Loogootee Class of 1970 takes on beautification challenge

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT
Martin County Journal Publisher

The Loogootee Class of 1970 graduated more than 50 years ago. A tight-knit group, their graduation wasn't the happiest of times, with optimistic thoughts of running headlong into the future. Back then, the 1970 graduating class was the first to be a part of the consolidation between St. John's and Loogootee. A contentious time in the city, the consolidation came with quite a bit of turmoil and unrest. The "new" Class of 1970, that consisted of 107 students, also had to worry that they would be drafted to go to war. They didn't know who would go to Vietnam and if they did go, who would not come back. Several classmates did end up going into military service, and one of them, Tom Hickman, didn't come back. He died in August of 1970. Others in the school who lost their lives included Mick Smith, Tim O'Conner, Charles Conover and Jim Hembree.

Several months ago, the Loogootee Beautification Board challenged graduating classes of Loogootee to come up with a project to improve the appearance of the city. The Class of 1970, headed up by Kay Summers, Kenny Frye, and Dan Gregory, decided to place 70 flags on the downtown square to honor Memorial Day, graduation and their class. With the fountain construction still ongoing on the square, they decided to go with 26 flags instead, all constructed by classmates. They will also be adding five KIA (killed in action) flags to honor their lost classmates or classmates' family members.

Last Friday, May 27, class members gathered on the square to erect the flags. They talked of old times and the classmates they have lost. Kenny Frye, wearing his Army jacket, pulled a letter from his pocket that was given to him by Kevin Guy, the best friend of Tom Hickman. It was the last letter Hickman wrote before he was killed in Vietnam, a few weeks after that letter was written. Hickman said in his letter that he had less than a year left to serve and couldn't wait to get home. Frye teared up while reading the letter and someone commented that it may start raining. Frye replied that it was okay because he would know those were "tears from heaven."

The flags will be placed multiple times a year, for a few days each time, including Memorial Day, Flag Day, the Loogootee Summerfest, Independence Day, Labor Day, Patriots Day and Veterans Day.

Frye said the Class of 1970, in his eyes, was a "metaphor for good things." He explained that over the last 50 years, the class has banded together for various reasons to do as much good as they can to improve their community. One way was creating a scholarship through the Martin County Community Foundation that had a base start amount of $25,000. He said it took a while but they managed to gather that minimum and now that benefits a Loogootee student each year.

Frye joked that they were the best class to come out of Loogootee which got a laugh from his classmates. "I'm not sure how much time we have left together," said Frye. "But we always have one another."

Caucus for auditor

The Martin County Democratic party will be holding a caucus on Wednesday, June 15 at the Martin County Courthouse in Shoals at 6 p.m. to appoint a new auditor of Martin County. Any individual that is interested in this position will need to submit a CEB 5 form to Chairman Roger Downey, no later than 72 hours before the Caucus. Please contact Chairman Downey at 812-639-8106 for the form or with any questions.

Commissioners discuss paving, corridor, library funds request

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT
Martin County Journal Publisher

The Martin County Commissioners met Tuesday, May 31.

Highway Secretary Terri Alcorn reported East River Road is still closed. She also submitted bids for Community Crossings projects for Sawmill Road from Valley Road to Graded Road and County Road 158 from 1300 feet west of Hwy. 231 to Highway 231.

County Attorney Dave Lett opened the bids. Milestone Contractors' bid for Sawmill Road was $254,797.95 and County Road 158 was $99,502.05 for a total of $354,300. E&B Paving for Sawmill Road was $206,000 and County Road 158 for $77,500 for a total of $283,500. The bids will now be taken under advisement and decided on at the next meeting. The expected project completion is October 7 and October 21 of this year, for each project. The county only received $252,318 in community crossings funds, with the match, so there is a $30,000 shortage. A representative from HWC, who was in the audience, said they will have to adjust the work to be done.

