Learning center has new coordinator

Ivy Tech Community College Coopera-spond to individual, community, workforce tive of Martin County now has a new coordinator, Kathy Kerr. Kerr comes to the Community Learning Center (CLC) of Martin County with previous experience in delivering academic services through the Purdue extension office located at the CLC.

dinator, recommended Kerr to the position. "She is very detailed, good with people and works well under pressure," Gonzales said. "She had previously worked with us in the building."

Auna Beasley, office manager at the Purdue extension office at the CLC of Martin Co. also worked with Kathy. In an email from Beasley, she wrote that Kathy worked as a summer assistant with the Purdue extension office and did an amazing job. "Kathy is a hard worker and very bright," Beasley wrote. "It'll be exciting to have her back in the building with us."

Kerr graduated summa cum laude from Oakland City University, where she earned her bachelor's degree in English Education.

The CLC of Martin County is dedicated to delivering programs and services that reand economic development needs. In addition, the center provides a comfortable learning atmosphere that provides a broad range of continuing education opportunities, and emphasizes one-on-one assistance. Center still has not reached fundraising goal

According to the president of the Martin County Community Learning Center Advisory Board, Nancy Jones, the learning center has yet to reach their goal of $21,500. According to Jones the center has until Au-

The only confirmed money raised so far is $10,400 from county EDIT money and $1,400 in donations.

In order to help the situation, the learning center was awarded a $4,000 Challenge Grant from the Martin County Community Foundation. This is a matching grant so for every $2 donated, the grant matches $1. Money has to be donated, however, before that match takes effect.

The advisory board will meet again on Friday, August 20, at 5:30 p.m. at the center.

Loogootee School Board holds short meeting, happy with new traffic plan

BY COURTNEY HUGHETT Martin County Journal Publisher

The Loogootee School Board briefly discussed the new traffic situation at their meeting Tuesday night, August 17. "We got off to a great start yesterday and today," said Superintendent Larry Weitkamp on the start of the new set up.

"I very much agree that it's gone very, very well; better than I'd hoped it would," said Elementary West Principal Laura Mattingly. "I would just like to thank all the parents who took the materials about the parking and obviously read them. I really didn't have to tell anyone anything, they did it, it was wonderful," she added.

Board president Eric Ackerman also noted that he has watched the traffic flow for the past few days and agreed that it went "better than I dreamed it would go," he said.

The board voted to allow for advertisement of the 2011 budget. The budget hearing, for public input, will be held September 8, at 5 p.m.

The adoption will be held on September 20, at 7 p.m. The regular monthly board meeting will also be held on September 20.

Condolences were offered to Lynn Bledsoe for the passing of her sister.

The board approved appointing Shelly Lengacher to the Loogootee Public Library Board to replace Charity Truelove. The term will run through June 2011. Although not concrete numbers, Superintendent Larry Weitkamp reported that so far enrollment for Loogootee Schools is running close to last year's number at 996 students. The official numbers will not be available until September 17.

School Board member Scott Hall was absent due to lastminute travel requirements through his

Dr. Nonte notified the Board that legislation was passed in 2010 allowing school corporations to accept non-resident students without requiring transfer tuition. Dr. Nonte recommended the Board change the student transfer policy to reflect this change to allow non-resident students to attend Shoals Community School Corporation if they meet the criteria on being eligible according to the existing policy without charging tuition unless it would cause an extraordinary cost to the school corporation, such as the student requiring a program that isn't offered requiring the school to hire additional personnel.

The board will hold a first reading of the updated policy at the regular September board meeting.

The board approved athletic ticket prices for the 2010-11 school year as follows:

Family All Home Event Pass $150, Adult All Home Event Pass $50, Single High School Indoor Event $5, Single High School Outdoor Event $4, Jr. High Events $3, and

Several years ago I decided to start reading every book that won an award. This didn't last too long. Some of them were just way over my head. I made it through a few of Oprah's Book Club selections and read a

My favorite book of all time is "Legend" by Jude Deveraux. If you haven't read this you should. I also recently finished "The Rescue" by Nicholas Sparks and it was really good too.

