To whom it may concern:

We hired Hunks and Punks for our wedding in February 2020 at the Almonte Civitan Hall and it was without a doubt the best and most defining decision we made in our wedding planning process. Guests continue to reach out to us for the band's name and to share their appreciation for Hunks and Punks playing at the wedding. We've been overwhelmed by the response.

This praise isn't given lightly as there's no shortage of musicians in our family, spanning many genres and generations. As a band, Hunks and Punks are incredibly talented, the range in their song offering is remarkable, and their energy is infectious. From 7:30pm to 1:00am they were the heartbeat of our ceremony, cocktail hour, and reception, including specially requested songs for the father-daughter walk down the aisle and our first dance.

We have been involved in the planning of many events and galas in both professional and volunteer capacities and Hunks and Punks stand out to us for both their professionalism and unending kindness. Their lead contact, Tim McFarland, continually went above and beyond from his first meeting with us right through to their setup and takedown, and many steps in between including taking the time to get to know the venue staff and layout in advance of the wedding.

Tim and the Hunks and Punks played an immense role in making our event what many guests have called "the best wedding" they have ever attended. It has been an absolute pleasure, and very genuinely a privilege to work with Hunks and Punks. We're very much looking forward to having them play again.

If you have any questions about our experience please do not hesitate to reach out to us.

Thanking you,
