Nuggets of Fun and Nostalgia for Treasure Valley Golden-Agers

Pay It Forward with Kindness

When I was a fresh mom with two kids under three, my card was declined in the checkout line. The baby was in the car seat, the two-year-old was asking for bubble gum and chocolate bars. I felt like I could just melt into the floor.

Without missing a beat the man behind me in line handed the cashier his card. "I've got it," he said.

That was ten years ago, and I will never forget it.

When I worked at a coffee shop, we had someone buy their own coffee and then anonymously buy coffee for the next person, just saying "pay it forward."

The next person was shocked to hear their coffee was covered and said, "Well, I want to buy the one for the next costumer." The pay-it-forward lasted most of the afternoon with people buying other people's drinks. My friend at the cash register was near tears by the end of her shift.

I won't ever forget that day and I doubt she has either.

One time in the Target line a mom with a brand-new infant and two littles who were crying and clinging to her legs asked if I might hold her baby for a minute. I took that baby and rocked her in my arms until she stopped fussing.

I bet that mom remembers that day, I know I do.

Happy New Year!

I said to the man who stood at the gate to the year, "Give me a light that I may tread safely into the unknown."

And he replied,
"Go into the darkness
and put your hand into the hand of God,
That shall be better than light and safer than a known way!"

Are You Free Tonight?

She's pretty, and she's single. She lives right across the street. I can see her place from my front window.

I watched as she got home from work this evening. I was surprised when she walked across the street, up my driveway and knocked on the door.

I rushed to open it, and she looked at me and said, "I just got home, and I have this strong urge to go out tonight, have a nice dinner, then party the night away. Are you doing anything tonight?"

I was totally caught off guard by her question, but managed to stammer out a response, "Uh, nope, I'm free all evening."

She said, "That's great! Could you watch my dog for me?"

Being a senior citizen is really tough some times!

When my toddler was somewhere between three and fournado she threw a giant tantrum in a shopping center. I held her on a park bench while she screamed like I was her kidnapper. A couple older ladies stopped and said, "You're doing an AMAZING job, mama, hang in there!!"

I will never ever forget them or their words that day. In a train depot in France we were lost and confused trying to figure out where to go. An older man sitting near us accidentally dropped some cash on the ground. My daughter, who was six, found it and returned it to him. He and his friend loaded us up with snacks from their bags and then in broken English asked if we needed help. They ended up walking us all the way to our next train and riding it with us for a while just to make sure we didn't get lost.

We won't ever forget those two men.

One time on a family road trip we stopped at a roadside cafe to get lunch. When we went to pay, we found out that another couple had already bought it saying that we had a "sweet family."

You better believe we will remember that forever.

Kindness is so powerful. It can be such a little thing, like buying someone's coffee or giving an encouraging word to someone who could use it. You just never know the impact it might have. My guess is that most of us remember the times that someone stepped out of their own life just to bless ours.

What little things can we do this week that just might last with someone for a lifetime?

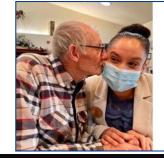

Love, Jess

So simple even a ...

When Albert Einstein was making the rounds of the speaker's circuit, he usually found himself eagerly longing to get back to his laboratory work.

One night as they were driving to yet another rubber-chicken dinner, Einstein mentioned to his chauffeur (a man who somewhat resembled Einstein in looks & manner) that he was tired of speechmaking.

"I have an idea, boss," his chauffeur said. "I've heard you give this speech so many times. I'll bet I could give it for you." Einstein laughed loudly and said, "Why not? Let's do it!" When they arrived at the dinner, Einstein donned the chauffeur's cap and jacket and sat in the back of the room. The chauffeur gave a beautiful rendition of Einstein's speech and even answered a few questions expertly.

Then a supremely pompous professor asked an extremely esoteric question about anti-matter formation, digressing here and there to let everyone in the audience know that he was nobody's fool.

Without missing a beat, the chauffeur fixed the professor with a steely stare and said, "Sir, the answer to that question is so simple that I will let my chauffeur, who is sitting in the back, answer it for me."