I have considered starting a book club among Journal readers. Someone suggested it to me several months ago and I had thought of it too. With the new technology it is fairly easy to get access to books at cheap prices. For anyone who owns a laptop or enjoys sitting at their desktop computer, Kindle has an application you can download at amazon.com. You can read books right on your screen and for a much cheaper price then actually buying the book. I have read several on my laptop.

If any readers out there are interested in being a part of a book club send me an email at courtney@martincountyjournal.com. I haven't worked out the specifics vet, but if you have any thoughts or ideas, let me know. This could be fun!

First Ray Clark Memorial Scholarship awarded in May

The Public Education Foundation of Evansville, Inc. is proud to announce that the first Ray A. Clark Aeronautical Studies Scholarship was awarded May 24, 2010 to Ty Riffert, a 2010 Reitz High School grad-

Ray A. Clark, the late grandfather of Loogootee residents Courtney Hughett and Shayna Otto and a 1937 graduate of Reitz, was an area pioneer in aviation and was able to follow his dream of flying only after receiving a scholarship to train in aviation.

Ray took his love of flying and transferred it to everyone he met.

In 70 years, he touched the lives of hundreds, if not thousands, of pilots by sharing his love of aviation. Whether they could afford to pay or not, he wanted each one to have a chance to share his passion.

It is only fitting, then, now that he is gone, to have his memory and work honored by giving young people with a passion for aviation a chance to follow in his "flight path" with this scholarship in his name.

Ty, son of Amy and Chad Toone and Ron Riffert, plans to study aviation at Vincennes University in the fall.

He will be eligible to reapply for the scholarship by carrying a 3.0 GPA during his first year of study at VU.

Indiana State Police to participate in national crackdown on impaired drivers

Lieutenant Don Bolen, Commander of the Indiana State Police Jasper Post, announced Monday that troopers will be participating in a nationwide crackdown on impaired drivers. This enforcement initiative will begin Friday, August 20 and run through Sunday, September 12. Troopers will join more than 250 other law enforcement agencies throughout the state to conduct high-visibility saturation patrols, sobriety checkpoints, and other activities designed to deter impaired driving and motorcycle riding across the Hoosier state.

According to the Indiana Criminal Justice Institute (ICJI), more than 8,800 alcohol-related collisions occurred on Indiana's roadways in 2009, resulting in 168 alcohol-related fatalities. Statistics from the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) show that nearly 12,000 people died in crashes where a driver or motorcycle rider was at or above the legal limit is the unofficial end of summer celebration and motorists can expect to see more troopers on the road during this dangerous time period. Troopers will be able to participate in several federally funded traffic enforcement initiatives such as Operation Pullover, Operation C.A.R.E. (Combined Accident Reduction Effort), and S.W.D.U.I.E.P. (State Wide Driving Under the Influence Project) for overtime pay in an effort to detect and apprehend impaired drivers and make Hoosier roadways safer for everyone.

Motorists are urged to call 911 if they encounter a suspected drunk driver. Citizens should be prepared to give a complete description of the vehicle, including color and make, along with a license plate number, road on which the vehicle is being operated, and direction of travel. Callers can remain anonymous.

For more information on the national crackdown, visit the High-Visibility Enforcement Campaign Headquarters at www.StopImpairedDriving.org.

Martin County OUTDOORS

Early migratory bird 2010 season dates from Indiana DNR

dates have been submitted to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service by the Indiana DNR as listed below.

As in other years, these dates are not final until the USFWS approves them, which typically happens by the end of August. The season dates fall within the framework provided by USFWS, so no changes are anticipated. A later Wild Bulletin will notify you of approval or change.

Indiana's requested seasons have never been altered by USFWS after submission; however, there is always the slight possibility of change; therefore, the dates below should not be interpreted as being final.

Bag limit, possession limit and licensing information is at hunting. IN. gov.