County Attorney Lett also provided the commissioners with contracts from USI Consultants and HWC Engineering to provide ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) compliance to include reviewing publicly accessible buildings, providing cost estimates and creating a transition plan. HWC's bid was not to exceed $15,000 and USI's was for $13,900. Commissioner Paul George asked if there are any hidden costs. Attorney Lett said he didn't believe so as each contract lined out what each company would do. The commissioners voted to go with USI Consultants. The money will come from the highway department budget pending the county council's approval.

Prosecutor Aureola Vincz, who could not attend the meeting, sent a statement clarifying what she said at the last meeting about eliminating the deputy prosecutor position in her office. Vincz said in her statement, "prior to the election of Prosecutor Vincz, the prosecutor's office had a prosecutor, a chief deputy prosecutor, and a permanent part-time deputy prosecutor. Prosecutor Vincz requested the part-time deputy prosecutor become a temporary full-time deputy prosecutor to help process the pending caseload at the time. Prosecutor Vincz is now ending that request so that the temporary full time deputy position can remain a permanent part-time deputy prosecutor position as those previously pending cases have been processed by around 43 percent. The IVD (child support) department received "Most Improved County in the State" award, the state awarded around $35,000 in back claims, and the insufficient fund program recovered over around $26,000 for the local business owners awaiting restitution."

Resident Jason McCoy came back to the commissioners to ask if they have come to a consensus regarding the Mid-States Corridor. At the last meeting, Commissioner George said he was against the corridor, but Commissioners Aaron Summer and Cody Roush were not completely decided. At Tuesday night's meeting, Commissioner Roush said he is against it now and he feels the same as Commissioner George about its negative impact to Martin County. Commissioner Summers said he is also against it and does not see how it will help the county.

Commissioner George said the property lost due to the corridor will cost Martin County $270,000 in property tax revenue and he would like to get a letter together from the commissioners to send to the state expressing their opposition to the road.

McCoy said proponents will argue that the economic impact would far exceed the lost property tax revenue, but he doesn't see it based on what has happened in other locations where a highway went through. He said the commis- (See 'COMMISSIONERS' on page 2) sioners of Dubois County handpicked the RDA (Regional Development Authority) board which is the driving force behind the corridor. He said Martin County officials were not invited to join the board because Dubois County wanted people who are for the corridor. He said anyone joining the RDA was required to pay a large amount of money also. He said, again, that he is for the corridor if it brings something to the county but he's just not seeing that.

Commissioner George asked the county attorney to draft a letter. Attorney Lett said he will get with the commissioners to get direction from them on what they want to include.

The commissioners then voted officially that they were against the Mid-States Corridor.

Loogootee Librarian Darla Wagler talked to the commissioners about the $12,720 in county ARPA (American Recovery Plan Act) funds she had requested to replace the library's server. She said the library received $18,000 of their own ARPA funds but the guidelines they were given required them to use the money for COVID-related expenses. She said they added air filtration systems to each room. She said the current server in the library was purchased in 2017 and has become obsolete. They currently have wi-fi extended to the end of their parking lot and they would like to extend it further, to St. Vincent de Paul and the food pantry parking lots. She said COVID caused an increased demand for wi-fi service and the increased wi-fi service in their parking lot caused juvenile visitors at all hours of the night which then resulted in vandalism. Their security cameras also use the wi-fi internet service. She also noted that when a class from the junior high recently came into the library to do a report, using their Chromebooks, the server crashed. She said they have simply outgrown it.

Commissioner George said he thought the ARPA board had already approved the library's request. Wagler said she had heard that but was asked to come to the meeting to give the reasons why the server was needed.

Auditor Bobbie Abel confirmed the ARPA board did approve the $12,720 request. The commissioners then officially voted on giving the library the funds.

At the end of the meeting, Commissioner George read a statement regarding Auditor Abel and her resigning her position. He thanked her for her time as auditor and all that she accomplished for the county during her tenure.

The next commissioners meeting will be held Tuesday, June 14 at 6 p.m. The meeting is starting a half hour later due to an executive session being held at 5 p.m.

PAT MEYER Prosecutor Aureola Vincz urges Hoosiers to drive carefully over the summer

During the first three months of this year, 209 Hoosiers have been killed in car crashes, a 17 percent increase in traffic fatalities compared to the same time period over the last five years.

