Bison to be displayed at Shoals School

Perhaps you have noticed the Indiana's Historic Pathways signs along highways 50 and 150 throughout southern Indiana. Curiosity led several Shoals High School art students to research these signs, installed in 2015.

Indiana's Historic Pathways tell the story of early settlement and transportation in Indiana and westward migration. It began with the footpaths worn by the now extinct Eastern American bison on their annual trek between Kentucky and the Falls of the Ohio to the prairies of Illinois. These footpaths, known as the Buffalo Trace, were later used by native peoples and European settlers.

After the creation of the Indiana Territory in 1800, a road, constructed just north of the Buffalo Trace, served as a stagecoach and wagon route and eventually became U.S. 150.

In the 1850s the railroad, along with a parallel road, provided east-west access across the region linking Cincinnati to St. Louis. Constructed in the 1920s and 30s, U.S. 50 linked the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. Today it is still a major east-west federal highway crossing 15 states and the nation's Capitol. These two historic highways merge in Shoals. Even though the Buffalo Trace runs south of Martin County, these highways are historic corridors which were followed for exploration and essential for settlement. The bison, donated to Shoals Community Schools by the Martin County Indiana State Bicentennial Committee, was painted to honor the rich history of our area. One side depicts the map of the Buffalo Trace and highways 50 and 150 through southern Indiana. The other side is an interpretation of the Historic Pathways sign (with permission). Both sides also use the color scheme from the Historic Pathways logo. The bison's head and hooves are painted realistically.

The Shoals Community School Corporation would like to thank Marie Hawkins and her committee, as well as the county government and other sponsors, for giving our students the opportunity to participate in this project, using the arts to make history come alive.

Crouch, OCRA unveil rural strategic plan, focus on broadband availability

Community and Rural Affairs unveiled their rural strategy on how to better support and elevate Indiana's rural communities at a public announcement in Greensburg, Ind.

"Through the leadership of OCRA, we are seeing rural communities in our state thrive and become the areas that people want to visit and live in," said Lt. Governor Suzanne Crouch. "I know that the agency has received input from various members of these rural areas and has configured a plan to take this input and put it into action across the state."

Crouch said that roughly 40 percent of the state's population lives across 76 rural counties, and these rural communities possess extraordinary natural beauty, alluring small towns, historic structures and quality natural resources that need to be preserved, enhanced and developed. The Office of Community and Rural Affairs supports residents of rural communities who are actively working to improve the economic well-being of where they live.

The Office of Community and Rural Affairs has had the privilege of working with rural Indiana communities to help them grow through economic and community development. More than $28 million in OCRA community development funding and over $53 million of local dollars have been lev-

Last week, the Indiana Office of eraged to aid these projects. Through partnership and collaboration, the agency continues to be creative and innovative to meet the needs of Indiana communities.

> "The Strategic Plan for Rural Indiana outlines a collaborative, innovative agenda for OCRA to accomplish over the next three years. This plan will help us focus our support for rural Indiana communities to help make them better places to live, work, play and grow," said Jodi Golden, Executive Director of OCRA.

> The public announcement touched on the strategic priorities, which provides the agency's tactical direction over the next few years. Each priority, which is outlined below, includes several key initiatives that frame how the agency will work to accomplish these initiatives:

> Provide opportunities and programs focused on people and place-based investments;

Expand as a trusted resource for rural Indiana;

Build capacity of rural leadership;

Support economic growth and preservation in the downtown and commercial districts; and Facilitate strategies to address rural broadband access.

Jay Asdell running for IU Board of Trustees

Dr Jay Asdell, a native of Loogootee, is currently running for the Indiana University Board of Trustees. He ran in 2015 and was narrowly defeated by the incumbent. If elected, Dr Asdell would be the first Martin County resident and dentist to hold that position. His father, Dr Ben Asdell, and his grandfather, Dr B.A. Ackerman, were both dentists in Loogootee for many years. Dr Asdell graduated from Loogootee High School in 1976.

