Martin County's unemployment rate tied for third lowest

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT Martin County Journal Publisher

Martin County's unemployment rate went unchanged from April to May staying at 7 percent but did move the county down in the ranking from 88th place to 89th place of the 92 Indiana counties tied with Monroe County.

For May there were 5,194 Martin Countians in the workforce. Of those, 4,830 were employed and 364 were unemployed, three more than in April.

In May, 2009, Martin County had an 8.1 percent jobless rate with 5,025 in the workforce and 407 unemployed.

Daviess County's unemployment rate went up just .01 percent for May but they still remained in the bottom spot with the lowest jobless rate in the state. Daviess County had 884 up from 859 in April.

Dubois County's unemployment fell slightly for May going from 7.4 percent to 7.1 percent moving their ranking to 87th up from 84th the month prior. They are tied with Knox County. For May, 1,553 Dubois County residents were unemployed, down from 1,624 in April.

Orange County's jobless rate also fell slightly from 10.7 percent to 10.6 percent in May. Tied with Decatur County they sit in the 26th spot. 1,108 were unemployed in Orange County in May, up just six from the month before.

The five counties with the lowest unemployment for May were: Daviess at 5.8 percent, Hamilton with 6.9 percent, Monroe and Martin at 7 percent, and Dubois and Knox at 7.1 percent.

The five Indiana counties with the highest unemployment for May were: Elkhart at 13.7 percent, Fayette at 13.6 percent, Henry and Howard at 12.3 percent, and Blackford and Noble at 12.1 percent.

Indiana continued to see modest private sector growth in May with 6,300 additional jobs. The state's private sector employment has grown by 2.1 percent since December 2009, with a total gain of 47,900 jobs. That accounts for 10 percent of total U.S. private sector employment growth during the fivemonth period (Indiana has 2 percent of the country's population). Indiana's preliminary seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate remained unchanged at 10.0 percent due to the continued return of Hoosiers to the labor

"It is welcome news that private sector employment grew in Indiana for the fifth consecutive month," said Mark W. Everson, Commissioner of the Indiana Department of Workforce Development. "Since the start of the year, one in ten of all jobs created across the country was in Indiana. While unemployment is still too high, we are seeing a sharp drop in new unemployment claims; a 32 percent decline over the past year."

The growth of 6,300 jobs in the private sector included the following significant sector employment increases: Professional and Business Services (5,700), Private Education and Health Services (2,600), and Manufacturing (2,200). Sectors reporting ('UNEMPLOYMENT' continued on page 2)

Bo-Mac's celebrating 50th Anniversary

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT Martin County Journal Publisher

It has been a staple in the Shoals community for as long as most of us can remember and Bo-Mac's Drive-In is 50 years old this year under the current family's ownership.

Bo-Mac's on August 13, 1960. He said he remembers his mom (Delores Ragsdale) and mamaw (Margaret Sorrells) making the deal and coming across the street to tell his dad (Carlton Ragsdale) and papaw (Lee Sorrells) to go pay for it.

The name Bo-Mac's came from previous owners Dr. Virgil McMahan of Bedford and Bob Viers, a box company salesman from Vincennes. A play on their names Bob – Mac became Bo-Mac's.

Since that time, many high schoolers have worked parttime as car hops and Bo-Mac's is still a regular hang-out for teenagers with the music playing outside and a resemblance that makes visitors think of the 1950s.

Cecil said some of the memories he has of the yesteryear days of Bo-Mac's include watching drag racing in the 1960s and 1970s from Bo-Mac's to the school, then from the school to Bo-Mac's. He also said customers from Indianapolis, Bloomfield, French Lick, Bedford, Orleans, Jasper, Dubois, and Loogootee would show up to enjoy Bo-Mac's on the weekends.

Martin County Journal Publisher

According to Loogootee Technology/Curriculum Directory Mike Tippery, the Loogootee Community School Corporation broke records for ISTEP+ scores taken this spring. Tippery explained the scores to the Loogootee School Board at their meeting Saturday morning, June 19.

The overall language arts/English passing rate was 81.3 percent, the highest in school history beating the previous record by three percent. The overall math passing rate of 89.42 percent was the highest in school history beating the previous record by 5.1 percent.

