

Name Monica R. Alonzo
Office Sought/District Dallas City Council District 6
Email
Phone Number

Just So You Know
A New Strategic Plan for the Dallas Public Library System was adopted last year.

The Dallas City Council last year unanimously approved a new strategic plan for Dallas Public Library, which indicated the library system, with its 29 branches and Central Library location, was well positioned geographically to meet the future needs of residents, but that upgrades and renovations would be needed at most of the branch library locations. For the Central Library, it was recommended that a major renovation occur sometime in the future.

The plan also referenced the need for more programming resources to be developed for the system. Currently, most of the City budget goes to support facilities and staffing, with most programming funds coming from third parties such as the Friends of the Dallas Public Library. Last year, the Friends of the Dallas Public Library pledged at least $350,000 in program support funding to the library for the next five years.

Yet, budget cuts were proposed last year

At the same time the strategic plan was being adopted last year, the Dallas City Manager proposed eliminating one library location to help balance its budget. Proposals to cut library services are not unusual. Dallas has a history of cutting library services to help balance its budget. 2024 was no exception. Faced with state-imposed limits on budget increases and the loss of federal funding, the Dallas City Manager proposed closing the Skillman Southwestern Branch Library and cutting an additional $2 million from the library budget to help balance the city's budget.

The Skillman Southwestern Branch only remained open due to a Councilmember allocating $500,000 from their district's COVID/disaster fund, but library funding was still cut by $1.4 million in FY25 and proposed to be cut by $1.8 million in FY26.

The Skillman Southwestern Branch remains at risk of closure, as it is not included in the City's preliminary proposed 2025-2026 budget passed last year by the Council. Experience shows that budget cuts made to the Dallas Public Library (DPL) can take years – even decades – to be restored. Also, we believe closing the Skillman Southwestern Branch directly contradicts the Library's new strategic plan.

Our library system has a direct impact on thousands of residents' lives every day.

It is a vital resource for our Dallas community:

- Nearly 9 million items were checked out from DPL in 2024.
- 688,257 Dallas residents hold a DPL library card.
- 237,690 patrons attended 15,992 library programs – a 33% increase over 2023.
- 15,829 meals and snacks were served at DPL branches during the summer.
- 692 library volunteers contributed 14,344 hours of service.

DPL staff attended 1,683 offsite events and engaged with 95,384 people about library services.

- Dallas residents are estimated to have saved $30 million last year by using free resources, services, and programs offered by DPL.

Dallas Public Library Makes a Major Impact

Our Dallas public library system has been and continues to be a valued community resource impacting our city every day.

Do you have a Dallas Public Library card?

Over the past 12 months, have you visited a Dallas Public Library location either online or in person?

Which DPL location(s) have you visited?

Do you believe that libraries are important?

Do you believe libraries are adequately funded in Dallas?

Dallas Public Library has 29 branch locations in every corner of the city in addition to the Central Library across from City Hall. At present, only one DPL location is open 7 days a week (Vickery Park branch). There are 27 locations open 6 days a week, and 2 locations are only open 5 days per week. Do you support having all 30 locations open 7 days a week?

Dallas Public Library is more than just books. It provides GED classes, preschool story times, ELL classes, promotes adult literacy, offers small business support, free internet access, senior programs, assists with resumes, job searches and job applications FOR FREE to all Dallas residents. Most of these programs are made possible thanks to private funding - the City of Dallas provides little programming money. Would you support the City of Dallas providing more public funding to programs?

The Dallas Public Library's materials budget to purchase books, media, ebooks/e-audiobooks, and databases has remained essentially flat for the last several years. At the same time, publishers providing these materials continue to increase their costs for both physical and digital materials. If elected, will you support additional increases up to $500,000 in next year's budget to help our library catch up on needed materials?

YES

After now knowing that the Dallas library system is one of the poorest funded per capita among similarly sized cities, do you believe that Dallas should increase its library funding on a per capita basis?

YES

Would you accept, under any circumstances (Prop U), to eliminate any of our branch library locations in order to balance our city budget?

NO

Now that you know more about the services provided by the Dallas Public Library, and the financial challenges it faces, if elected, will you commit to continuing to responsibly grow the library's operating budget?

YES

If yes, what are your ideas?

Working with your organization to bring a plan and implement

In your opinion, what is the role of the Dallas Public Library?

An accessible place in the neighborhoods where people can obtain information and learn to assist with their quality of life (i.e. culturally, books, technology, and a place to gather.)

Additional Comments

Thank you for the opportunity and for your continued advocacy. If elected, I look forward to working with you to keep our libraries!

Name Linus Spiller

Office Sought/District Dallas City Council, District 6

Email

Phone Number

Just So You Know
A New Strategic Plan for the Dallas Public Library System was adopted last year.

The Dallas City Council last year unanimously approved a new strategic plan for Dallas Public Library, which indicated the library system, with its 29 branches and Central Library location, was well positioned geographically to meet the future needs of residents, but that upgrades and renovations would be needed at most of the branch library locations. For the Central Library, it was recommended that a major renovation occur sometime in the future.

The plan also referenced the need for more programming resources to be developed for the system. Currently, most of the City budget goes to support facilities and staffing, with most programming funds coming from third parties such as the Friends of the Dallas Public Library. Last year, the Friends of the Dallas Public Library pledged at least $350,000 in program support funding to the library for the next five years.

