

TOM SEVERANCE HUATULCO CONDO OPPORTUNITY: 2BR-2BA LARGE OCEAN-FRONT CONDO

STEP 1: Check for available dates at: <https://bit.ly/severance2>

STEP 2: Consider the various ways to visit Huatulco from now through mid-October (off season):

<https://mexicoliving.com/how-to-get-to-the-oaxaca-coast-this-season/>

STEP 3: The most economical way is likely a flight from Tijuana (CBX) to Huatulco with a short layover and transfer in Mexico City. Best way to search is using Google Flights: <https://www.google.com/travel/flights>

STEP 4: Once you have your dates set, contact Tom Severance by text at 760-419-7080 so he can insure an appropriate discount with Bayside Vacations Huatulco.

STEP 5: Make your reservation with Bayside Vacations Huatulco after Tom confirms: <https://bit.ly/severance2>

STEP 6: Finalize your flight reservations. Several sites will be available often with slightly different rates.

STEP 7: Review the CBX requirements: Note that you will need 1) Passport; 2) FMM tourist visa form (can be completed online); 3) CBX ticket (often less expensive purchased through the airline.) Travel for 7 days or less requires no visa fee. If your trip is over 7 days, the visa fee is approximately $51. <https://www.crossborderexpress.com/en/>

STEP 8: Consider viewing Huatulco information and travel tips at these links: www.severance.com and www.mexicoliving.com. Listen to Huatulco podcast "Mayd For Mexico" on Spotify or YouTube.

STEP 9: Make sure you have pesos to spend in Huatulco. Have some low denominations. Taxi trips to the two small towns are about $3 USD. Consider renting a car. Check www.autoslash.com for amazing daily rates of $3-4.

STEP 10: Enjoy your trip. Take some photos and share your experience with Tom

Here is a sample itinerary with short layovers in Mexico City using Aeromexico. Round trip fees will vary depending on dates and fare from approximately $350 to $550. Fares are often higher traveling from US cities.