The percent passing both math and English improved 5.5 percent corporation-wide at 77.4 percent. This was also the highest in corporation history beating the previous record by 4.4 percent.

Other highlights include the third grade finishing 14 percent above the state average in both English and

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT math. This was the highest scores ever for the third grade according to Tippery. The fourth grade finished 16 percent above the state average in math. The seventh grade finished 14 percent above the state average in English, 21 percent above in math, and 24 percent above in social studies. The eighth grade finished 18 percent above the state average in math.

All grades tested were some percentage over the state average. Tippery said that this is the first time this has happened in a number of years.

"This being the second year in the spring, I think it's obvious that it seems to be more beneficial to our students and staff to have the test in the spring and these results reflect that," said Tippery.

The board approved a lease agreement Mr. Tippery worked out to get new computer equipment to replace the current systems that are around six and a half years old. This is a zerointerest lease. "Being able to do this is going to allow us to move forward with the technology even though our budgets are being cut and money's down; it's going to enable us to do that," said Tippery.

Tippery also said that around $25,000 of the first payment is through the Technology Learning Grant that was received in partnership with Shoals Schools. He said the money that will be spent in 2010 will be very minimal because of the grant.

The board approved moving $286,161 into the Rainy Day Fund to pay for the heating unit at Elementary West. Superintendent Larry Weitkamp said that most of the money will come from the transportation fund with a small amount coming from capital projects.

The board approved the 2010-11 school supplies lists and book rental fee schedules. According to Weitkamp, none of the fees increased and some rental fees in West went down

Condolences were offered to Tim Hudson for the passing of his mother, Sharon Allen for the passing of her uncle, Jamie Wildman for the passing of her great uncle, Brenda Weisheit for the passing of her uncle, and Paula Brookshire for the passing of her mother.

The board approved the resignation of Charity Truelove as media specialist and English Academic Team sponsor. According to Weitkamp, Truelove will be relocating to Atlanta. She has been the corporation's media specialist for four years.

"I'd just like to thank Charity for all the work, I've heard nothing but positive, good things since she's been librarian," said board member Eric Ackerman. Weitkamp also noted that Truelove was a member of the Loogootee Public Library Board and that the school board will need to be thinking of a replacement for that in the future.

The board also approved adding a year onto the contract of Athletic Director Scott Reid. It was noted that the other two principals Laura Mattingly and John Mullen have two years remaining in their contracts and Bill Powell has one year left as administrator. "I'd just like to thank Scott; he has done a wonderful job. Keep it up, it's been nice," said board member Ackerman. He said that when he came on as school board member six years ago there wasn't much money in the athletic department. "There's a pretty good chunk of change in there now and I know all the sports are benefiting," he added.

Weitkamp presented plaques to the two outgoing board member Larry Gates and David Lingenfelter.

David Lingenfelter served on the board from 2002 to 2010. He was president in 2005-06, vice president in 2004-05, and secretary in 2003-04. "We certainly appreciate your eight years of bettering our students and community," said Weitkamp. "I appreciate the opportunity the voters gave me from Rutherford. All the work the administration and staff do, we're lucky to have a school corporation like we've got. I hope it continues and I'm sure it will," said Lingenfelter. "I've enjoyed it and I'm glad it's over too; eight years is plenty for me," he added

Larry Gates served from 2006 to 2010. He served as president of the board for 2009-10, vice president in 2007-08 and 2008-09, and secretary for 2006-07. "It certainly was an honor serving on this board, I learned a lot and I hope Loogootee continues to do well," said Gates. Board member Tim Bradley thanked Gates for getting the rest of the board through the tough time this year as board president.

Weitkamp noted that both board members can go out knowing that the corporation is the highest it's been academically.

Board member Ackerman also noted that although the board members haven't always agreed, they have been very respectful toward each other. He went on to say that it's not easy to be a school board member and he has respect for anyone who sits on the board, runs for the board, or speaks out in meetings. "The people who write anonymous notes, and I'll say it again, can stick them where the sun doesn't shine, because I get tired of receiving them," said Ackerman. "If you've got something to say, come out and say it and be proud of it. If you don't have anything to say, then don't say it," he added.