–Mourning Doves

Statewide, 15-bird bag/30-bird possession limit: September 1-October 17 and November 5-27

–Sora Rails

Statewide, 25-bird bag/25-bird possession limit: September 1-November 9

–Woodcock

Statewide, three-bird bag/six-bird possession limit: October 15-November 28

-Common Snipe

Statewide, eight-bird bag/16-bird possession limit: September 1-December 16

-September Teal

Statewide, four-bird bag/eight-bird possession limit, blue- and green-winged teal only: September 4-19

-Canada Geese

Statewide, five-bird bag/10-bird possession limit: September 1-15

Regular-season 2010 waterfowl season

The regular-season waterfowl dates, as proposed to the United States Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) by the Indiana DNR, are listed below. The dates are not final until approved by the USFWS in midto late September. Look for another Wild Bulletin around that time that will either

The 2010 early migratory bird season confirm or amend these dates. Historically, they have been accepted as proposed.

-Ducks, coots, and mergansers:

North Zone: October 16-December 14 South Zone: October 23-31 and November 24, 2010-January 13, 2011

Ohio River Zone: October 30-31 and November 27, 2010-January 23, 2011

The bag limit is six ducks daily, including no more than four mallards (no more than two of which may be hens), three wood ducks, two pintails, two redheads, two scaup, one canvasback, one black duck, and one mottled duck. The possession limit is twice the daily bag limit.

-Canada geese:

North Zone: October 16-17 and November 6, 2010-January 16, 2011

South Zone: October 23-31 and November 24, 2010-January 27, 2011

Ohio River Zone: October 30-31, 2010 and November 21, 2010-January 31, 2011

-Late Canada Goose Zone: February 1-

The late Canada Goose Zone includes the following counties: Adams, Allen, Boone, Clay, DeKalb, Elkhart, Greene, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Huntington, Johnson, Kosciusko, LaPorte, LaGrange, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Morgan, Noble, Parke, St. Joseph, Shelby, Steuben, Starke, Sullivan, Vermillion, Vigo, Wells and Whitley. Special restrictions apply: a free permit is re-

Special Regulations: Terre Haute Subzone (Vermillion, Parke, Vigo, Clay, Sullivan, and Greene counties)

All birds harvested in the Terre Haute subzone during this special season must be checked at a state goose check station. Check-station locations and hours will be sent to participants with their permit, and will be available beginning in December at wildlife.IN.gov.

-Light geese and brant:

Statewide: October 16, 2010-January 28,

Bag limit of 20 light geese (snow and/or Ross' geese) and one brant. Possession limit is two brant. There is no possession limit on

Light goose conservation order: February 1-March 31, 2011, EXCEPT within the Late Canada Goose Zone: February 16-March 31, 2011

No bag or possession limit. A free permit is required. Details will be available later in the winter.

-White-fronted geese

November 6, 2010-January 30, 2011 Bag limit of one white-fronted goose. Possession limit is two.

-Youth waterfowl hunt:

North Zone: October 9-10, 2010

-Extended Falconry:

Ducks, coots and mergansers:

North Zone: September 27-30, 2010 and February 14-March 10, 2011

South Zone: October 16-22, 2010 and February 17-March 10, 2011

Ohio River Zone: October 23-29, 2010

and February 17-March 10, 2011 Late Canada goose season will continue

The Late Canada Goose Zone season will continue. This season will be open February 1-15, 2011, in the following counties: Adams, Allen, Boone, Clay, DeKalb, Elkhart, Greene, Hamilton, Hancock, Hendricks, Huntington, Johnson, Kosciusko, La Porte, LaGrange, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Morgan, Noble, Parke, St. Joseph, Shelby, Starke, Steuben, Sullivan, Vermillion, Vigo, Wells and Whitley. During this season, hunters may take five Canada geese per day.

The evaluation of the late seasons for the past three years has shown that most of the state exceeds the 80 percent giant harvest required by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service for special late seasons; however, the Terre Haute subzone did not reach 80 percent. The Service has allowed Indiana DNR to continue the hunt in this subzone as long as we continue to evaluate harvest there. See below for special regulations in the Terre Haute subzone.

Hunters will still be required to obtain a special permit. However, only birds taken in the Terre Haute subzone (Vermillion, Parke, Vigo, Clay, Sullivan, and Greene counties) will need to be checked at a DNR check station. Details will be available later this winter.

In the Late Canada Goose Zone, the Light Goose Conservation Order does not open until February 16, the day after the Late Canada Goose season closes.

