiana. The potential long-term effect on mas-

In the vegetable garden, advancement has also been rapid. I had planted potatoes on Good Friday, as is the custom, but they did not sprout for several weeks. I feared that the tubers had rotted, but I finally saw some green appearing. Within two weeks, the plants have matured to the point that buds are forming. I grow potatoes in a bin and I have filled in around the plants with shredded leaves and compost. This method makes for easy "digging" at harvest time.

The raised beds are filling rapidly. As plants move from the greenhouse to the beds, I surround them with shredded paper mulch. This helps to keep moisture levels more constant and cuts down on weeding. While the small tomato plants do not seem to need stakes yet, it is best to put them in now, so the root systems will not be disturbed later. I have come to prefer the spiral stakes. It takes some diligence in checking them often to ensure the plants follow the spirals as they grow, but it does make picking the tomatoes easier than having to reach through the traditional tomato cages. Most of the time, the plants climb the spirals well, but occasionally, I use strips of cloth to tie a plant securely to the stake.

I have also placed a cattle panel in a bed. It has been bent to form an arch, on which the cucumbers will grow. It is much easier to pick the cucumbers from such a trellis than to try to find them amid the leaves when the vines are allowed to ramble across the ground.

The reward for the work and planning is fresh vegetables. The salad greens and onions planted earlier this spring are ready to eat. Nothing says spring to a Hoosier gardener better than that first dinner of wilted lettuce and onions. Tasty!

sasauga and other snake populations remains uncertain.

Other emerging fungal diseases, including white-nose syndrome in bats and chytridiomycosis in amphibians, have been implicated in population declines of numerous species.

Snakes are important predators. They play a critical role in maintaining a balanced ecosystem and keeping rodent populations in check.

Monitoring fungal disease in Indiana snakes will help biologists develop conservation and management plans.

This snake fungal disease surveillance project was funded by a state wildlife grant.
