

Performing Musician Expectations

1. Qualifications

Musicians may participate in the Southwest Washington Wind Symphony (SWWS) by invitation from the Board of Directors. Musicians shall be invited based upon their musical competence, professionalism, commitment to the goals of the organization, and needed instrumentation as determined by the music and the conductor.

Continued participation in SWWS is dependent upon musicians maintaining musical competence, agreeing to, and demonstrating the following "conditions of participation".

2. Conditions of Participation

Musicians are expected to:

- a. Be punctual and attend all rehearsals and concerts unless an excused absence has been previously arranged with the personnel manager, Samantha Wright. Upon knowledge of a second unarranged rehearsal absence, the personnel manager may refer the issue to the SWWS Board for review.
- b. Stay home when ill and get well! Please contact Samantha Wright at Personnel@swwindsymphony.org to notify SWWS of your absence
- c. Have music prepared for each rehearsal.
- d. Be responsible for any sheet music received and return it at the conclusion of a concert series. The performing musician is financially responsible for lost music.
- e. Refrain from wearing cologne, aftershave, or perfumes as others may be sensitive or allergic.
- f. Demonstrate courtesy and respect to all participants and contribute to the SWWS culture of musical excellence, professionalism, and community.

The SWWS Board values your many contributions to this outstanding group and to the Southwest Washington community.
