

Fun and Connection for Logan

Logan, 11, is an enthusiastic gamer. Whether video games, board games, or card games, he relishes a big win almost as much as he enjoys the feeling of connection that he experiences when playing games with friends and family. It has helped him feel less isolated throughout the ups and downs of living with end stage renal disease and recovering from a kidney transplant.

Logan set his sights on a new gaming system for his wish and was excited to make a list of all of the features and components that he wanted. Even knowing some of what he would be receiving, Logan was overwhelmed with awe when he discovered all of his new equipment awaiting him at home, including a computer, monitor, camera, speakers, and more. The feeling of having his wish granted was like no other joy he had felt, and Logan dove right into helping get everything set up.

Logan envisions a career in IT and video game development, and is even a budding YouTube content creator. With thanks to your support in granting his wish, Logan is now even more focused on the feelings of opportunity and potential when he thinks about the future. Whether gaming or learning coding, Logan is motivated and ready to pursue his dreams!

Thank You