"My years at Loogootee High School were instrumental in my leadership development," Dr Asdell said. "I held several offices including Senior Class Treasurer. I was active in Boy Scout Troop 484 and attained the rank of Eagle Scout which also was helpful with regard to the advancement of my leadership skills. Loogootee was an awesome place to grow up and I feel very proud to be from Loogootee and Martin County. IU also helped me grow as a student and a person. I am blatantly biased, but I feel that Indiana University is the best that college can offer. There are so many degree options and opportunities for student growth that are unrivaled."

The IU Board of Trustees consists of nine members, three of whom are elected by the alumni and the other six are appointed by the Governor. Those elected will serve a three-year term. The IU Trustee website defines the Boards duties as "The Board of Trustees is Indiana University's governing board, its legal owner and final authority. The nine-member board holds the university's financial, physical and human assets and operations in trust for future generations."

The three major issues facing the Board of Trustees are the selection of the new IU President in 2020, the option for educational alternatives with the need to remain competitive and economical and implementation of the Grand Challenges Program which includes precision health, environmental change and the very serious topic of opioid addiction.

Dr Asdell's family connection to Indiana University runs deep. His wife, son, sister, brother, sister-in-law, brother-in-law, uncle and cousin all attended either IU Bloomington or the IU School of Dentistry or Medicine. His daughter will be a senior at IU, majoring in Biology and is captain of the IU volleyball team. She plans to attend dental school as well.

Dr Asdell graduated from the IU School of Dentistry in 1983 and he completed a residency in Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at St Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital in NYC. He currently practices oral surgery in South Bend. His IU related activities include the IU Varsity Club National Board, the Herman Wells Presidents Club, the IUSD Alumni board, the IUSD Dean's Board of Advisors, a Life member of the IUAA since 1984, a Hoosier Hundred Champion and associate faculty at IUSB.

Dr Asdell has served as the President of the Indiana Dental Association, President of the Indiana Society of OMS, The Great Lakes Society of OMS, the NC Dental Society and the LaPorte Co Dental Society. He was President of the Marian High School board, a trustee from North Central for the IDA and is currently a member of the Indiana Attorney General's Task Force on Opioids. He is chairman of the Dental Department at Memorial Hospital and serves as a member of the St Joseph County Airport Authority board.

Dr Asdell has a commercial pilot's license and had the honor of flying Coach Crean a few times during his stint as IU basketball coach. He is also a member of the Executive Board of the LaSalle Council, BSA and was a baseball and softball coach at South-East Little League.

"I pride myself in the ability to work with others to get things done. My enthusiasm for Indiana University and my concern to keep IU as Indiana's flagship university is my driving force," Dr Asdell stated. "I am humbled by the opportunity to be an IU Trustee. It is with great pride that I look forward to serving Indiana's finest institution of higher learning as a member of the Board of Trustees."

Voting for IU Trustee begins on June 1 and continues throughout the month of June until June 30. If your email address is up to date with the IU Alumni office, you should receive an email on June 1 with a request to vote. If you do not, the way to vote is to log on to https://alumni.iu.edu/about/election/ prospective.shtml which should allow you the opportunity to vote. Historically, the voter turnout has not been that good since there are 680,000 potential IU alumni voters. If there are any issues with voting, please contact Dr Asdell by email at hoosieroms@ gmail.com or at his office which is 574-287-2247. You can also contact Amy Cope, who is in charge of the election, at 812-855-6610.

Loogootee students participate in I LEAD

The Loogootee fifth graders recently concluded their participation in ILEAD (formerly known as Project L.E. A.D.) by participating in a mock trial held in the courtroom of the Martin Circuit Court. Judge Lynne Ellis presided over the events of the day. In conjunction with the mock trial, the students toured the Martin County Security Center. I LEAD is a special curriculum sponsored by the Martin County Probation Department with assistance from Purdue University Cooperative Service. This was the 24th year the program has been taught to Martin County youth. This year's program was conducted by Chief Probation Officer Lisa Brittain with assistance from Probation Officer Melissa Lottes along with fifth-grade teachers, Mrs. Hart, Mrs. Knepp, and Mrs. Brookshire.

The program was designed to teach fifth graders about the law, the need for laws, and the legal system with emphasis on the juvenile justice system. In addition, the program emphasized decision-making and the consequences of their actions.