The board approved the second reading of the final policies up for review. Board member Bradley thanked Weitkamp and Mr. Tippery for posting the policies on the school's website. He said that transparency was one of the platforms he ran on. "I just think transparency in our community is helpful. It was one of my goals and it is completed, so thank you," he said. (See seperate story below for the last nine approved policies.)

The board set their reorganizational meeting for Monday, July 12, at 7 p.m.

High School Principal John Mullen acknowledged the spring sports all-conference picks. In baseball there was Josh Divine, Bryce Wilz, Will Nonte, and Bryant Ackerman. In tennis are Ashton Matthews, Hannah Lamar, Andrea Vaupel, Becca Zins, and Lindsey Wininger. In softball are Rebecca Craney, Breann Truelove, Jaclyn Padgett, and Jessica Padgett.

Fire marshal reminds about fireworks safety

With the Fourth of July weekend less than two weeks away, many Hoosiers are already beginning to celebrate by purchasing and discharging fireworks.

The Indiana Fire Marshal wants to make sure that fireworks' consumers follow a few common sense safety tips to help keep the festivities safe. The Indiana

Fire Marshal's Office is a division of the Indiana Department of Homeland Security.

"Typically, on Independence Day, more U.S. fires are reported than on any other day of the year" says Indiana Fire Marshal Jim Greeson. "Half of these are caused by the mishandling of fireworks. Consumers should always use fireworks responsibly to avoid potential injuries to themselves, spectators, and firefighters."

Fireworks safety

-Never let children handle, play with, or light any fireworks.

-Glow sticks make an excellent alternative to sparklers, especially for young children.

-Store fireworks in a cool, dry place away from the reach of children.

Use a clear, open area and keep your audience a safe distance from the ignition site.

-Do not alter any fireworks device or attempt to make your own fireworks.

-Only purchase and light 1.4G consumer fireworks. Examples include bottle rockets, roman candles and firecrackers. Only light one firework item at a time

With the Fourth of July weekend less and never attempt to re-light or fix a "dud" firework.

-Have a fire extinguisher, hose, bucket of water, or other water source nearby.

-Be cautious when lighting fireworks when it is windy.

-Never smoke or drink alcoholic beverages while handling fireworks.

-Never aim, point, or throw fireworks at another person.

Use fireworks outdoors, never indoors.

Fireworks laws

-Only individuals 18 years of age or older may purchase fireworks.

-In general, fireworks may be discharged on some holidays, including Independence Day, from 9 a.m. to midnight. On most other days of the year, fireworks may be discharged from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m.

-Check with local officials about when you can discharge fireworks, as local ordinances may further restrict usage.

-Fireworks may be discharged only on your property, the property of someone who has granted permission, or at designated discharge locations.

-Know the laws for your area and obey them! Penalties are in place for violation of Indiana's fireworks laws.

-Contact your local fire department if you have any questions about acceptable fireworks practices in your area.

For more information about fireworks laws and safety tips about using fireworks, visit www.in.gov/dhs/getprepared.

Storm recovery resources available online through Purdue Extension

BY STEVE LEER
Purdue University News Service

Hoosiers with property and crop damage from last week's severe weather can find recovery information online through the Purdue University Cooperative Extension Service

Downloadable publications covering topics from flood mitigation to repairing buildings are available on Purdue's Extension Disaster Education Network (EDEN) state website, at www.ag.purdue.edu/extension/eden/Pages/default.aspx and then clicking on the "Floods & Storms" link.

The EDEN/Purdue Extension publication "First Steps to Flood Recovery" addresses such issues as helping people with disabilities, re-entering buildings, drinking water, salvaging furniture, and contacting insurance companies. The publication can be read by logging onto www.extension.purdue.edu/floodpub/ and then clicking on any of the colored subject matter tabs.

Crop farmers also have online help available to them.

Corn and soybean growers are encouraged to visit the Chat 'n Chew Café's Crop Management for Flood-Damaged Crops website, located at www.agry.purdue.edu /ext/corn/cafe/flood/index.html. The site is maintained by Bob Nielsen, Purdue Extension corn specialist.