Scouts return from summer camp

Loogootee Boy Scout Troop 484 has regot a chance to brush up on their scout turned from another successful summer camp trip to the Maumee Scout Reservation in the Deem Wilderness Area. Six days of swimming, shotgun, and rifle shooting were over and done way too early this year. It was hotter than normal, and also much more crowded than anyone had ever seen. The camp adapted to the crowds by eating in shifts, a first at Maumee for everyone.

The Order of the Arrow Ceremony also had to be creative about the crowds. The Loogootee troop had a smaller group this year, and with the crush of scouts from other places, Loogootee was teamed with a 2nd small troop from Worthington, Indiana. This was a young group of neverbeen-to-camp before scouts. The older Loogootee scouts showed the newer scouts the tricks of camp, and everyone skill.

Most of the scouts earned their entire way to camp through their share of popcorn sales in the local community. The Fall Scouting Popcorn sales give the scout the opportunity to learn what it's like to pay their own way, while also helping the local and National Scouting community. 70 percent of the funds generated from sales stays in the Southern Indiana region. Scout Popcorn will be on sale again soon, and the troop would like to thank Loogootee for their past and continuing support of scouting in Loogootee!

Also, cub scout sign-ups will be held September 2, at 7 p.m., at the Loogootee United Methodist Church. Call Mr. Brad Combs at 295-6044 or Mr. Jim Duzan at 295-4568 for further information on cub scouts.

USDA crop report 'good news' for farmers and consumers

BY KEITH ROBINSON Purdue University News Service

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is projecting a record corn crop in Indiana for the second consecutive year, pushing production beyond one billion bushels for the first time. It also forecasts a record crop na-

The production will enable U.S. farmers to meet worldwide demands for grain in food and for ethanol blends in gasoline to

"If you like to eat and drive your car, this is good news," Purdue agricultural economist Chris Hurt said last Thursday during a panel discussion at the Indiana State Fair after the release of the USDA's "Crop Production Report" for August. The report is the first indicator of expected production for

The USDA forecast Indiana farmers to produce 1.03 billion bushels of corn - up from 933 million last year - on average yields of 176 bushels per acre, up 5 bushels.

The USDA forecast a record 13.4 billion bushels of corn nationally, up two percent from last year. Yields are expected to hit 165 bushels per acre, up slightly from last year's record of 164.7.

"We're going to have a lot of corn out there," said Greg Preston, director of the National Agricultural Statistics Service office in Indiana.

Soybean production nationally is expected to hit a record 3.4 billion bushels an increase of two percent from 2009 - on yields of 44 bushels per acre, which is unchanged from last year's record.

"Records are just popping up all over the place," Preston said.

While the report forecasts Indiana's soybean crop to drop to 259 million bushels from 266 million last year, soybean farmers did not benefit from early spring planting as much as did farmers who planted corn. The expected yield is unchanged from last year at 49 bushels per acre.

But soybean crops could improve, depending on how it develops into early September, Hurt said.

Concerns over heavy spring rains, sweltering heat and humidity have not hurt Indiana's crop production, primarily because of corn farmers' jump in planting in early April. At the beginning of May, corn planting set a record pace at 71 percent, surpassing the previous record in 2004. By mid-May, corn planting was 12 days ahead of the five-year average.

Planting of soybeans also moved at a record pace in late April, but weather for most of May slowed progress.

The early spring planting is turning out to be crucial to global food supply, Hurt

"If we didn't have that three weeks of early April planting, the world would be in a world of trouble for food and fuel," he

Sixty-three percent of Indiana's corn crop was rated good to excellent as of August 1. A week later, 65 percent of it fell into that rating. Sixty-four percent of soybeans had that rating August 1 and 65 percent a week

The report did not indicate a "big price driver" either higher or lower, Hurt said.

But Indiana farmers now will find planting more wheat attractive because of drought conditions in Russia, among the largest exporters of the crop, and in parts of Europe, Hurt said. That is an opportunity for farmers to take advantage of both world demand and high prices.

"We're going to see interest in wheat like we've never seen before," he said.

The report shows that Indiana farmers are responsive to world food supply demand, said Joe Kelsay, Indiana State Department of Agriculture director.

