

STAYING WITH THE QUESTIONS

Be patient toward all that is unsolved in your heart and try to love the questions themselves, like locked rooms and like books that are now written in a very foreign tongue. Do not now seek the answers, which cannot be given you because you would not be able to live them. And the point is, to live everything. Live the questions now. Perhaps you will then gradually, without noticing it, live along some distant day into the answer. ~Rainer Maria Rilke

1. How do we reimagine a regenerative future — a world where many worlds fit?
2. What is the essence of a world that contains multitudes of narratives?
3. How can we hold space for the new shoots to emerge from the debris and decay of this collapsing world?
4. How do we step into and embody an essentially pluriversal planet in reimaging a regenerative future?
5. What are the founding principles and values of a pluriverse?
6. How do we steward and co-create new narratives honoring our myriad ways of being, seeing, sensing, and learning?
7. How do we liberate ourselves from the ‘dangers of a single story,’ the myth of universal growth and development?
8. How can we become midwives of the narratives that have been disowned and denied for centuries — the unheard, unseen, unacknowledged ways of being, seeing, sensing, and knowing which can be our salvation towards a regenerative future?
9. What if we could navigate radical uncertainty with fierce compassion and radical tenderness — for ourselves, for each other, for all sentient beings, for this beautiful, fragile Planet?

10. How would we envision our collective future from a place of radical tenderness?
11. What would those choices and decisions made from a place of fierce compassion look like?
12. How can we embrace, what Keats described as ‘Negative Capability?’
13. What does ‘staying with the questions’ require us to be and become?
14. How can we hold space for our emergent selves? For our becoming?
15. How can we become ‘imaginal cells’ for the emerging future?

Sahana Chattopadhyay — a speaker, writer, facilitator, amplifier, and story-seeker. A scribe to an emerging era, making sense from chaos and collapse, holding space for fearless dialogues, and catalyzing transformation towards a pluriversal planet and a regenerative future. (<https://linktr.ee/sahana2802>)

This document is subject to Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International Creative Commons License. What this means? You can download my works and share them with others as long as you give credit; but it cannot be changed in any way or used commercially. Sahana Chattopadhyay, March2021

Sahana Chattopadhyay