Farmers facing weather-delayed soybean planting can learn about planting options from the article "Late Soybean Planting: Switch Maturity Groups?" by Shaun Casteel, Purdue Extension soybean specialist. The article can be found at www.agry.purdue.edu/ext/soybean/Arrivals/20100610Lat eSOYPlantingMG.pdf.

Storm damage has been spotty across Indiana, said Steve Cain, EDEN Homeland Security Project director at Purdue.

"I've heard reports of carpets being flooded in a few houses in various parts of the state, but the Indiana Voluntary Organizations Active in Disaster have received very few requests for assistance," Cain said. "Certainly, there's damage to trees and shrubs from the storms."

"As we look at the river and stream flow that was low about a month ago and now at about 90 percent in the bottom two-thirds of the state, I am concerned with the potential for more flooding. I hope that the predicted days of sunshine allow the rivers and streams to catch up with the demand."

Cain urged caution when clearing away debris

"My main concern is that people consider proper tree maintenance and chainsaw safety after these latest storms," he said. "Injuries due to chainsaws when cleaning up storm damage are reportedly a bigger issue than some storms."

For questions about storm recovery, contact a county office of Purdue Extension. A complete list of county offices is available at www.ag.purdue.edu/extension/Pages/Counties.aspx

Apartment-style living in a community of friends

My Point of VIEW

By Courtney Hughett Owner, Martin County Journal

My oldest, Wyatt, will be a teenager next year. That's right, a teenager.

When Wyatt was first born, I was told by family and random strangers time and time again, "They grow up so fast." At the time, I never really gave that much thought, I felt like it was just something people said to a new mom. I am now learning that "fast" is not exactly the word. It's more like the speed of light.

I was fairly young when I had Wyatt. I was only 20, but, naturally, felt like I was much older and much more mature. Now, at 32, I see 20 year olds getting married and having children and wonder what they are thinking . . . forgetting that I, too, was that age when I started a family. I probably was too young, but, I was lucky, and it's worked out okay so far.

Now, I watch my first-born son's voice changing and him almost catch up to his dad in height and I wonder where the last 12 years went. 18 years is just not a lot of time before your child is off into the world. Not only that, as time passes, I have a harder and harder time remembering my boys when they were babies. I can look at photos, but the memories are fading, and that is a horrible feeling. I struggle mainly with the smaller things. When my little sister calls looking for advice to help with her babies and toddlers, I strain to remember what I did with my boys. Major milestones I still remember but the everyday routine is slowly vanishing from my memory.

I remember being a teenager and thinking that my parents, uncles, and aunts were so old. When they gave me advice, I usually just passed it off as something an "old" person would say. Now that I am that age, I don't feel like I've gotten older. It's frustrating. I may have a large amount of gray hair and the beginning stages of wrinkles and crow's feet, but inside, I mostly feel the same way I did 12 years ago, just a little more in touch with the ways of the world and the people in it. It makes me wonder how I will feel and act 20 years from now.

Sure, a few things change as we get older. Our taste buds change, our temperament to things like loud music and heat, our judgmental attitude towards the younger generation, things like that. The same things I was doing as a teenager I now, for some reason, find completely unacceptable. What is wrong with me? Sometimes I have to stop myself and think back.

Since I did start my family at such a young age, many of my friends have just begun theirs. Part of me is grateful that I had kids in my very early 20s, because I am still plenty young enough to endure sweltering baseball games, hours of homework, and reruns of The Suite Life on Deck, among other things. My patience with babies and toddlers gets a little worse as time goes by and I think once you are out of this stage of your child's development, you can never really go back with ease. I still love babies but I also love giving them back to their parents. One thing I don't miss is diaper bags, baby formula, hauling around the baby seats, and sleepless nights. I remember being so thrilled when my boys could get in and out of the car by themselves and walk in and out of the store.

After watching my nieces graduate high school a few weeks ago, I think I got smacked back into reality. As I watched them walk across the stage and get their diplomas, I turned and looked at Wyatt; he will be doing the same thing in just six years. Since I've already been blessed to have him for the last 12 years and that has gone by in a blink, it made me wonder about the next six years and I got scared and a little sick. Alex will follow two years after Wyatt.

