Partnering with us:

Our managing principal, Mike Antheil, has been in the solar industry for 15 years and we gain new customers everyday by doing business the right way -with diligence, details, and transparency.

We rely on word of mouth from our highest-possible quality installations, and through strategic partnerships with best-in-class roofers and architects in major regions throughout the state. Our objective is to help our strategic partners improve their bottom line while offering a value to their existing clients. We are a dependable and responsive partner and we can be your go-to resource for including solar services as part of your business offering. We are a partner you can count on.
