

However, it could be very windy ...

...and get very muddy at Shellness. This meant it was often difficult to fly the new planes in order to test them.