I've lived in Miami since 2016, and before that, the Washington DC area, Monterrey, Mexico City, Tokyo, Paris, Seoul, Jakarta, and Lagos. I like to travel and Ankor Wat, Cambodia is on my post Covid-19 travel bucket list, along with a trip back to Japan to show the kids where we lived when they were younger. Douglas is a freshman at Clemson University (rushing Spring '21), and Clare Lewis is a junior at Palmer Trinity School. My father and husband were both diplomats, thus the extensive travel. Richard just retired in November 2020 and is enjoying fishing, golf and all the fun that Miami has to offer. I am still working remotely as Chief Regulatory Officer and Vice President Strategic Business Development for TOMI Environmental Solutions, a company based in Frederick, Maryland that sells decontamination/disinfection equipment, so I've been extra busy during the pandemic. In my time outside of work, encouraging women to fulfill their potential through education or volunteering is one of my passions. I volunteer at Palmer, including leading the PTS book club and Helping Hands Committee. I am Vice President/Marketing Chair for the 100 Ladies of Deering, a philanthropic circle of women that work to promote and preserve the Deering Estate, Finance Chair for the Alpha Xi Delta Foundation, and work in a family business. Phew! I still find time for gardening, baking, reading and spending time outside.