"We have the safest, most abundant and most affordable food supply," he said.

Jay Akridge, Glenn W. Sample Dean of Purdue Agriculture, moderated the panel discussion.

Get registered for hunter education classes

Indiana Hunter Education courses will be held on three different dates at the Dover Hill Christian Union Church located four miles north of Shoals on Hwy. 450.

The scheduled dates are Thursday, September 9, from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.; Friday, September 10, from 6 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.; and Saturday, September 11, from 8 a.m. to 3

Participants will learn about wildlife conservation, hunter ethics, firearms safety, shotguns, rifles, archery, survival, and much

There is no charge for attending the class. All instruction will be done by Indiana Conservation Officers and certified Indiana volunteer hunter education instructors.

To register, call 812-295-3421. The classes are sponsored by Dover Hill Christian Union Church and West Boggs Park.

State starts fiscal year 2011 with modest revenue improvements

State figures show a modest revenue improvement for the start of fiscal year 2011, but totals continue to be well below the projections used to develop the state's two-year budget.

Modest improvements in July - the first month of the new fiscal year - are welcome news, but like most states, Indiana is far from being out of the woods. State leaders must continue to practice fiscal restraint in order to keep the state's balance sheet in the black and protect Hoosier taxpayers.

Total revenue collections for July were $917 million, a 9 percent increase over the same period last year. However, the totals were $72 million below the amount used to craft the two-year budget in 2009.

Sales tax collections, the state's largest revenue source, totaled $522 million for the month compared to $514 million last July, a 1.5 percent increase. Individual income taxes, the state's second-largest revenue source, totaled $273 million for the month, up 44 percent from the same period last year.

While recent increases are encouraging. they follow months of declines and continue to fall short of the most recent projections. July's totals were $15 million below the latest revenue forecast, released last December.

To help offset these continued revenue shortfalls, the Indiana Senate returned 14 percent of its budget to state coffers in fiscal year 2010. Governor Mitch Daniels has already ordered $597 million in state spending reductions for fiscal year 2011 to help the state's bottom line remain in the black.

If the most current revenue forecast is achieved going forward, the state is projected to end fiscal year 2011 with $173 million in reserves, showing conservative lawmakers and the governor were correct in preserving the state's cash-on-hand to maintain critical services and avoid tax hikes.

Clearly these times call for continued spending restraint on the part of state leaders. Senate Republicans have led on fiscal responsibility in the past and will continue to do so as we enter the 2011 budget-writing session.

Attorney General Zoeller and FTC warn consumers to avoid medical discount plans

Attorney General Greg Zoeller joined officials from the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) last Thursday in announcing the results of a crackdown on illegal marketers. Between 2009 and 2010 Indiana filed six lawsuits against companies and individuals selling medical discount plans to Hoosiers. The lawsuits alleged that the companies and individuals violated Indiana's Telephone Privacy laws by sending unwanted faxes or making robocalls in an attempt to market their products.

The announcement came as part of a nationwide enforcement sweep led by the FTC. In addition to Zoeller, 23 state attorneys general participated in the sweep resulting in more than 50 actions against similar discount plan companies.

"These six cases brought in Indiana are examples of our efforts to be proactive and not wait for victims to file complaints," Zoeller said. "By aggressively using our state's do-not-fax and robo-calling statutes our telephone privacy section is helping us focus on consumer protection rather than consumer restitution.'

The Indiana attorney general's office received nearly 1,500 complaints reporting unwanted faxes or autodialed pre-recorded messages selling medical discount plans during the nearly two-year period.

The enforcement actions taken by the FTC and other states allege deceptive practices or representations as well as violations of insurance laws.

so their chambers sit empty. Kids are splashing in pools or running around at camp, rather than taking class field trips to see where state law is made.

Aside from the occasional press conference or Supreme Court nomination, there's not too much news being made within the thick limestone walls. But soon, we'll be whisked into back-to-school preparations and harvest.

We'll watch the holidays fly past us, and then as we welcome the new year and settle into the cold, the 100 representatives and 50 senators elected from all corners of the state will be summoned to the Statehouse in Indianapolis to resume working for the people by introducing new state laws and adjusting old ones to fit the needs of Hoosiers.