Over the summer and holidays when more people are on the roads, Prosecutor Aureola S. Vincz wants the residents of Martin County to put an emphasis on driving safely and driving sober. Data shows that the number of traffic fatalities and injury crashes increases during the summer so now is the time to emphasize safe driving.

Since the pandemic began, traffic fatalities have been increasing as motorists have been driving faster and fewer drivers and passengers are wearing seatbelts, according to data from the Indiana Department of Transportation. Doing simple things like slowing down while driving and making sure everyone in the car is wearing a seatbelt could end up saving lives.

"All of us need to be more cognizant when we are out on the roadways, especially during the summer with so many people heading out on vacations or visiting family. Don't become another statistic and don't throw your life away by speeding or driving while under the influence. This is also a good reminder to say something if you see something. If you observe another motorist driving recklessly, call law enforcement. If you know someone is under the influence, do not let them get behind the wheel. By working together, we can make sure everyone has a safe and enjoyable summer," said Vincz.

The prosecutor gave a special thank you to the law enforcement and first responders keeping us safe. "I'm proud to be a part of a team working to enhance Martin County through public safety and seeking justice," she said.

By Ann Ackerman

The following is part of an article I read the other day about a test in order to find out how you actually feel about someone. Ask yourself, "Would I have two beers with this person? And would I allow this person to look after my puppy over a weekend?"

Some people are no and no. These people are to be avoided at all costs.

Some people are yes and no. These people are to be cautiously trusted.

Some people are no and yes. These people are no fun, but they make a world a better place—for puppies, especially.

And some people are yes and yes. These people are wonderful people, and your life and work are better for having them in your life. Seek them out. Collaborate with them. Enjoy their company.

THOUGHTS

*I don't have ducks. Or a row. I have squirrels, and they are everywhere.

*I'm that person who tells everyone to be careful and trips over her own feet.

*I finally found a diet plan that really works. It's called "The Price of Food."

*Remember the good ole days when snap, crackle and pop were sounds from my cereal, not my body.

*Ah, nothing says "spring" like bird poop all over your car.

*I would like to think I will die a heroic death, but it's more likely I'll trip over my dog and choke on a spoonful of frosting.

*"You're still a rockstar" I whisper to myself as I take my multivitamin and climb in bed at 9:45.

*You can call me old all you want, but my generation made music that will never be matched again.

*If I waited until I had all my ducks in a row, I'd never get across the street.

*Sometimes you just have to gather up what you've got and make a run for it.

RIDDLES

1. What do you call a rabbit with fleas?

2. What happens when you eat too much vegetable soup?

3. What do you call an abnormally strong desire to lie on one's sofa and do nothing?

ADVICE FROM A TREE

*Stand tall and proud.

*Go out on a limb.

*Remember your roots.

*Drink plenty of water.

*Be content with your natural beauty.

*Enjoy the view.

It's a five-minute walk from my house to the pub. It's a 45-minute walk from the pub to my house. The difference is staggering.

It is time for the Chelsea Chop. That is not a fancy cut of meat for the grill. It is a simple procedure that will make your ornamental garden more beautiful in late summer. Named after the annual June flower show in Chelsea, England, the Chelsea Chop is a pruning technique that will make many perennials stronger and result in more flowers.

Many perennials grow so tall when we have favorable weather that by late summer, they become top-heavy and flop on the ground. Instead of beautiful blooms flying high in the garden, one ends up with flowers that are lying on the ground. The Chelsea Chop is an easy remedy.

Asters, mums, sedums, tall phlox, blanket flowers, coneflowers and black-eyed Susans are all prime candidates for chopping. There is nothing elaborate about the technique. Simply use a sharp pair of pruners to cut the tall stems back to within six inches of the ground. Plants pruned during the active growing season will respond by putting out new growth. Usually, the plants develop thicker stems that will help prevent that late-summer flopping. Where a single stem was cut, the plants will put out multiple new stems. More stems equal more flowers.