I have always wanted my boys to grow up feeling like they were incredibly loved by their parents. I have constantly questioned whether I was doing a good job as a mom in general. My life growing up was incredibly different than my kids' lives – like night and day. The things I think are right may end up being completely wrong. Only time will tell I suppose.

So, despite the cliché, if there are any new moms reading this – trust me – they grow up too fast and I'm not just saying that. You blink and they are starting school. You blink again and they are teenagers. I'm scared to blink again.

Try to remember that the housework or whatever tying you down can wait. When your little one asks you to color with them or wants you to watch them throw up a ball and catch it for the 1000th time, say yes, you'll be glad you did.

New Beginnings Church Weekly Message By Shirley Canell -Pastor's wife

Truth or Consequences! Acts 5:1-11. The early days of the church's history were bright, happy days, exhilarating days of Christian love and fellowship. Days filled with miracles, healings, and resurrections. Love, humility, sacrifice, commitments to the power of the Holy Spirit; evangelism was the all-day enterprise of every believer. Satan was endeavoring to head off this explosive movement in the name of Jesus Christ that was winning so many to faith. So many to know God is real and alive. The Spirit had come, power was surging through people, prayer was moving mountains, boldness was everywhere, and more and more were being added to the church daily.

In the Fifth chapter of Acts, we come face to face with the first recorded Satanic invasion of the church. The first recorded incident of sin made public in the church. Annaias and Sapphira who put on a lovely mask in order to conceal their sin, their lie, came face to face with the consequences of this lie. Their sin cost them their lives, not a few hours later, but at that moment they were struck dead. God was letting everybody know that He would not tolerate deception in His church. Hypocrisy is the wearing of a mask, playing the role of actor to hide what you really idolize. Hypocrisy is a deliberate deception, trying to make people think we are more spiritual than we really are. We all wear a mask from time to time; we don't want people to see behind the mask to see our hidden sin, our unforgiveness, and our hurts we keep buried behind it.

Annaias and Sapphira did not have to give it all. It was theirs to do with as they please. They chose to lie to God. They were being selfish. They wanted to look good, to gain prestige, to be thought of as godly; they wanted to be applauded for their great sacrifice and hang on to a little cash at the same time. It was not accidental; with full knowledge husband and wife planned on lying about it. Lying has a way of gaining what we want with no or little consequences. UNLESS caught, which they were by the power of the Holy Spirit. We know what we are doing and do it anyway, Hypocrisy.

Satan has a way of energizing our lies. If Satan cannot defeat the church by attacks from the outside, he will get on the inside and go to work. Matthew 26:41, "Keep watching and praying that you may not enter into temptation, the spirit is willing, but the flesh is weak." Is Satan using you on Sunday morning? "I want to sleep in, I worked hard this week, and I am tired, and I deserve it." "I am sick!" When you are not sick, "I got things to do, friends or family to spend time with." "I can't tell people about Jesus, I have too many of my own problems." How many times have you said this? "God, if you do this I will do this." Wearing a mask doesn't hide you from God. He knows all, sees all, and knows your God knows when you are using His name in vain, when you talk bad about someone, when you are drinking and getting drunk, when you watch something that is not Godly, when you think you are better than others, when you don't forgive. You can even try to lie to yourself, saying what you are doing is ok this time.

1 John 2:4, "The one who says, 'I have come to know Him, and does not keep His commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him."

Mark 4:22, "For nothing is hidden, except to be revealed; nor has anything been secret, but that it would come to light.

The message we should be sending to the world is not that we tolerate sin, but that we don't. Our message is that there is, by the grace of God, a means for complete forgiveness. We would like the world to know that sin is a killer, and we have a message of forgiveness. Jesus Christ came to die on the cross so we could live in forgiveness; forgiveness and grace for all our sins. We don't have to live in sin and guilt, but to turn from it, receive God's grace, and be made clean, whole, and forgiven.