It's hard to imagine going from 97 percent humidity to slushy roads and winter coats, but the time really will fly by.

That's why right now, I need your help. I need your input now so that we can prepare to introduce your ideas to the legislature next year.

Laws cannot just be introduced on a whim. Each proposed bill begins with a suggestion-most often one that is made months before session begins-and most often from a constituent at home.

Someone might call or email my office, reach my legislative aide, or talk to me when they see me out around the community. I then take that idea, and make several calls to community leaders or state agen-

This takes time as various parties inquire as to whether changing state law would be appropriate for the situation.

If it turns out that the issue does merit some change, we get input from as many parties as possible and then we take the idea

These are the people with the training to moves through the legislative process, which begins after Christmas.

But before that process can start, the bill must be officially filed. The first day for filing a bill in Indiana is November 16 - also known as Organization Day.

Org Day, as it's called, is usually the only time during the fall when all of the legislators are gathered at the Statehouse, and it's also when the newly-elected members get sworn in.

As the name implies, a lot of other details also get squared away on this day so that on the first session day in January, we can really hit the ground running with all of our proposed bills ready to go.

So right now, during the dog days of summer, is the best possible time to hear from you. Right now there are still several months to research and draft ideas to introduce to the rest of the legislature.

To help jog your memory and give you an idea of the kinds of proposals we may be addressing next year, I've set up an online survey on my website.

Just visit www.in.gov/h63 and click on the 2010 Summer Survey link in the upper right corner. On my survey you'll have an opportunity to give me your thoughts on issues like healthcare, immigration, jobs and abortion.

I can't stress enough how crucial it is for me to hear your thoughts on these issues. I strive to represent our community as accurately as possible, and for that to happen, communication must be constant.

If you don't get a chance to fill out the survey, you can always email me your thoughts at h63@in.gov.

NEW BEGINNINGS CHURCH

Weekly message by Shirley Canell, Pastor's wife

How to Live the Christian Life Acts 11:26

"and when he had found him, he brought him to Antioch. And for an entire, year they met with the church and taught considerable numbers; and the disciples were first called Christians in Antioch," Acts 11:26. Many have a strong desire to live a Christian life and have never been told how.

What is a Christian? A Christian is someone who has made a decision to accept Jesus and has had a personal encounter with Jesus Christ. You cannot inherit Christianity. Just because you were born in a Christian county or country or because your parents are Christians, these things will not make you a Chris-

Receive Jesus Christ into your heart, commit your life to Him, repent of your sins by faith make Him Lord and Savior. The moment you receive Christ, the Holy Spirit will come in and give you a new moral nature. So, you will have the power and strength to live the Christian life. By your own will you must say I will give my life to Christ. When you have received Christ into your life you are going to WANT to make changes in your life. No longer will your attitude be about yourself, selfish, self-serving. You will have a new attitude toward your neighbor. The Bible says love your neighbor as yourself.

If you say you have received Christ and there is no change in your life, you better ask if you really had an encounter with Jesus Christ. The Bible says you will know them by their fruits. IF you don't change you will not bear fruit; if there is no change then how can you be a Christian. How will someone recognize you as a Christian if you have not changed and are not living in a way pleasing to God? A Christian has accepted a challenge, the challenge to take up his cross and follow Jesus. Most people are not willing to deny self and take up their cross to surrender to Christ and make a stand for Him. When you receive Christ you say I will. I will follow. I will live. I will grow.

To live the Christian life you must do several things. First you must pray!

Sometimes we don't know how to pray. We must learn. Remember living this Christian life you don't have to do it alone. As a Christian you are never alone, the Holy Spirit will come to help you in your prayer life, give you strength. Romans 8:26-27, "And in the same way the Spirit also helps our weakness, for we do not know how to pray as we should, but the Spirit Himself intercedes for us with groanings too deep for words, and He who searches the hearts knows what the mind of the Spirit is, because He intercedes for the saints according to the will of God."

When you don't feel like praying, pray; these times are when the most magnificent aside a time and a place every day to pray. Don't miss your appointment.

