Memories Next to the Radio

By Jim Pantaleno

As a very young boy around 1950, the radio was my Land of Oz.

We had a big console radio that sat in the living room like a golden idol. It was a Zenith the size of a Buick, made of mahogany with big knobs for tuning and volume control.

My favorite shows revolved around cowboys - Gene Autry, Roy Rogers, and especially The Lone Ranger. The latter appealed to me because of his modesty. He never stuck around for the credit, just handed out silver bullets to remember him by and rode out of town, Tonto by his side.

I would sit in front of that thing and imagine I was riding with Gene and The Thunder Riders or volunteering when Roy was rounding up a posse. I had my cowboy hat, my two cap guns strapped to my hip, and of course my Lone Ranger mask.

I was so cowboy crazy that my Aunt Anna, who was an incredible seamstress, made me a horse out of an old trestle table covered with a shag rug. She fashioned a head of cardboard and even sewed on a "saddle." Inspired by my radio cowboy heroes, I would play in our cellar for hours with my trusty steed.

One favorite plot was to tear off thin strips of newspaper, stick them into the whitewashed cellar walls, and pretend they were dynamite fuses. I would light the fuses, and then run like crazy, vaulting onto my horse to make my getaway before the explosion. (That might explain my high-pitched voice today.)

The Wisdom of Will Rogers

Will Rogers, who died in a 1935 plane crash in Alaska with bush pilot Wiley Post, was one of the greatest political country/cowboy sages this country has ever known.

Some of his sayings:

1. Never slap a man who's chewing tobacco.
2. Never kick a cow chip on a hot day.
3. There are two theories to arguing with a woman. Neither works.
4. Never miss a good chance to shut up.
5. Always drink upstream from the herd.
6. If you find yourself in a hole, stop digging.
7. The quickest way to double your money is to fold it and put it back into your pocket.
8. Good judgment comes from experience, and a lot of that comes from bad judgment.
9. If you're riding ahead of the herd, take a look back every now and then to make sure it's still there.
10. After eating an entire bull, a mountain lion felt so good he started roaring. He kept it up until a hunter came along and shot him.

The moral: When you're full of bull, keep your mouth shut!

ABOUT GROWING OLDER...

- Eventually you will reach a point when you stop lying about your age and start bragging about it.
- The older we get, the fewer things seem worth waiting in line for.
- Some people try to turn back their odometers. Not me; I want people to know 'why' I look this way. I've traveled a long way, and some of the roads weren't paved.
- When you are dissatisfied and would like to go back to youth, think of Algebra.
- You know you are getting old when everything either dries up or leaks.
- I don't know how I got over the hill without ever getting to the top.
- One must wait until evening to see how splendid the day has been.
- Being young is beautiful, but being old is comfortable and relaxed.
- Long ago, when men cursed and beat the ground with sticks, it was called witchcraft. Today it's called golf.
- And, finally ~ If you don't learn to laugh at trouble, you won't have anything to laugh at when you're old.

Memories Next to the Radio - Continued from Page 1

Usually if I was quiet, mom left me alone, but one day she got a whiff of the burning "fuse" and went ballistic.

"Are you trying to burn down the house," she hollered. "Do you know what your father keeps down here?"

"Tony Boots," my dad, had an old wooden dresser full of turpentine, paint thinner and other flammables. Needless to say, my dynamiting days were over.

Few people today remember the magic of radio. I think it fired up kids' imaginations more than all the electronic toys today because there were no images, just words. Your mind had to fill in the blanks.

"Return with us now to those thrilling days of yesteryear... the Lone Ranger rides again."

The Lone Ranger is a radio series that first premiered on Detroit, Michigan's radio station WXYZ on January 30 or 31, 1933. The character was the brainchild George W. Trendle and Fran Striker, and the tales of his tragic origins, partnership with Tonto, and selfless heroism to defend the innocents of the American frontier led him to become an enduring icon of American culture.

Even though the radio show was aimed at children, adults made up at least half of its audience, and it was eventually picked up by the Mutual Broadcasting System, and eventually NBC's Blue Network, which would become ABC. The show ran for 2,956 episodes.

It's Time

She said, "Don't call the doctor, I want to fall asleep peacefully, with your hand in mine."

He told her about the past, how they met, their first kiss. He talked about their wedding, their first house, and their children. He reminded her of their first trip to the ocean, and how they danced in the waves at sunset.

He told her how much he loved her cooking and teased her about those extra pounds he gained because of her. He remembered many more stories, but there wasn't time.

They didn't cry; they smiled. They didn't regret anything, they were just grateful.

Then she repeated softly, "I love you forever!"

He returned her words, gave her a soft kiss on the forehead.

She closed her eyes and fell asleep peacefully with her hand in his.

Love is really all that matters because everyone comes into this world with nothing other than love - and leaves with nothing but love. Your profession, wealth, possessions, accomplishments - they are just temporary, nothing eternal. You will leave it all behind one day.

So just love.... love, as if nothing else matters in your life. Because it doesn't.

Fun Words!

Certain words make me smile....shenanigans for instance or malarkey on a day like today!

But then giggles happen when someone says flabbergasted or flibbertigibbet.

How about dillydally or skippity-do-dah. Running amuck happens, too or hulla-baloo and hey-diddle-diddle.

Fiddle-faddle, helter-skelter, fandangle, is worth a smirk. We used to play tiddlywinks, pick-up-sticks and hopscotch.

We shop at the Piggly-Wiggly and hippity-hoppity down the bunny trail.