The program combined classroom work, hands-on experiences, and speakers from various agencies. The following persons volunteered their time by speaking with the students about various law enforcement-related topics: Judge Lynne Ellis, Sheriff Travis Roush, Prosecutor Michael Steiner, State Trooper Andrew Beaver, State Trooper Jarrod Lents, Excise Police Officer Brian Stewart, Stacey Brown with Perdue Extension, Loss Prevention by Aaron Hembree with Loogootee Marathon, and Dorthy Perotte, Martin County Community Corrections.

As a part of the program, students were asked to submit drawings/logos for a new I LEAD t-shirt. Each student was provided a t-shirt with the winning logo. This year's design winner was Kierstyn Hupp. In addition, each student was required to submit an essay regarding their I LEAD experience. The essay winners are as follows: Maren Walters, 1st place; Kierstyn Hupp 2nd place; Brianna Eckerle, 3rd place; and Judith Park, 4th place. Chief Probation Officer Lisa Brittain presented the winners with a certificate and prize sponsored by the program's financial supporter.

Project I L.E.A.D. received financial support the Martin County Probation Department. They would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the students for their participation as well as the speakers and fifth grade teachers for their help in administering this program.

How the I LEAD Program Has Influenced My Life

By: Maren Walters

This year my class was fortunate enough to have the I L.E.A.D Program. L.E.A.D. stands for education to arrest delinquency. This program was about stopping bad decisions before they happen. This program taught me to think before I act, and the kind of person I want to be. I never thought about my actions having consequences that could affect my future. Now I do.

I have dreams and goals that I want to accomplish. I want to go to college and get a good job. I want to have a family and be able to provide for their needs. It's important to me to have a job I enjoy so I don't feel like every day is torture.

It's also important to me to have a positive attitude. I think people who have been in trouble seem to put the blame on anyone but themselves. I refuse to make excuses for my life. I will work hard and be the best that I can be. Lisa Brittain has really shown me the importance of thinking and planning my choices and my future.

Prosecutor Mike Steiner helped me to realize that my own decisions not only affect me, but anyone that comes into contact with me.

Michael Steiner is the Martin County Prosecutor. He told my class a story about a family coming home from Holiday World, and a drunk driver hit their car. That's where everything went horribly wrong for those people's lives. Michael Steiner says the worst part of his job is coming to someone's front door and saying a family member that lived in their house has died. Either way, bad choices can produce horrible ad devastating results.

The I L.E.A.D. Program has taught me to always be safe no matter how much pressure you have from your friends. NEVER DRINK AND DRIVE! Even if you live somewhere where there's no cars driving by, like you're only going to drive on a country road. Don't attempt to do it. I have learned that all lives are precious, and you have one chance to live and do it right!

I have dreams and goals that I wasn't to accomplish. I want a good paying job and one that I enjoy. I want a family and I want to be surrounded by joy and happiness. All of this is only possible with a life of good choices and a positive attitude!

Mrs. Hart has even talked and repeat-

How the I L.E.A.D Program Has Influenced My Life

By: Kierstyn Hupp

This year I was lucky enough to have the I L.E.A.D. Program come to my school. The I L.E.A.D. program stands for legal education to arrest delinquency. This program taught me to think before I act, and the kind of person I want to be.

I want to make good choices and have a positive attitude. I want to be respected and set a good example.

I really enjoyed all the guest speakers. My favorite guest speaker was Brian Stewart. Brian Stewart is an Indiana State Excise Police officer. He goes to concerts and watches people to know that they are safe. If someone would have a gun or start a fire, he is there to keep their surroundings as safe as possible. He taught me that police are there because they care about you, not just to annoy you or get you in ed that once you start drinking or doing drugs that you get immune to the dangers and might start to think you will always get away with it. Eventually, these bad decisions will catch up with you and you could lose everything!

Thanks to all of the guest speakers and the I L.E.A.D. Program, I will live a life without regrets! I will make good choices!

(Continued from page 7) are no free passes in court. But if I make good choices, I will never have to worry because good choices produce good results.

Michael Steiner is the Martin County prosecutor. He told us a horrifying story about a man who decided to drive while drunk and high. He hit another car and ruined the lives of the 4 people in that car. If I did that, I could never forgive myself. I would have to live with guilt for the rest of my life. This showed me the real importance of not driving while drunk or high. Michael Steiner changed my life for the better.