The flowering time will be delayed by the Chelsea Chop. However, if you want flowers over a longer period of time, repeating the chop in early July will create even more flower stems. To lengthen bloom time, leave a few of the stems uncut now. Those stems will begin flowering at the plant's normal bloom time but may require staking to prevent the flop. The stems that receive the Chelsea Chop will take a while to recover, so the blooms on those stems will begin about a month after the first blooms. The stems that are trimmed back in early July will be blooming another month or so later. What would have been a bloom period of three to four weeks now is a bloom window of three months.

This year's 4-H Open Class changes, rules

It's springtime and time to start thinking about this year's open class at the Martin County 4-H Fair, which will run from Friday, July 15 through Tuesday, July 19.

There has been one major change to this year's open class check in, that being that all open class projects will be checked in on a different day than the 4-H projects; open class will only be checked in on Wednesday July 13, from 6 p.m. to 7:30 p.m.; please note the change.

The departments in the open class are baking, caning, gardening, flowers, fine arts, handicraft, needlework, quilts and photography. Future articles will include further detail on each department.

The general rules are each exhibitor may only enter one article per section. An entry fee of 50 cents will be charged for each section in each department which an entry is made. If there is only one exhibit in a section and it is not worthy of a first-place award, it can be awarded second, third or none.

First place will be awarded a blue ribbon and $1.00, second place red ribbon and 75 cents and third place white and 50 cents will be awarded in each section. The premium from these ribbons is sponsored by Martin County Farm Bureau, Inc. From the blue ribbons in each section a grand champion will be awarded with a gift certificate. An over-will also perform similarly when cut back. If you have an area to grow such plants as ironweed, evening primrose and goldenrod, consider cutting that area back to a foot tall this week. Like your garden plants, these wildflowers will respond with sturdier stems and more flowers for the pollinators. It will also make the plots a little neater.

The chop may also result in more plants for your garden or to share with others. Many of the stems you cut will root if placed into moist potting soil. Remove the bottom leaves and poke the stems into the soil. New roots will soon form where the leaves once were. You may want to pinch off the growing tip also, which will make these new plants a little sturdier and more branched. If you do not want more plants, you may simply put the cut stems into the compost pile.

In addition to the Chelsea Chop, there is some other pruning to do at this time of the year. Shrubs that have already bloomed for the year may be cut back now if you need to shape them or control the size. Always cut branches back to a bud to avoid unsightly stick-ups on the shrub. The cut will stimulate that bud to produce new growth. If you wait until later, that growth may not have time to develop enough to harden off before winter weather arrives. Also, many of the spring-blooming plants actually are now producing the buds for next year's blooms. The new growth will have time now to produce buds, but growth made later in the year may not produce blooms next year.

The roses at Sandhill Gardens are beautiful this year. The old-fashioned roses bloom only once a year and may be pruned after the bloom period. Come out this Saturday, June 4, for the annual garden exchange at Sandhill Gardens. Bring your extra plants, garden tools and decorative items to trade with other gardeners. The fun begins at 10 a.m.

Councilman's Corner

By Shoals Town
Council President
Cary D. Albright

"Give me six hours to chop down a tree and I will spend the first four sharpening the axe." -Abraham Lincoln

We have a lot going on at Shoals right now! In town you've seen a lot of construction and a lot of demolition and a lot of building of our infrastructure (streets, sidewalks and curbing). I am happy to say this is only the beginning of your town's summer long projects.

Yes, this will be inconvenient! Yes, you will see more efficient roads and actual concrete curbing in places you've never seen it. Most people take concrete curbing for granted. Until you run into one! Concrete curbing provides a pathway for water to run away from the road. The major reason why our roads fall apart is because they retain water (freezing and thawing); not because we drive on them. When we get our drainage correct, we increase your investment in our roads tenfold.

