We make every effort to pair families with puppies who display the traits they are looking for, however, purchasing a puppy is not like ordering a custom item off a website. You may not receive a puppy exactly as you had envisioned. For example, coat colours can change over time, a dark red puppy coat may mature into an adult coat that is a lighter shade of red. While we can determine coat type from an early age, we don't know exactly how curly, wavy or straight a coat will present as your puppy matures.