Everyone pray together. Our Father, we come to you now with the recognition that even our hypocrisies are so deceptive that, apart from your Holy Spirit, they may be hidden in our own pride, our own spiritual pride so deeply we can't even see them. We ask that you would show them to us even now as we pray as one. We don't want to mock the death of Christ who died for our sins. How can we celebrate while holding on to the very sin that put Him on the cross? Penetrate us with your spirit and find those hypocrisies in our lives. Help us eagerly and openly realize the sin that is there, and ask you to take out the sin, wash us, and make us clean. Lord may you put the fear in us as you did in the earlier churches and in the surrounding community. We now prepare ourselves Lord, by coming to You and asking for forgiveness and cleansing. In Jesus name, Amen!

Thank You Everyone

The spring season is over for My Mommy's Garden & Greenhouse. Dennis and I want to thank everyone in our community for making it a success. It was our goal to provide vegetable plants and flowers for our neighbor's gardens that are affordable. With your help, we were able to do that. We plan to do the same thing next spring (only earlier) so if there is a specific plant that you want, just let me know and I will do my best to get it. Cabbage and cauliflower plants will be available in July for fall gardens. Watch your paper for dates. Again, thanks you to everyone who supported our local greenhouse.

Clarifying Upcoming Alcohol Law Changes

You may have received a mailing from my office in the last few weeks outlining some new bills going into effect on July 1. It mentioned some new laws regarding alcohol sales that may have been confusing, so I'd like to try to clear up any confusion.

The debate of Sunday alcohol sales took off in the Statehouse in 2009. However, there was one bill this year, Senate Enrolled Act 75, which dealt with all of the alcohol issues we have addressed.

Almost a year ago, summer study committees started meeting to discuss how to address these issues. One of the first meetings took place on September 9, 2009, in a cramped hearing room tucked away in the east wing of the Statehouse.

Witnesses came forward to give testimony about the hours of operation for bars and restaurants on Sundays.

Currently, Indiana law requires any establishment like this to close at 12:30 a.m. Sunday night, technically, Monday morning.

Chris Clifford, the general manager of St. Elmo's and Harry and Izzy's in Indianapolis, pointed out that tourists who visit the city for events like the Super Bowl and the Final Four are not used to such early closing

A few days later, another hearing concerning Sunday sales took place. This one happened in a much larger room to accommodate TV cameras and members of the

For more than four hours, all kinds of people - lobbyists and doctors, retailers and store owners, pastors and members of the general public - came forward to speak for and against the Sunday sale of alcohol in Indiana.

Remember, currently Indiana wineries are already allowed to sell only wine for carryout on Sundays.

As a result, this debate centered on grocery stores and liquor stores, and discussing who would benefit or lose if Sunday sales were made legal. Underage drinking was brought up, in addition to a host of other issues, like cold beer sales, drunk driving statistics, and whether or not Sunday sales would hurt mom-and-pop liquor stores.

Near the end of February, we voted on a compromise: Indiana microbreweries would be allowed to sell no more than 576 ounces of the brewery's beer for carryout on Sunday, but only at the address for which the brewer's permit was issued.

This means festivals or other establishments that might carry the beer are not in-

Most House members voted "yes" to this bill, partly because it will help to boost Indiana tourism and thus the state economy

This new microbrewery law will go into effect on July 1, so the first Sunday it will apply to will be the Fourth of July.

Another thing addressed in this particular bill was the sale of alcohol on Election Day

You may not have even been aware, but it's against the law to sell alcohol on Election Day and on the day of the primary election, or for that matter - any day that an election will be held.

According to witnesses at those hearings last summer, this law dates back to the Prohibition era, when politicians would literally stand outside of the polls and "buy" votes with beer. Nowadays, voters can vote many days before the election and also from other locations via absentee ballots, but the law was still on the books.

This year, the legislature chose to repeal

Retailers - in this case, bars and restaurants-will now be allowed to sell alcohol for on-premise consumption (but not carryout) for extended hours on Sundays.

Previously, they could operate from 10 a.m. Sunday morning to 12:30 a.m. Monday morning. Now, the hours will be 7 a.m. to 3

The final vote in the Indiana House on this law was 74-21, with five members excused or not voting.