First of all, we need to get it right the first time - not continually do overlays (coat of blacktop over another coat of blacktop) after overlay after overlay. That means measure three times and cut once. Anyone can lay blacktop incorrectly. With proper planning and changing the width and height of your black top you can maximize the drainage away from your blacktop to give it maximum life. This is why it looks like we're putting down two coats of blacktop. The first coat is called a wedge coat. That gives the pitch to the final coat of blacktop that promotes drainage. Curbs direct the water away from unwanted areas to correct drainage areas. Now does this always work right every time? The quick answer is no. So, we try to plan and review and plan and review before we spend your tax money on our roads. Curbing is very expensive! We could do as past town councils have done, and the town could lay a lot more blacktop down and not spend money on curbing. The key is to do a little bit of curbing each time you do blacktop to protect your investment.

The end result is now we have a lot of blacktop around town in poor condition due to poor planning before the money was spent on blacktop. I want to also add the current paving company does not do patching work. We have to guarantee them so many hundred feet to do the current job. Small patch work from where we've done repairs on our aging system is our responsibility to repair with cold mix (term for type of mixed blacktop used for patching small sections).

LHS Dual-Credit Junior English Class
presents . . .

Small Businesses, BIG Stories

BY KAGE LYON, BRENNNA WADE
& EUAN GRAVES
LHS Dual-Credit Junior English Class

The dual-credit junior English class at Loogootee High School is working with the City of Loogootee Recast Team to promote locally-owned small businesses. The class is interviewing business owners in Loogootee and Shoals. Below is their next interview.

Joe McAtee, Re/Max First Choice - McAtee Sales Corp.

"I am a residential real estate appraiser. I took the classes about 22 years ago on the advice of a buddy I knew that was in the appraisal business and that's kind of what got me started. I had an issue with the test. The test was very hard, and I flunked the test four times. Once I got my license, I had to do what they call a three-year internship, there's a three- and five-year internship under another appraiser. And it took me right around three years to get my full license to start my business.

The guy that kept my license, Dwayne Pearson out of Jasper, was a certified residential appraiser and he was probably my biggest influence in the creation of my business. The inspiration I got for this business is that I was previously a realtor, and I still am a realtor for 35 years now. And it was kind of along the same field as what I do now, except it was more of a constant paycheck. You get paid more frequently than you do in the realtor business.

A struggle I have with the business is scheduling and time, the number of appraisals that you could do in a week, and then also the amount of time it took to type in researching each house. Not too many customers are generally glad to see the appraiser. They're not always glad if it doesn't appraise to where they think it should be, but generally, customers are usually glad to see at least the first part. Timing can also be a constraint in figuring out times that work the best for them. It can get hectic when there's minimal time people hand me, and I have to work with it.

The reason why I chose to go into this field is because I grew up here and I've always lived in a small town and

Daviess/Martin Retired Teachers Association meet

The Daviess/Martin Indiana Retired Teachers Association met at the Gasthof Restaurant on Friday, May 20. David Lennen led the members in the pledge to the flag and conducted the meeting. The minutes from the March meeting, submitted by Nancy Adams, and the treasurer's report, submitted by David Lennen, were read and approved. Lawana Hand gave the community service report and asked members to continue volunteering and to keep track of their service hours.

David Lennen announced that Lawana Hand, Donna Keller and Ramona Lennen will be the delegates for the IRTA Representative Assembly that will be held June 8, 2022, in Indianapolis. The fall area workshop will be September 21, 2022, at the Gasthof in Montgomery.

Officers were installed for the coming year, and they are as follows: Ramona Lennen, president; Donna Keller, vice president; Nancy Adams, secretary; David Lennen, treasurer; Lawana Hand, community service (volunteer hours) and Arlene Owens and Alana Thompson, programs.

David introduced AMBA representatives Sandra McLin and Jason Williams. Sandra talked about a new AMBA pro-currently there's not very many appraisers around. I'm the only one in Martin County. I think there are two in Daviess County and three in Dubois County. So, you know, there's not much competition. Also, my dad passed this business on to me and I would like to pass it on to my daughters if they want to come in and take my place when they are older. I would like for one or both of my children to take it over and you know look at that as an opportunity for them. If they're interested. That would be probably the best thing that I could think of happening would be one of my children taking it over, because I honestly get the real estate business from my dad's job. And then I went into the appraisal business. He passed it on, and I want to pass it on to my kids. If they needed help to get started, I would be willing to help them anytime they needed.