Second, to live the Christian life you must be in the word. Every time a person comes up to you and says, "I'm not getting my prayers answered, I have no joy in my life, no victory in my life, I don't have the peace I know I should have as a Christian." Ask them one question, "Are you reading your Bible and studying His word each day?" Most will bow their head and say no, not very often or not as much as I should. Remind them God has a message for them in the Bible, they have to read and study it. It must be read reverently, expectantly, and dependently. The Holy Spirit will interpret it and reveal it to you. If you don't understand it, get on your knees and ask God to reveal it to Third; a Christian life is one of discipline. Discipline yourself. Don't throw away your time reading and watching things that will lead you astray. Discipline your tongue, your body, have self-control over what you expose yourself to. Blessed are the meek they will inherit the earth, meek means self-controlled.

Fourth, you must be part of a church. Christian fellowship is not an option, it is a command, the Bible tells us to not forsake the assembly. We are like branches, living stones, knitted together, we are all members things happen. Make an appointment; set of the Body. The Body is a place where Christ is preached and exalted. You can't live a victorious Christian life, joyous and peaceful life, without being part of the church. You cannot be a Robison Crusoe Christian.

Fifth, you must witness with your life. If you live a changed life with Jesus living through you, you radiate Christ. You radiate kindness, joy, peace, goodness, refreshed and renewed witnessing in your home, business and work.

Are you a Christian? Are you living that kind of life? The question is not are you Christian influenced, the question is have you had a personal encounter with Christ? Has a change taken place in you, have you accepted the challenge of Christ?

Our service was held at West Boggs Park this past Sunday. We were blessed with awesome weather for the service; a nice, cool breeze swept through the shelter house. We were blessed with many campers who came to the service. As always, awesome dinner afterwards, then boating and tubing fun followed that. Most importantly, Sierra Blankenship was baptized in the lake. She had made a confession of faith at VBS and was ready to live her life for Christ. Sierra has attended church a long time with her grandparents.

If you have any questions about your personal relationship with Christ call Pastor Ernie at 709-0258.

Shoals Soccer team defeated by WC in first match of the season

The Shoals High School Soccer team fell in their first match of the season to Washington Catholic Tuesday night, August 17 at home with a final score of 0-3.

According to Coach Cody Douglas the team started off very flat and nervous with very little communication on the field.

Washington Catholic had most of the chances in the first half and Coach Douglas said they had a few midfielders that held on to the ball and distributed well. "They outshot us 9 to 1 in the first half," he said.

At half-time the score was 2-0. Coach Douglas made some changes at the half which he said helped the team calm down. "We started possessing the ball a little better and kept a little better shape in our midfield," he said.

"If we did not have some good senior experience in the defense from Cole Kimmel, Tyler Price, and from our goal keeper Justin Franklin we could have been a lot worse off. They really stepped up tonight. Our keeper made some big saves tonight and ended up with a total of nine on the night."

Coach Douglas went on to say, "It was a tough start but we can chalk this up to some experience and try to learn from it and take it to our next game on Friday."

The next game is scheduled for Friday, August 20, at home versus Vincennes Rivet. The match begins at 5 p.m.

Shoals JV Volleyball defeats North Daviess

The Shoals JV Volleyball team traveled to North Daviess Tuesday night, August 17, to bring home a win. The Jug Rox won the game in three sets.

First set was 25-23 in favor of North Daviess, second set 25-17 in favor of Shoals and third set was 15-1 in favor of Shoals. Leading scorer for the Jug Rox was Jalynn Hilderbrand with 18 service points followed by Jenna Bleemel and Briana Wagler with 12 points apiece.

Lezlie Hart lead the way with 7 kills followed by Megan Sanders which included 3

Jaylnn Hilderbrand attributed 12 setting assists for the night.

The girls' next game will be Tuesday, August 24, at 6 p.m. at North Knox.

Hume announces Indiana Open Government Initiative

(D-Princeton) announced the Indiana Open Government Initiative, a plan to increase transparency and accountability in state government in order to safeguard taxpayers, foster better budgeting practices, promote good jobs, and garner savings. Hume will co-author the package of proposals during the 2011 legislative session.

