I've just grown a notch older. My youngest sister down in Georgia just retired at age 65. I'm the oldest of seven so that leaves two brothers to go-Larry down in Ohio, and Christopher down in Kentucky, I don't remember any of us growing older.

My flowers are still hanging in there despite the frost, I did have to cover them over a couple of times. They did not look that chipper when I uncovered them, but they have rebounded nicely. I did dig up my tomato plant. It had a couple of green tomatoes on it, so I picked them off the vine and put them together in a plastic container on the kitchen sink. I'll see if they turn red over time.

Depending on when you read this, I wish you a Happy Halloween or hope you had a Happy Halloween. We don't have trick-or-treating in Holliday Park, but people do decorate to some degree, definitely not at the level of 20 foot high skeletons but signs on the doors and pumpkins in the windows. Back in the day when we were home owners in Garden City, Halloween night was one of my favorites. I enjoyed the excitement of the kids.

Don't forget SVDP. There is still one week left on the Thanksgiving turkeys. There is still time to pull a feather or two. Our purchases are due back in church next weekend.

Jesus was teaching His disciples. These teachings are called the Beatitudes. Listen carefully to learn how Jesus asks us to live. The Beatitudes are blessings that help us be happy with God.
