

It was often less windy and the ground was firmer at nearby Eastchurch, meaning that early aviators on site were getting in more flying time than those down at Shellbeach.

So by 1910, the Short Brothers had moved their factory to the Eastchurch airfield at Stanford Hill.