COYOLXAUHQUI

THE DISMEMBERED MOON GODDESS AND THE POWER OF REBIRTH

In the rich tapestry of Mexica (Aztec) cosmology, few figures stand as striking and symbolic as Coyolxāuhqui, whose name means “Painted with Bells.”

She is remembered as the goddess of the moon, sister to the war god Huitzilopochtli, and a powerful leader who challenged the divine order. Her story is one of conflict, sacrifice, and ultimately transformation—a myth that continues to resonate for those seeking strength, renewal, and meaning.

According to Mexica tradition, Coyolxāuhqui led her four hundred brothers, the Centzonhuitznahuas (stars), in an uprising against their mother, Coatlicue, who had miraculously conceived Huitzilopochtli. Outraged by this perceived dishonor, Coyolxāuhqui prepared for battle, but Huitzilopochtli was born fully armed and slew her, dismembering her body. Her remains were cast down from the sacred mountain, and the great circular stone depicting her fragmented body was placed at the foot of the Templo Mayor in Tenochtitlán as a reminder of cosmic struggle.

For the Mexica, Coyolxāuhqui symbolized more than tragedy. Her dismemberment reflected the cycles of life, death, and rebirth—the eternal rhythms of the universe. Just as the moon waxes and wanes, so too do human lives carry moments of loss, breakdown, and renewal. In her fall, Coyolxāuhqui became a part of the celestial order, embodying the moon that watches over night travelers and dreamers.

Today, Coyolxāuhqui is remembered not only as a mythic figure but as a powerful emblem of feminine energy, resistance, and the resilience of Indigenous belief systems. For many, she represents the struggles we all endure—the feeling of being torn apart by life’s trials—and the reminder that even in pieces, we remain whole in spirit.

Her story invites reflection:

How do we transform personal struggles into sources of strength?

What parts of ourselves must be released so that new life can emerge?

How do we honor both the light and shadow within us, as the moon does?

Just as the Mexica honored Coyolxāuhqui with ritual, we too can take time to honor her legacy—through prayer, meditation, or simply by gazing at the moon and remembering that our struggles are part of a greater cosmic cycle.

Coyolxāuhqui teaches us that dismemberment is not the end. It is a passage into transformation, where every fragment still carries sacred power.

SPIRITUAL ATTACKS DURING INCARCERATION WHAT THEY ARE. HOW THEY HAPPEN. HOW TO PROTECT YOURSELF.

In life, not all battles are fought in the open. Some are unseen—quiet struggles that affect the heart, mind, and spirit. These are spiritual attacks—periods when it feels as though your energy, peace, or blessings are under siege.

A spiritual attack can take many forms: sudden streaks of misfortune, persistent negative thoughts, unexplained exhaustion, tension in relationships, or even recurring dreams that leave you unsettled. Across cultures and faith traditions, these moments are recognized as times when unseen forces—be they envy, ill intentions, or malevolent spirits—seek to disturb a person's spiritual balance.

How to Recognize a Spiritual Attack

Emotional heaviness without clear cause

Unexplained obstacles in work, finances, or relationships

Recurring patterns of loss, fear, or anxiety

Disturbed rest or vivid, troubling dreams

Responding with Faith and Protection Spiritual defense begins with strengthening your connection to your beliefs and spiritual practices. Whether through prayer, scripture, meditation, or ritual, the goal is to anchor yourself in the divine protection you trust.

Many turn to protective tools and sacred items—such as black copal for purification, gold copal for prosperity, blessed candles, protective jewelry, and prayer cards—to help cleanse, guard, and renew their spiritual energy. These are not simply objects; they are reminders of faith, conduits for intention.

ALL-NATURAL SPIRITUAL HERBS

Black Copal is prized for its power to banish negativity, dissolve spiritual blockages, and shield against malevolent forces. Liquid Gold Gifts offers Gold Copal, with its warm, uplifting energy, draws blessings, prosperity, and divine favor.

“THE TIES THAT BIND” FAMILY

At Liquid Gold Gifts, we believe family is the foundation of faith, love, and resilience. Whether through blood or chosen bonds, family is the network that holds us together during bright moments and challenges. Each year, I take a spiritual sabbatical to Mexico during Día de los Muertos (Day of the Dead). For me, it’s an opportunity to spend time with my “non-blood but true blood” Mexican family in Mexico City and Coatzacoalcos—loved ones who have become as close as kin.

For those who are incarcerated, maintaining family ties is crucial. Letters, phone calls, and small acts of connection remind our loved ones that they are not forgotten—that the bond of family transcends distance, bars, and circumstance. At Liquid Gold Gifts, we are honored to provide resources that help bridge the gap, allowing incarcerated individuals and their families to stay connected. In the end, family—by blood or by choice—sustains us.

At Liquid Gold Gifts, we believe in one simple truth: you should be able to worship how you worship. Faith is deeply personal, and whether your path is guided by the saints, the spirit of Santa Muerte, the wisdom of the tarot, or the blessings of the divine in any form, we are here to support your journey.

Every year, we take a sacred sabbatical to Tepito, Mexico, where we visit the Santa Muerte altar, a place of devotion and powerful spiritual connection. Our altar calls allow us to carry your prayers to this sacred space, lighting candles, offering petitions, and working with Doña Enriqueta Romero, the matriarch of the altar, to ensure that your intentions are blessed and heard. We know how important it is for you to feel connected to your faith, no matter where you are, and we are honored to serve as a bridge between you and the divine.

In the spring of 2024, our journey took us to the heart of Catholicism—the Vatican and Rome—where we walked through centuries of history, visited holy sites, and deepened our understanding of faith's many forms. From the grandeur of St. Peter's Basilica to the quiet reverence of ancient relics, this experience reaffirmed our mission: to provide access to spiritual tools and sacred items for all traditions, all beliefs, and all walks of life.

Our home base in New Orleans, Louisiana, only strengthens this commitment. Known for its deep spiritual roots—voodoo, Catholicism, folk magic, and a unique blend of traditions—New Orleans is a place where faith and culture intertwine. It is from this vibrant city that we curate our selection, ensuring that no matter what path you walk, you have the tools you need to honor it. Whether you are seeking protection, prosperity, healing, or guidance, we offer a range of spiritual goods, including altar items, books, religious jewelry, devotional music, and sacred herbs. Liquid Gold Gifts exists to serve you, to uplift your spirituality, and to ensure that no barrier—physical or otherwise—stands between you and the way you worship. We are honored to be a part of your journey and look forward to continuing to serve you.

CHRISTIAN METALCORE

Christian metalcore is a subgenre of metalcore that blends heavy metalcore music with Christian themes, lyrics, and worldviews. Metalcore itself mixes elements of extreme metal and hardcore punk, known for its aggressive sound, breakdowns, screamed vocals, and fast riffs. Christian metalcore keeps the musical intensity but adds a distinctly Christian focus.
