Grandpa's Hands

Grandpa, some ninety plus years, sat feebly on the patio bench. He didn't move, just sat with his head down staring at his hands. When I sat down beside him he didn't acknowledge my presence and the longer I sat, I wondered if he was OK.

Finally, not really wanting to disturb him but wanting to check on him at the same time, I asked him if he was OK.

He raised his head and looked at me and smiled. "Yes, I'm fine. Thank you for asking," he said in a clear strong voice.

"I didn't mean to disturb you, Grandpa, but you were just sitting here staring at your hands and I wanted to make sure you were OK,"

I explained to him.

"Have you ever looked at your hands," he asked. "I mean really looked at your hands?"

I slowly opened my hands and stared down at them. I turned them over, palms up and then palms down. No, I guess I had never really looked at my hands as I tried to figure out the point he was making.

Grandpa smiled and related this story: "Stop and think for a moment about the hands you have, how they have served you well throughout your years.

It's a Nice Day!

"Say, Pooh, why aren't you busy?" I said.

"Because it's a nice day," said Pooh.

"Yes, but——"

"Why ruin it?" he said.

"But you could be doing something important," I said.

"I am," said Pooh.

"Oh? Doing what?"

"Listening," he said.

"Listening to what?"

"To the birds. And that squirrel over there."

"What are they saying?" "That it's a nice day," said Pooh.

"But you know that already," I said.

"Yes, but it's always good to hear that somebody else thinks so, too," he replied.

THOUGHTS ON ReTIREment

By Terry Smith

My Grandpa CJ Wilde had an OK Rubber Welders tire shop in Washington for years. He could still change a tire faster than anyone around clear into his 80s.

He sold a lot of tires, but they weren't all brand new. They would take the old tire casing with worn out tread and replace it with brand new tread that was good for thousands more miles.

So those tires weren't "re-tired," they were "re-treads." I've never been one to be "retired," not that I am irreplaceable. I just believe God has so much more for me to do, so many more people to encourage.

Yes, the warranty has run out on many of these old body parts of mine, but now that I've been "re-treaded," I've got quite a few more miles in me.

See you out on the highway!

"These hands, though wrinkled, shriveled, and weak have been the tools I have used all my life to reach out and grab and embrace life. They put food in my mouth and clothes on my back. As a child my mother taught me to fold them in prayer. They tied my shoes and pulled on my boots.

"They have been dirty, scraped and raw, swollen and bent. They were uneasy and clumsy when I tried to hold my newborn son. My wedding band they showed the world that I was married and loved someone special.

"They trembled and shook when I buried my parents and spouse and walked my daughter down the aisle. They have covered my face, combed my hair, and washed and cleansed the rest of my body. They have been sticky and wet, bent and broken, dried and raw.

"And to this day, when not much of anything else of me works real well, these hands hold me up, lay me down, and again continue to fold in prayer.

These hands are the mark of where I've been and the ruggedness of my life.

"But more importantly it will be these hands that God will reach out and take when he leads me home. And with my hands He will lift me to His side and there I will use these hands to touch the face of Christ."

I will never look at my hands the same again. But I remember God reached out and took my grandpa's hands and led him home. When my hands are hurt or sore, I think of Grandpa. I know he has been stroked and caressed and held by the hands of God.

I, too, want to touch the face of God and feel His hands upon my face.

Radar Trap

A Texas Highway Patrol Officer was conducting speeding enforcement on Hwy 77, just south of Kingsville, TX. The officer was using a handheld radar device to check speeding vehicles approaching the town of Kingsville and was suddenly surprised when the radar gun began reading 300 miles per hour and climbing.

The officer attempted to reset the radar gun, but it would not reset and then. It suddenly went dead.

Immediately a deafening roar over the Mesquite treetops on Hwy 77 revealed that the radar had in fact locked on to a USMC F/A-18 Hornet which was engaged in a low-flying exercise near it's Naval Air home base location in Kingsville.

Hi Yo, Silver

The Lone Ranger and Tonto went camping in the desert. After they got their tent all set up, both men fell sound asleep.

Some hours later, Tonto woke the Lone Ranger and said, "Kemo Sabe, look towards sky, what you see?"

