WHO WE ARE

The Historical Society of Esquatak was founded in 1971 by residents of the towns of Schodack and Nassau, Rensselaer County, New York. Our mission is to identify and preserve the historic resources of these towns. The Society is a not-for-profit educational organization chartered by the New York State Department of Education. Oversight is provided by a board of trustees elected by the membership. Activities include lectures/presentations, tours and other educational programs.

WHAT'S AN ESQUATAK?

Esquatak is an Indian name meaning "the fireplace of the nation," so called because the council-seat of the famed Mohican Indians was located in the Town of Schodack. Beside Esquatak, the Indians had villages called Potkoke, Wyomenock and others.