Today we might huddle, scuddle or muddle through the day and smile at the cluster muck and muckety-muck!

Yippee skippee, it's a good day for jibber-jabbering!

Financial Advisor:

Do you drink “fancy” coffee?

Lady: Yes.

Financial Advisor:

How many per day?

Lady: Usually two a day.

Financial Advisor:

How much do you pay?

Lady: About $5 each with tip.

Financial Advisor:

How long have you done this?

Lady: About 20 years.

Financial Advisor:

Two coffees a day is about $300 a month, or $3,600 a year. In 20 years, that’s $72,000.

Financial Advisor:

Did you know that if you had put that money in a good mutual fund, that by now you would have enough money to buy a jet plane?

Lady: Do you drink coffee?

Financial Advisor: No.

Lady: Where’s your fancy plane?

An old-fashioned tongue twister:

Betty Botta bought some butter to blend into her batter.
 “But,” she said, “this butter is bitter!
 But a bit o’ better butter will make my batter better.”
 So she bought a bit o’ butter, better than the bitter butter,
 And it made her batter better!
 So ‘twas Betty Botta bought a bit o’ better butter for her batter.

It's weird

FOR SALE, LIKE NEW

A man sold a used VHS player on eBay. A week later he received this surprise typewritten letter in the mail:

February 10, 2019

Dear Bob -
Recently I found several old VHS tapes and wanted to see what was on them, but I realized I didn't have a player. So I went on eBay for the first time and discovered your offer.

I bought your VHS player and you shipped it within a few days. The player looks new and unused. Amazing. I has some issues getting it going, but they were mine and not the player. I am 86 and perhaps not up to my game but I do get there eventually. I finally did, and discovered the VHS player works perfectly.

Thank you so much for your care, your efforts, and your promptness.

I watched tapes of my retirement party from 25 years ago which I had never seen before. Boy, were we young! Then a tape of our wedding with all our family and friends, many of whom are no longer around. Then skiing trips, kids growing up, travels, and most importantly, the gentle maturing of our family. Each one more fun than the last. All thanks to your generous selling of the VHS player.

I thought you would appreciate how much someone has enjoyed your offer.

Best regards,
Douglas

Teamwork!

A man from the city was out for a country drive when he missed a curve and went into a ditch.

Luckily, the farmer just up the hill saw his plight and came to help with his big strong horse.

"This here's Buddy," the farmer said. "We'll get you out."

He hitched Buddy up to the car and hollered, "Pull, Nellie, pull!" Buddy didn't move.

Then the farmer yelled, "Pull, Hondo, pull!" Again, Buddy didn't move.

Once more the farmer yelled, "Pull, Sammy, pull!" Buddy never moved a muscle.

Finally, the farmer says calmly, "Pull, Buddy, pull!" And Buddy easily pulled the car from the ditch.

The city fella was very appreciative, but curious. "Why did you call him the wrong name three times?" he asked the farmer.

The farmer replied, "Oh, Buddy is blind. If he thought he was the only one pulling, he wouldn't even try!"

Passing the Test

A teenage boy had just passed his driving test and asked his father when he could start using the car.

His father said he would make a deal with his son, “You bring your grades up from a C to a B average, study your Bible more, and get your hair cut. Then we’ll talk about using the car.”

The boy thought about it for a moment, then agreed to his dad’s offer.

After about six weeks his father said, “Son, I see you’ve brought your grades up and I’ve observed that you have been studying your Bible, but I’m disappointed that you haven’t cut your hair yet.”

The boy said, “You know, Dad, I’ve noticed in my studies of the Bible that Moses, Samson, and John the Baptist had long hair, and there’s strong evidence that Jesus had long hair, too!”

His dad replied, “And did you notice they walked everywhere they went?”

There are three kinds of men:
The ones that learn by reading.
The few who learn by observation.
The rest of them have to grab the electric fence and find out for themselves.

- Will Rogers

We’re Almost Done!

A man was watching a woman in the grocery store with a small toddler-aged girl in the shopping cart she pushed just ahead of him.

As they passed the cookie section, the little girl asked for cookies and her mother told her no. The little girl immediately began to whine and fuss, and the mother said quietly: “Now Monica, we just have half of the aisles left to go through – don’t be upset. It won’t be long.”

Soon, they came to the candy aisle and the little girl began to shout for chocolate. When told she couldn’t have any, she began to cry loudly.

The mother said softly: “There, there, Monica, don’t cry – only two more aisles to go and then we’ll be checking out.”

When they got to the checkout stand, the little girl immediately began to beg for bubble gum and burst into a terrible tantrum when her mother told her she couldn’t have any.

The mother patiently said: “Monica, we’ll be through this checkout stand in five minutes and then you can go home and have a nice nap.”

The man was very impressed with the woman’s handling of the situation and followed them out to the parking lot and stopped to compliment her, “I couldn’t help noticing how patient you were with little Monica,” he began.

The mother sighed and replied: “Oh, no. My little girl’s name is Bonnie... I’m Monica.”

1. Go to the Thrift Store and buy a pair of size 14-16 men’s work boots.
2. Place them on your front porch, along with a copy of Guns & Ammo magazine.
3. Put four giant dog dishes next to the boots.
4. Leave a note on your door that reads:

Me and Joe Bob and Jimmy Ray went to get more ammo and beer.*

Don’t mess with the pit bulls—they got the mailman this morning and messed him up pretty bad.

I don’t think Killer took part, but it was hard to tell from all the blood.

Anyway, I locked all four of ‘em in the house. Better wait outside.