The Lone Ranger replied, "I see millions of stars."

"What that tell you?" asked Tonto.

The Lone Ranger pondered for a minute then said, "Astronomically speaking, it tells me there are millions of galaxies and potentially billions of planets.

Astrologically, it tells me that Saturn is in Leo.

"Time-wise, it appears to be approximately a quarter past three in the morning.

Theologically, the Lord is all-powerful and we are small and insignificant. Meteorologically, it seems we will have a beautiful day tomorrow.

"What does it tell you, Tonto?"

"You dumber than buffalo. It means someone stole our tent."

Radar Trap (Continued from Page 4)

Back at the Texas Highway Patrol Headquarters in Corpus Christi, the Patrol Captain fired off a complaint to the US Naval Base Commander in Kingsville for shutting down his officer's equipment. The reply came back in true USMC style:

"Thank you for your letter. You may be interested to know that the tactical computer in the Hornet had detected the presence of, and subsequently locked on to, your hostile radar equipment and automatically sent a jamming signal back to it, which is why it shut down.

"Furthermore, an Air-to-Ground missile aboard the fully-armed aircraft had also automatically locked on to your equipment's location. Fortunately, the Marine Pilot flying the Hornet recognized the situation for what it was, quickly responded to the missile system alert status and was able to override the automated defense system before the missile was launched to destroy the hostile radar position on the side of Hwy 77, south of Kingsville.

"The pilot suggests your officer covers his mouth and watch his language since the audio systems on these jets are extremely sensitive.

"Finally, Sergeant Johnson, the officer holding the radar gun, should get his dentist to check his left rear molar. It appears the filling is loose. Also, the snap is broken on his holster."

Real Attraction

At a nice restaurant, a man saw an attractive woman sitting alone at the next table.

Suddenly, she sneezed, and a glass eye came flying out of her eye socket. It flew toward the man, but he snatched it out of the air and handed it back to her.

"This is so embarrassing," she said, placing her eye back in place. "I'm sorry to have disturbed you. Let me buy you dinner to make it up to you. Would you like to join me?"

"Of course," he replied.

The woman turned out to be a stimulating conversationalist, stunningly pretty, and the man found they had a lot in common.

He asked for and got her phone number, then asked, "You are the most charming woman I've ever encountered. Are you this nice to every guy you meet?"

"No," she replied. "You just happened to catch my eye."

I need to social distance from my refrigerator so I can flatten my curve!

When You Marry an Idaho Girl

The first man married a woman from Washington. He told her that she was to do the dishes and house cleaning. It took a couple of days, but on the third day he came home to see a clean house and the dishes washed and put away.

The second man married a girl from Oregon. He gave his wife orders that she was to do all the cleaning, cooking and the dishes. The first day he didn't see any results, but the next day he saw it was better. By the third day, he saw the house was clean, the dishes were done and there was a hot dinner on the table.

The third man married a girl from Idaho. He ordered her to keep the house clean, dishes done, laundry washed, and a hot meal on the table every day. The first day he didn't see anything, the second day he didn't see anything, but by the third day the swelling had gone down and he could see a little out of his left eye enough to see to fix himself a sandwich, load the dishwasher and run the vacuum.

Harley Davidson Experiencing Declining Motor Cycle Sales

Famed motorcycle make Harley Davidson recently released a statement regarding their large drop in sales during the last four quarters. The large company is blaming the decrease on cultural changes, rather than economic pressures.

“Apparently a large percentage of Baby Boomers (born between 1944 and 1964) own motorcycles,” said their statement.

“Generation X (born between 1965 and 1979) bought fewer motorcycles, while Gen Y—or Millennials—are not buying any at all.”

“A recent study was done,” it continues. “to find out why Millennials don't ride motorcycles.” Here are the key findings:

1. Their pants won't pull up far enough for them to straddle the seat.
2. They can't get their cellphone to their ear with a helmet on.
3. They can't use two hands to eat while driving.
4. The bikes are not run by renewable energy—electric or wind-powered.
5. They don't get a participation trophy and a recognition plaque just for buying one.
6. They don't have enough muscle to hold the bore up when stopped.
7. They might have a bug hit them in the face, requiring emergency care.