Travis Roush and Jared Lentz told us that you never want to end up in jail. In jail you get no privacy whatsoever and sometimes have to sleep on a little, thin mattress or even the floor. A special thanks to all cops for putting their lives on the line every day. They sometimes have to deal with the consequences of other people's actions. Jared Lentz told a story about a man who was robbing a gun store. He was the first one to arrive on the scene and got shot 5 times. Even after this he still worked as a police officer. Never could I ever have that much bravery after being shot 5 times.

L.E.A.D. taught me that drugs and alcohol could change my life forever. One bad decision, such as drinking and driving, could make my life miserable. Thanks to Lisa Brittain for making this happen. Also, a thanks to all the guest speakers.

The I L.E.A.D. program has changed my life for the better, and I am very thankful my school was fortunate enough to have it.

How the I L.E.A.D. Program Has Influenced My Life

By: Judith Park

This year my class was fortunate enough to have the I L.E.A.D. Program. L.E.A.D. stands for legal education to arrest delinquency. This program was about stopping bad decisions before they happen. It also taught me to think before I act.

I have dreams and goals I want to accomplish. If I want to accomplish those dreams and goals, then you have to make good decisions. It taught me not to get into drugs and alcohol because it will ruin my dreams and future plans. I believe this program can help many people become educated about bad choices.

It's actually pretty simple. Good choices will give you good results. Bad choices will produce bad results.

Lisa Brittain was the leader of the I L.E.A.D. program this year. She came in and talked to us about her job and what happens if you do get in trouble as a kid. She told us what some kids did to get to the juvenile detention. Lisa told us that we don't want to go to the juvenile detention center because you're with some scary kids, and you don't get to make decisions for yourself.

Prosecutor Michael Steiner told us about what he does. He told us about a guv who made a bad decision and sat at a bar too long. While attempting to drive home, he killed one person and hurt three others severely. This is a CHOICE he has to live with for the rest of his life! This guy made a bad decision to drink and drive. He hurt two teenagers that colleges were already looking into for their volleyball skill. He took away their future plans. He took away their future!

Thank you for the I L.E.A.D. Program!

Free Fishing Weekend, June 2-3

Saturday, June 2, and Sunday, June 3, are the last of four Free Fishing Days in Indiana this year. On these special days, Indiana residents can fish public waters without needing a fishing license or a trout stamp.

Free Fishing Days are prime opportunities for families to learn to fish because adults do not need a fishing license on those days, and children ages 17 and younger do not need a license on any day. Free Fishing Weekend is also a great opportunity to take someone fishing who doesn't already have a license.

DNR properties and other sites across the state will be hosting youth and family fishing events.

People interested in attending a Free Fishing Weekend event are encouraged to contact the host property in advance because some activities may require registration.

For more information on specific events and to find a printable list of all upcoming fishing events, see dnr.IN-.gov/fishfree.

Communities and sites hosting events on June 2 are:

• Albion, Chain O'Lakes State Park, 260-636-2654

• Anderson, Mounds State Park, 765-642-6627

• Andrews, Salamonie Lake, 260-468-2127

Purdue Extension Does...Buffalo Gnats

BY KENNETH J. ECK

Purdue Extension - Dubois County

Our warm summer temperatures have allowed residents to again enjoy outdoor activities and events, but those activities have also brought many in contact with the biting insect known as the buffalo gnat.

Buffalo gnats, also known as "black flies" or "turkey gnats", are about 1/16th to 1/8th inch in size and cause often painful bites and resultant swelling in humans, livestock, poultry, and wildlife. Although not known to cause disease in human victims, their bites can cause various reactions in both human and animals ranging from small punctures to golf-ball sized swelling. Reactions to buffalo gnat bites are known as "black fly fever" and may include headaches, nausea, fever, and swollen lymph nodes. In animals the transmission of several disease agents does occur, none of which pose a threat to humans. Buffalo gnat swarms are capable of severely impacting human activities during parts of the year, especially in late spring or early summer in Indiana. In 2018, some state parks in Arkansas have already been shut down due to gnat swarms, and the deaths of cattle due to swarm effects have also been reported in that state.

