PERSONAL PROFILE

I am a HCPC registered and BPS Chartered Clinical Psychologist specialising in clinical neuropsychology. I work within both the NHS and the private sector. I have experience working closely and collaboratively with solicitors, case managers, and other healthcare professionals to ensure a seamless, coordinated approach to assessment and multidisciplinary neurorehabilitation. .

I have worked with individuals across the lifespan, including those with learning disabilities, complex physical disabilities, severe medical conditions, and neurological illnesses and injury. I am experienced in delivering comprehensive neuropsychological assessments, high-quality neurorehabilitation, and support for individuals presenting with challenging behaviours. I am able to complete mental capacity assessments in the context of traumatic brain injury.

In addition, I routinely provide staff support and wellbeing interventions, helping teams reflect on their practice and maintain resilience in demanding care environments. I am committed to evidence-based, person-centred practice and bring a wealth of clinical expertise to every aspect of my work.