Yet, budget cuts were proposed last year

At the same time the strategic plan was being adopted last year, the Dallas City Manager proposed eliminating one library location to help balance its budget. Proposals to cut library services are not unusual. Dallas has a history of cutting library services to help balance its budget. 2024 was no exception. Faced with state-imposed limits on budget increases and the loss of federal funding, the Dallas City Manager proposed closing the Skillman Southwestern Branch Library and cutting an additional $2 million from the library budget to help balance the city's budget.

The Skillman Southwestern Branch only remained open due to a Councilmember allocating $500,000 from their district's COVID/disaster fund, but library funding was still cut by $1.4 million in FY25 and proposed to be cut by $1.8 million in FY26.

The Skillman Southwestern Branch remains at risk of closure, as it is not included in the City's preliminary proposed 2025-2026 budget passed last year by the Council. Experience shows that budget cuts made to the Dallas Public Library (DPL) can take years – even decades – to be restored. Also, we believe closing the Skillman Southwestern Branch directly contradicts the Library's new strategic plan.

Our library system has a direct impact on thousands of residents' lives every day.

It is a vital resource for our Dallas community:

- Nearly 9 million items were checked out from DPL in 2024.
- 688,257 Dallas residents hold a DPL library card.
- 237,690 patrons attended 15,992 library programs – a 33% increase over 2023.
- 15,829 meals and snacks were served at DPL branches during the summer.
- 692 library volunteers contributed 14,344 hours of service.

DPL staff attended 1,683 offsite events and engaged with 95,384 people about library services.

- Dallas residents are estimated to have saved $30 million last year by using free resources, services, and programs offered by DPL.

Dallas Public Library Makes a Major Impact

Our Dallas public library system has been and continues to be a valued community resource impacting our city every day.

Do you have a Dallas Public Library card? YES

Over the past 12 months, have you visited a Dallas Public Library location either online or in person? YES

Which DPL location(s) have you visited? Bachman Lake Paul Laurence Dunbard Lancaster-Kiest Martin Luther King

Do you believe that libraries are important? YES

Do you believe libraries are adequately funded in Dallas? NO

Dallas Public Library has 29 branch locations in every corner of the city in addition to the Central Library across from City Hall. At present, only one DPL location is open 7 days a week (Vickery Park branch). There are 27 locations open 6 days a week, and 2 locations are only open 5 days per week. Do you support having all 30 locations open 7 days a week? YES

Dallas Public Library is more than just books. It provides GED classes, preschool story times, ELL classes, promotes adult literacy, offers small business support, free internet access, senior programs, assists with resumes, job searches and job applications FOR FREE to all Dallas residents. Most of these programs are made possible thanks to private funding - the City of Dallas provides little programming money. Would you support the City of Dallas providing more public funding to programs? NO

The Dallas Public Library's materials budget to purchase books, media, ebooks/e-audiobooks, and databases has remained essentially flat for the last several years. At the same time, publishers providing these materials continue to increase their costs for both physical and digital materials. If elected, will you support additional increases up to $500,000 in next year's budget to help our library catch up on needed materials?

NO

After now knowing that the Dallas library system is one of the poorest funded per capita among similarly sized cities, do you believe that Dallas should increase its library funding on a per capita basis?

NO

Would you accept, under any circumstances (Prop U), to eliminate any of our branch library locations in order to balance our city budget?

YES

Now that you know more about the services provided by the Dallas Public Library, and the financial challenges it faces, if elected, will you commit to continuing to responsibly grow the library's operating budget?

YES

If yes, what are your ideas?

The City of Dallas has to increase incoming revenue through economic development and sales tax revenues.

In your opinion, what is the role of the Dallas Public Library?

As a former art and English teacher, I appreciate the place libraries have in our lives as centers of extended learning, especially for young learner because they effectively fill in learning gaps that instructors can't possibly fill during the 7-8 hour shifts worked. As a child/teen, libraries were magical for me as my mother pushed literacy and was an elected school board member. In contemporary times, libraries play a central role in providing access to technology for users who lack access, programming including ELL and GED classes, job and careers research, reading time, and other vital services.

Additional Comments

I would like to share that while I am a personal proponent of libraries in general, the Dallas Public Library system which includes my community branch, the city is facing some unprecedented challenges that in my opinion were avoidable decades ago and now the day of reckoning is upon us.

Passage of Proposition U by voters is not an idle threat but a tangible reality due to the shortage of police officers in a city as populated as Dallas, and a reduction in our Moody's rating from stable to negative. That low rating will prevent Dallas from issuing municipal bonds from a voter approved bond program because our credit worthiness is questionable and/or unreliable. The long-term ramifications of ignoring that has direct implications for our future library system because we won't be able to borrow to secure funds to repair/upgrade existing libraries or construct state of art new libraries.

And that just doesn't pertain to libraries, it cuts across other areas like museums, cultural facilities, recreation centers, etc. Unfortunately, priorities have to be made and the primary one is getting our police and fire pension fund solvent first and meeting our hiring quota stipulated by Proposition U. Afterwards, once the city has reached and maintained solvency, we can look at increasing funding for the quality of life amenities residents should have access to.