Another contract awarded for I-69 corridor

The Indiana Department of Transportation (INDOT) announced Monday that another Interstate 69 (I-69) contract in Daviess County has been awarded.

In a joint venture, T.J. Lambrecht Construction and F.H. Paschen bid $58.5 million to construct four lanes of new interstate roadway from the North Fork of Prairie Creek to County Road 1400 North.

Construction of this latest contract should begin later this summer and connect with other portions of Section 3 currently under construction.

In October 2009, Governor Daniels announced the acceleration of the design and construction of the I-69 corridor. "We continue to set the stage for turning dirt on a very large scale this year and for the remaining 65 miles in Sections 1, 2 and 3 to be under construction in 2011," said Sam Sarvis, Deputy Commissioner of Major Programs. "We will move forward to deliver on the Governor's aggressive goal set last fall to have all 67 miles of Sections 1, 2 and 3 open to traffic by the end of 2012."

Currently there are six projects under contract in Gibson, Daviess, and Greene coun-

As stated by Governor Daniels, "I-69 means much more than simply a connection from Evansville to the rest of Indiana. It means new hope for all of southwest Indiana, for Princeton and Loogootee and Washington and for the great asset that the Crane Naval Surface Warfare Center continues to be. It means jobs, it means promise and it means new prosperity for the young people of southwest Indiana and all of their counterparts across the state."

Sections 1, 2 and 3 of I-69 are part of Governor Mitch Daniels' Major Moves highway program.

Lawmaker victimized by scam asks public to disregard email

State Representative Sandy Blanton (D-Orleans) sent out word today that she is not stranded in Malaysia and she is not in desperate need of money to get back to Indi-

The lawmaker has been victimized by scam artists who gained access to her personal email account and sent out a message early today under the subject heading "Please help me soon!"

"The message that went out under my name claims that I was attacked and robbed while attending a conference in Malaysia designed to help young people fight racism, HIV/AIDS, poverty, and a lack of education," Blanton said. "It also asks for people to wire money to me through Western Union as soon as possible.

"While that conference sounds admirable, everything about the email message is wrong," she added.

"I am not in Malaysia. I have never been in Malaysia. I have not been attacked and robbed in Malaysia . . . or back here in Orleans, for that matter. And while my husband always appreciates contributions to our family coffers, we do not need any money at this time," Blanton said.

The legislator said she would be asking law enforcement officials to look into the

"If anyone has thought about responding to this email, please don't," Blanton said. "Scam artists have gained access to my email account and are sending out fake messages. Please disregard any message that claims to be from me and asks for critical assistance."

Martin County Commissioners discuss roads, jail repairs, other issues at meeting

Minutes provided by Martin County Auditor Nancy Steiner

The Martin County Commissioners met in regular session Tuesday, June 15.

An application for the Housing Rehabilitation Project was received by SIDC and all in attendance were asked if there was any known historical significance to 206 High Street in Loogootee. None was noted.

Public Health Nurse Julia Albright presented the updated Emergency Plan for Martin County and gave the commissioners the updated Telephone Tree. The commissioners approved the plan. Mrs. Albright has been the temporary Public Health Coordinator but will not be continuing for the new term. The commissioners asked to be included in the hiring process since they are the ones who would terminate the position.

Sheriff Dant came before the commissioners with a request to take bids on the repair of the exterior of the security center along with repairing two staircases. RQAW will be contacted to prepare the specifications. The commissioners will attend the next county council meeting to ensure the funds will be available before proceeding further with the project.

Martin County Ambulance Service director Amanda Woodruff gave her activity report for January through May. A total of 385 runs were made during that period.

Steiner relayed Auditor Civil Defense/EMA Director Cameron Wolf's message that the open house for the fire station was a huge success and wanted to thank the commissioners and all who were involved for their help and support.

County Highway Superintendent Jim Williams gave his report of repairing sevoptions available followed. The department is currently mowing but is understaffed and it will take longer than last year. The option of contracting out was also discussed. Mr. Tedrow came before the commissioners asking for dust control on his road. Also, a letter was received from Stephen Petit concerning a culvert on his road. Both issues will be looked into further. Superintendent Williams wanted to make it clear the threeyear Plan Draft for the highway department is just a draft and is not the plan. The ideas and suggestions are good but not all are feasible due to finances and manpower.