J. ECK *Dubois County*Adults can fly up to ten miles, and are believed to be attracted to carbon dioxide, perspiration, and fragrances. Only the female flies bite as they search for blood for protein, but swarms of male gnats still are an extreme annoyance.

The gnats are usually most active just after sunrise and just before sunset, so avoid being outside at these times if possible. Large fans on patios help deter the gnats, and wearing long-sleeved shirts, long pants, and hats with netting (to keep gnats off head and neck) help provide barriers to bites. Gnats also seem to prefer white clothing, while their least favorite color seems to be Navy blue. Few chemicals are available to fight the buffalo gnats. Home remedy repellants, such as vanilla extract, have not been scientifically proven effective with the insects, and traditional DEET-containing repellants that deter mosquitoes are ineffective and may actually attract buffalo gnats. Permethrin-containing repellants specifically labelled for application ONLY TO CLOTHING may offer some limited protection. Outdoor activities with these tiny winged nuisances is still possible for most folks, but the gnats definitely require a plan of attack before leaving your home. For more information on buffalo gnats and their control, check out the free Purdue publication, "Black Flies: Biology and Public Health Risk" (E-251) at https://extension.entm.purdue.edu/publichealth/insects/blackfly.html .

We have just celebrated Memorial Day, a holiday that started as a day to decorate the graves of Civil War veterans. Later, it grew to include all veterans, and then to include decorating the graves of all of our family members. Backyard barbeques and car races were added a little later.

As a child, I remember helping my mother and grandmother filling old mayonnaise jars and coffee cans with flags and pineys (iris and peony) to take to cemeteries where my ancestors were buried. The flowers would not last nearly as long as the silk flowers usually used today, but the honor paid to relatives I never knew made a great impression. Sometimes, we would take flowers to plant next to the monuments, a practice that is not allowed in many cemeteries today.

Old cemeteries are a great source for antique flower cultivars. I love finding an old-fashioned rose or iris growing among the tombstones. I always take a trowel and a set of pruners when visiting the old graveyards and I take cans of water and paper in which to wrap my discoveries.

Sandhill Gardens is a place of memories and they are not just from the plants collected at old cemeteries. There are many plants in the garden that remind me of people from my past—people worth remembering. Scientists say that the sense of smell is a trigger for memories. I certainly think of my maternal grandmother, Bertha Hooten, when I smell lilacs. There are several old lilac bushes here that she planted nearly a century ago. They along with other shrubs she planted make up the bones of the garden. Three gigantic silver maple trees provide shade for my house and garden. They also were planted many years ago by my uncle, Robert Hooten. I am told the trees came from Dr. Miller's orchard, where he had been working. Another silver maple was planted when I was a child. My dad brought it in with the old 8N Ford tractor. My paternal grandparents did not have many ornamental plants, but the pink flowering almond and the catalpa tree in my yard remind me of Harry and Ada Purkhiser and their home in Martin County's Lost River nials, including asters and lily of the valley.

Over the years, I have planted many plants as memorials of friends and family who have died. The contorted filbert (aka Harry Lauder's Walking Stick) planted the year after my father died has grown to be one of the largest specimens of that wonderful plant in southern Indiana. It is planted in a garden that is on the site of the old house and actually is very near the spot where my parents' bed sat for many years.

I would be remiss if I did not include a tribute to fellow master gardener who passed away recently. Claudia Fisher was a charter member of the Hoosier Hillsides Master Gardeners. Claudia's gardening had been limited by her physical condition in recent years, so she had a love of tough plants. It became a standing joke that any plant given to Claudia had to grow in the shade and withstand drought, because Claudia never watered anything. I have planted a new epimedium, also known as a bishop's cap. It will thrive in dry shade. I can think of nothing more appropriate. We will miss Claudia.

DNR Division of Water earns state GIS award

For the sixth time in the past 10 years, a DNR project has been honored at the Indiana GIS Conference sponsored by the Indiana Geographic Information Council.

On May 11 at this year's conference in Fort Wayne, the DNR Division of Water received the 2018 Excellence in GIS Award (State/Federal category) for its Zone A Floodplain Project.

GIS stands for geographic information system. Rooted in the science of geography, GIS gathers, manages and analyzes date, organizing it into visualizations using maps and 3D scenes.