Also announced under the initiative is an online forum where individuals can submit their own ideas for increasing transparency in Indiana state government. Hume said he encourages Indiana residents to submit their www.senatedemocrats.in.gov/OpenGov where they can be considered for inclusion in the final legislative package.

Citing Indiana's recent grade of "F" for transparency in government spending in the U.S. Public Interest Research Groups' (U.S. PIRG) report "Following the Money," Hume said the state needs to improve public

"Indiana is behind other states in terms of public access and transparency in how we spend taxpayer money," Hume said. "The public deserves access to this information, and I think public scrutiny can help us identify areas where state dollars can be more effectively invested."

The Indiana Open Government Initiative includes specific proposals within three primary areas of focus:

1. The Indiana OpenGov web site providing one-stop public access to state budgets, spending, and contracts

A searchable web site accessible to the public providing information on state, agency and program-level budgets, actual expenses and funding cuts, and contracts

Public commenting opportunities on changes to administrative rules and business regulations

Reporting on state economic development incentives and their fiscal impact, including uncollected or diverted state tax

Tracking of federal stimulus awards and funding opportunities

2. Corporate accountability laws for state economic incentives

A short, standardized form for businesses to annually report the number of jobs created or retained, employee pay, and other uses of a state incentive Required recapture of funds from busi-

On Monday, State Senator Lindel Hume nesses that receive state incentives but fail to make the level of capital investment, create the number of jobs, or pay less than wages specified in the agreement

> Reports on the Indiana OpenGov website of all recapture activities and taxpayer dollars recouped from unfulfilled economic development incentives

> Records related to taxpayer-funded economic development incentives subject to disclosure under the state's Open Records

> 3. Ending "pay to play" in state contracts Ensure that state contracts are awarded based on qualifications, not contributions

> Prohibit individuals with state contracts from making political contributions to state office holders or candidates

> Information about individuals and businesses with state contracts available in a searchable database on the Indiana Open-Gov web site

> Prohibit state employees who have purchasing or procurement authority from soliciting political contributions

> Open government initiatives can save millions of taxpayer dollars through more efficient government operations, more competitive contracting bids, fewer manual information requests, and lower risk of fraud. Transparency also allows states to track how well subsidies and tax incentives deliver results. Coupled with corporate accountability laws and greater public input, transparency allows the state to recoup funding from underperforming projects and programs and reinvest those dollars into more successful programs.

> Thirty-two states allow residents to access detailed information about government expenditures online, including neighboring states Illinois, Kentucky, and Ohio. According to the U.S. PIRG report, in the two years following the launch of its transparency web site, the Texas Comptroller reported $4.8 million in savings from more efficient government administration.

> More information on the Indiana Open Government Initiative, including greater detail of the proposals, links to other state transparency web sites and the public forum, is available at www.senatedemocrats.in.gov/OpenGov.

Memorial Hospital partners with CarePayment®

Memorial Hospital and Health Care Center announced a new partnership with Care-Payment[®], an innovative program designed to provide patients with the ability to have more financial control over payment of their hospital expenses. The new partnership enables Memorial Hospital's patients to pay for their hospital services at 0 percent interest over a 25-month period.

When the program goes into effect on August 23, 2010, it will make unexpected medical bills less burdensome especially for insurance plan deductibles, co-payments, and other out-of-pocket costs.

"We continue to search for ways to improve our overall patient experience," said E. Kyle Bennett, Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer at Memorial Hospital. "The CarePayment® system is another way that we can offer our care and compassion while providing patients with a payment option that is manageable and convenient for them." CarePayment's CEO Jim Quist added,

"We're proud of the opportunity to partner with Memorial Hospital, and we look forward to providing a worthwhile benefit to the patients and community.

Regardless of insurance coverage, credit history or employment, Memorial Hospital will refer patients automatically to CarePayment® if they have a balance on their hospital account two months after receiving those who are uninsured or are facing high their first statement. Through a pre-approved application process, the patient will receive a 0 percent interest hospital-sponsored loyalty card. The patient's monthly minimum payment will be 4 percent of the account balance or $25, whichever is greater.

For more information about CarePayment®, please call Memorial Hospital's Patient Financial Services staff at 482-0651.