County Attorney Dave Lett asked if the commissioners would agree to work with Commonwealth Engineers on a mutual drain access without doing individual access work on the Lost River dam removal project. All agreed and no motions were necessary.

After an explanation from County Attorney Lett, a motion was made by Commissioner Dan Gregory and seconded by President Paul George to vacate a 1983 tax sale property that Charles Hamilton bought and declared that transaction was deemed invalid. Mr. Hamilton is to Quit Claim the one acre to Dr. Donald Kerr and the county would reimbursement Mr. Hamilton $2,500. With all in favor, the motion carried.

Auditor Steiner gave a copy of a letter from the Indiana Department of Homeland Security asking to meet with the commissioners. Auditor Steiner will set up the meeting.

Auditor Steiner presented bids from the two local disposal companies for an eightyard dumpster emptied once a week. She will check to see if a contract with the current provider is in effect. Bids were from Hometown Environmental Disposal for a seven-yard dumpster for $90 monthly and being emptied once a week and from KRB Trash Disposal for either one eight-yard dumpster or two four-yard dumpsters for $99 a month with unlimited emptying.

A motion was made by Commissioner Gregory and seconded by President George to change the upcoming meeting date of July 13 to Wednesday, July 14 due to the Martin County 4-H Fair. All were in favor and the motion carried.

The Ordinance Codification will be added to next year's budget and the commissioners will go before the county council to ensure the funds will be available for this

The Emergency Operation Plan is complete except for the diagram for the courthouse.

SCOUTING MATTERS

By Mike Leighty - Odon Troop 481 Scoutmaster

School is out and summer is in full swing. Summer is an exciting time in the life of a scout because summer means many young men get the opportunity to attend a weeklong camp away from it all; a time for adventure, a chance for new discovery.

As a new Scoutmaster of a local troop, I am excited this year because this will be my first summer camp since I attend camp some 40 years ago as a scout.

In fact, as you read this, I will be at the Maumee Scout Reservation in the middle of the Hoosier National Forest with hundreds of Scouts.

As I prepare for this fun-filled week with my boys, it has me reflecting on those weeks 40 years ago when I could get away from it all

Although I will have to say that for today's youth there is far more to get away from than I was exposed to in my youth. Just separating from TV and video games for one week provides a completely new perspective of what is out there to explore. Now, more than ever, temporarily separating today's youth from an environment that can, far too often, be consuming is one of the most important ways for young men to discover what is inside.

In alignment with our week away from it all is the US Forest Service new campaign called "The Other You." It is all about discovery in the forest. Their radio spot goes something like this. Come to the forest, it's a place not so far away . . . a place where you don't have to mow the lawn . . . a place where you don't have to make time for free time. A place where you can cool down in nature's swimming pools . . . meet bugs and birds . . . you may even meet the mysterious creature known as "The Other You".

Therefore, as I prepare the boys and myself for a week of fun and adventure - a week of discovery - a week in the endless Hoosier National Forest, I simply leave you with these thoughts.

The best time to plant a tree was 20 years ago - the second best time is today! I say this because before there was a forest, there was a tree. Before the tree, there was a seed. Moreover, before the seed could grow, it needed the right climate and care to reach great heights.

If you are a parent, a volunteer, BSA staff member, or scouting supporter, you have helped to sow a seed of greatness in every scout whose life you have touched. How well you take care of a seed impacts how well it can grow.

And, after a century of planting character and integrity into the hearts, minds, and lives of our country's young people, more than 100 million scouts have grown into some of the nation's greatest leaders, advocates, citizens, parents, and friends.

From the first scout in 1910, the Boy Scouts of America has created a legacy. From one tree today, we can create a forest to witness the next 100 years of scouting.

I encourage you to take some time this summer and get away from it all. Go to the forest and discover the "Other You."

If you would like to learn more about the scouting program in your local community or how you might participate, please drop me an email at mike.leighty@centurytel.net and I will help you make contact with a local unit.

Yours in Scouting, Scoutmaster Mike