The digital mapping project created a statewide data layer that provide detailed floodplain information for every major stream in Indiana not covered by Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) published by FEMA. The project modeled and mapped more than 18,000 miles of stream.

The project will benefit floodplain management in Indiana, improving safety and economic planning. It's available through the Indiana Floodplain Information Portal (INFIP), and as an ArcGIS service. The Division of Water's Dave Knipe led the project. His team members are Steve Bradley, Amanda Brock, Jim Wertz, Chris Limiac, Joe Mallory, Darrin Miller, Jul Patankar, Adam Bales, Eric Moster, Tony Scott, and Bob Wilkinson.

For individuals going into the outdoors during swarming season, there are few options to reduce their impacts. Township.

My mother loved pink and peach-colored flowers, and over the years I added a lot of those colors for her, including a day lily named in her honor. Of course, nothing tops the pink rose that was one of grandma's original plants. That rose has just begun blooming. No modern rose comes close to its fragrance. I have shared starts of that rose with every family member who has asked and with many of my gardening friends.

There are many plants that remind me of friends who have given them to me. An antique red rose reminds me of the great aunt and uncle, John and Grace Purkhiser. May Land gave me an old yellow rose. I nearly lost it, but I moved it last year and it has revived this year. Aleta Kerby gave me my first clump of ornamental grass when I worked in her garden as a teenager. She also gave me numerous perenMore information is at igic.org/2018excellence-in-gis-award-winner-stateor-federal-agency.

Summer immunization clinic hours

Summer break is here but school will be back in session before we know it. Now is the perfect time to think about the shots your student may need before they go back to school in the fall. Kindergarten, 6th grade students, high school seniors and college students need immunizations before they can begin classes this fall.

The Martin County Health Department Summer immunization clinic hours are: June 6, 13, 20 and 27; July 11, 18 and 25; and August 1 from 8:30 a.m. to noon and from 12:30 p.m. to 6 p.m. There is no clinic on July 4th. Please note that Wednesday is the only day a nurse is available for immunizations. The health department office is located in the Shoals Federal Building (Post Office). The Martin County Health Department is contracted with VaxCare and can bill most insurance companies that pay for vaccines. The patient must bring their insurance card or no vaccines can be given on that day. The health department can vaccinate children on Medicaid, the uninsured and those who have insurance that does not pay for vaccines through the Vaccines for Children (VFC) program. They also provide Tetanus vaccine and Hepatitis A and B vaccine to those ages 19 and older without insurance for a fee. Adults with insurance that will pay for vaccines may be able to receive certain vaccines and have VaxCare bill their insurance. TB testing is $20 and cannot be billed to insurance.

Kindergarten students need five doses of DTaP, four doses Polio, two doses of MMR, two doses of Hepatitis A, three doses of hepatitis B vaccine, and two doses of Varicella (Chicken Pox) or record of disease. (Physician documentation of disease history, including month and year, is needed for proof of immunity)

6th Grade students, in addition to the kindergarten required vaccines, must receive a Tdap (Tetanus, Diphtheria & Pertussis) vaccine, a Meningococcal vaccine and two doses of Hepatitis A (for anyone who has not already received it). HPV (Human Papillomavirus) vaccine is also recommended. 12th Grade students need a Meningitis booster and two doses of Hepatitis A (for anyone who has not already received it). Meningitis B vaccines and HPV (Human Papillomavirus) vaccines are recommended. College students should receive information from their school concerning the required vaccines for incoming students. Some require a TB test within six months of the start of classes, Meningitis B vaccine and a Tetanus booster (if the child has not received within the last 10 years). Also, proof of childhood vaccines for MMR, Varicella and polio are often needed. The Hepatitis B series is recommended for students in health care fields or similar studies. If you have questions about immunizations you can contact your child's doctor or call the health department at 812-247-3303.

EMMET is a male Walker Coonhound, larger than he looks in the photo, long legs. He seems fine with other dogs. He is neutered, up to date on shots and tested negative for heartworms. Adoption fee is $80. The Martin County Humane Society Animal Shelter is located at 507 N. Oak Street in Loogootee. Shelter hours are Monday and Wednesday 5-7 p.m. and Saturday 11 a.m.-2 p.m. To see all available animals, visit www. humanesocietyofmartincounty.org.