This job is just very interesting. You know, you talk to different people every day. You see different homes every day. And overall, it's just a very interesting business. Nothing's the same every day. I don't do the same. I do the same thing on a general level, but you're always looking at something different every day. I actually like my job. Sometimes it's super-duper busy, and it gets a little hectic, but I think that's every person's job. Getting through the struggles and ending up with achievements is a great thing I've encountered with this business and well as relationships I've made along the way with many different people. I actually do like my job, and I probably would not change it. You know, for anything."

gram to help protect investments. Money for Pennies from Heaven was collected and will be donated to the Loogootee and Shoals libraries for their summer reading programs.

The meeting program was presented by Misty English, the director of the Daviess County CASA. They learned about the training involved to become a CASA volunteer and the importance of advocating for children.

Door prizes were provided by Lawana Hand and Nancy Adams and were won by Pat Brochin, Ramona Lennen and Donna Keller. David Lennen introduced and welcomed Vince Sellers, (recent new member) and Lisa Ader-Miller. Those attending were: Lawana Hand, Vince Sellers, Marilyn S. Read, Janice Riley, Patricia Brochin, Donna Keller, Alana Thompson, Linda Strosnider, Lisa Ader-Miller, Aggie Cooper, Ramona Lennen, David Lennen, Nancy Adams, Misty English (CASA), Sandra McLin and Jason Williams (AMBA).

The next meeting will be at 11:30 a.m. on August 12 at the Gasthof in Montgomery. All Daviess and Martin County retired teachers are invited to attend.

After the blessing was sung the meeting was adjourned for lunch.

During the last few weeks you have heard many false statements after the leak from the Supreme Court concerning the decision on the abortion issue. Statements from the pro-abortion media, the pro-abortion politicians and the abortion industry, stating that if Roe v Wade is overturned, all abortion will be outlawed.

This is not true. If this decision holds up from what the rough draft is stating, it will go back to each individual state and that state will decide whether they will be pro-life or pro-abortion. About half of the states will limit abortion with exceptions to the life of the mother, rape/incest and other states like California and New York will have the killing of the unborn up to the time of birth. We just don't know for sure what will happen.

Pro-abortion media/politicians are saying it will go back to the way it was with "thousands dying from back alley abortions".

This also is not true. Dr. Bernard Nathanson who helped to push legal abortion in American coined that phrase and when he later converted to pro-life he tried to tell the media he made up that figure and set the record straight but the liberal media would hear nothing of it. Dr. Nathanson said they pulled that figure out of the air and the media ran with it. But what the media had written was going to stand and they would not change it because it fit their agenda to push abortion on America.

Pro-Life People don't care about the mother, only the child:

Not True: We care for both and that is why Pro-lifers across the country have used their own money to start around 3,000 Pregnancy Care Centers across the country to help mothers with unplanned pregnancies. They did so with their own funding and none coming from the Government. This is so unlike Planned Parenthood who receives millions of dollars from the Government each year to take the lives of the unborn. (Thanks to pro-abortion minded individuals in our government.)

The Abortion Industry has made millions of Dollars from their abortion business and when we talk of cutting their funding they get very upset! As you can see we are battling individuals/organizations who care nothing of the unborn child and little for mother. Individuals who push for the killing of the unborn, how can they be trusted with other lifesaving issues when they push to kill the most vulnerable of our society.

In the coming weeks you will hear more untruths from the pro-abortions forces but just remember why they are saying this. They make money off abortion and want it to continue.

Head Coach Mike Tippery said after the matches, "It is always tough to end the season with a loss, but we competed hard today and left everything on the court."

"Washington played better than us and deserved the victory. I can't say enough about this group of seniors. They missed their entire sophomore year due to Covid but worked hard and made the most of their junior and senior years winning back-to-back sectionals and setting a school record for wins (19) in the process. They have set the bar high for future generations of players."
