DEAR SPONSORS

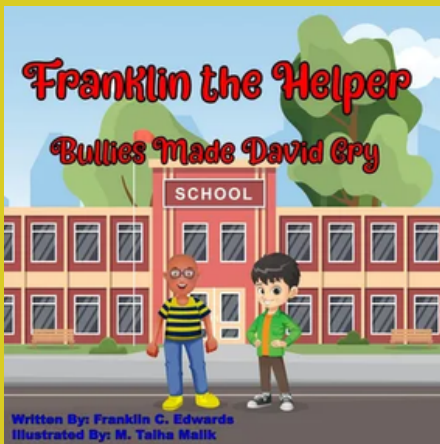

Franklin the Helper Children's Books, LLC was founded by Franklin C. Edwards at the age of 21 in 2021. Turning his negative experience into positive stories to encourage children has led him to create Build-a-Book Workshops designed to inspire children to explore authorship, build confidence, practice writing, and/or to write a book. The workshops are on-going with the first sessions beginning September 2022. With sponsorship support, we hope to expand the Build-a-Book Workshop across Texas and beyond!

MISSION

To encourage children to overcome social obstacles utilizing mental and emotional self-empowerment.

BOOKS

The Build-a-Book Workshop is an important part of Franklin Helper Children's Books, LLC. Since the establishment of our organization, we have made wonderful strides positioning ourselves to be an integral part of our community, Dallas/Ft. Worth and Houston, Texas by donating over 300 Franklin the Helper books to area child-centered nonprofits since January 2022. Mr. Edwards believes in encouraging youth to build their self-confidence and write as a healthy way of expression and fun.

We invite you to partner with us as a sponsor and help us reach our fundraising goal of $10,000. We are convinced that your sponsorship will manifest as a forward and effective individual and/or business decision that has the power to motivate future authors.

Build-a-Book Workshop Experience

The Build-a-Book Workshop is a way for Franklin to share his love for writing, and impact and empower students to be confident in their ability to write stories! The workshop is open to students from grades 4-12.

During the workshops, students will write their own books alongside the author himself, Franklin! The books will be "built" utilizing the following steps: Session 1 develop the story and characters, Session 2 develop the plot, Session 3 develop the climax, and Session 4 incorporate the resolution and complete the book! If the student/parents would like to publish the book to Amazon, Franklin's publisher will assist in the publishing process. Throughout each session, Franklin will share his personal tips and strategies used when writing his books.
