Mount Wilson Winter, 56½" x 90", Oil/Linen/Panel

Arturo Chávez, Artist

The rugged and colorful Arizona Desert is a magical place to encounter. Sedona Arizona is built on a bed of Red Wall limestone which was deposited 330 million years ago by a shallow tropical sea.

In the painting titled "Mount Wilson Winter", my focus is the final moments of the setting sun and the feeling of the quiet stillness of the fresh snowfall blanketing the landscape.

The painting, "Mount Wilson Winter" won the Harrison Eiteljorg Purchase Award at the Eiteljorg Museum "Quest for the West" Exhibition, in 2010 and is now in the museum's permanent collection.
