Election Integrity News

- The Colorado Department of State issued a notice of rulemaking to consider permanent adoption of amended Elections rules. The public rulemaking hearing is scheduled for August 3, 2023, at 1:00 p.m. in the Red Rocks Conference Room on the 5th floor of the Department of State's office at 1700 Broadway, Denver, CO 80920. This hearing will be conducted in person and via webinar. To attend the hearing online, please register here. Read about the proposed changes here.
- An Election Integrity Bill named the "American Confidence in Elections Act" was revealed by U.S. House Republicans on July 10, 2023; however, even if the Act passes in the House, it will most certainly fail in the Senate. The act contains more than 50 election-related measures, including promoting the use of voter ID, prohibiting the use of Ranked Choice Voting, preventing noncitizens from casting ballots, and requiring meaningful observer access. A summary of the bill is provided here. Read the full bill here.
- Ohio is launching a new office, The Office of Data Analytics and Archives, dedicated to ensuring transparency in its elections. It will allow post-election results to be analyzed more accurately and increase public access to election data. According to Voter Reference, this law's passage will make Ohio the second most transparent state in the nation.