Say Goodbye to These Bad Combos

As we say goodbye to the old year, we need to wave goodbye to some old fashion trends. The following combinations do NOT go together and should be avoided at all costs:

- 1. Nose rings and bifocals
- 2. Spiked hair and bald spots
- 3. Pierced tongue and dentures
- 4. Mini skirts and support hose
- 5. Ankle bracelets and corn pads
- 6. Speedos and Depends
- 7. Belly button ring and appendectomy scar
- 8. Unbuttoned disco shirt and a heart monitor
- 9. Midriff shirt and midriff bulge
- 10. Bikini and liver spots
- 11. Short shorts and varicose veins
- 12. In-line roller skates and a walker

Shopping Surprise

A couple was in a busy shopping center just before Christmas. The wife suddenly noticed that her husband was missing and as they had a lot to do, so she called him on her cell phone.

The wife said, "Where are you, you know we have lots to do?"

He said "You remember the iewelers we went into about 10 years ago, and you fell in love with that diamond necklace? I couldn't afford it at the time and I said that one day I would get it for you?"

Little tears started to flow down her cheek and she got all choked

"Yes, I do remember that shop," she replied.

"Well, I'm in the gun shop next door to that."

I'm very ugly So don't try to convince me that I am a very beautiful person Because at the end of the day I hate myself in every single way And I'm not going to lie to myself by saying There is beauty inside of me that matters So rest assured I will remind myself That I am a worthless, terrible person And nothing you say will make me believe I still deserve love Because no matter what I am not good enough to be loved And I am in no position to believe that Beauty does exist in within me I always say Because whenever I look in the mirror Am I as ugly as people say?

It's Just the Ticket

My city recently installed cameras on the traffic lights to capture violators.

I was driving down the boulevard into an intersection when I saw the flash of a traffic camera. I figured that my picture had been taken for exceeding the limit even though I knew I wasn't speeding.

Just to be sure, I went around the block and passed the same spot, driving even more slowly, but again the camera flashed.

Now I began to think that this was quite funny, so I drove even slower as I passed the area again, but the traffic camera flashed again.

I tried a fourth and fifth time with the same results and was now laughing as the camera flashed while I rolled past at a snail's pace.

Two weeks later, I got five tickets for driving without a seat

You Can Bank On It

I'm so old that I still have and still use a landline.

I was recently sent a new ATM card by my bank. I called the number to activate it and was told they had to text me a code first.

I told them I didn't use a cellphone. They replied that I had to come into the bank for activation. I said the whole point of an ATM card was to not have to come into the bank.

I was told, yes, but in order to not have to come into the bank, I had to come into the bank.

Some days I think I'm just too old to still be alive.

WARNING!

I don't know why I didn't figure this out sooner!

I use shampoo in the shower.

When I wash my hair, the shampoo runs down my whole body.

Printed clearly on the shampoo label is this warning:

"For Extra Body and Volume" No wonder I've been gaining weight!

Well, I've gotten rid of that shampoo. Instead, I am going to start showering with Dawn dish soap instead.

Its label reads:

"Dissolves Fat That is Otherwise Difficult to Remove"

Missed the Big Game

An old man was sitting at the Super Bowl with an empty seat next to him.

A nearby fan saw the empty seat and said to the old man. "Who on earth would pay for this expensive seat and not turn up?"

The old man sadly looked up and said, "For 40 years my darling wife and I have sat together and watched every championship, but unfortunately she has passed away so was unable to come."

The young man turned to him and said, "I hope you don't mind me asking, but as sad as your story is, I have to ask, don't you have any relatives, like a son or grandchild or nephew that you could have brought along with you?"

The old man said, "Yes I have, but they've all gone to the funeral."

Lawyer: "Doctor, before you performed the autopsy, did you check for a pulse?"

Witness: "No."

Lawyer: "Did you check blood pressure?"

Witness: "No."

Lawyer: "Did you check for breathing?"

Witness: "No."

Lawyer: "So, then it is possible that the patient was alive when you began the autopsy?"

Witness: "No."

Lawyer: "How can you be so sure?" Witness: "Because his brain was sitting on my desk in a jar."

Lawyer: "But could the patient have still been alive nevertheless?"

Witness: "Yes, it is possible that he could be alive and practicing law somewhere."
