

Curriculum Vitae- Erin Cahill

Dr Erin Cahill (Principal, Erin Cahill Consulting) and has lived and worked in rural, regional, and metropolitan centres. A sociologist by training, she is a graduate of the Universities of Sydney, and Wollongong. Her postgraduate researches were in gender studies and in law reform. Erin has a work history of over fifteen years, beginning in academia, but most of it in public service which included senior and management roles. Domestic and Family Violence has been the broad focus of her work and within this attention to issues concerning child protection, women's and Aboriginal health, sexual assault and violence prevention. Her work has variously involved education, training, advisory roles, and policy development with NGOs, health workers, indigenous communities, police, local and state governments.

Current	Principal, Erin Cahill Consulting
2017-2019	Manager, Domestic and Family Violence, Principal Policy Officer, NSW Health
2015-2017	Senior Analyst, Office of Kids and Families, NSW Health
2015	Domestic Violence Clinical Pathways, SESLHD, NSW Health
2013	A/Aboriginal Family Health Coordinator, ISLHD, NSW Health
2012	A/Women's Health Coordinator, ISLHD, NSW Health
2011-2014	Violence Prevention Education Officer, ISLHD, NSW Health
2008-2009	Domestic Violence Prevention Coordinator, Shellharbour City Council
2006-2008 2010	Lecturer, Faculty of Arts University of Wollongong
2005-2008	Lesbian Health Project Officer/ Senior Education and Community Development Officer ACON
2002-2006	Casual tutor, Faculty of Arts, University of Wollongong
1999-2009	Research Assistant, University of Wollongong