PUBLIC INFORMATION NOTICE

Potential for Moderate to Heavy Rainfall

A potent upper low will bring moderate to heavy rain and thunderstorms to southern interior B.C. Friday through Sunday. Potential impacts include elevated river responses, localized flooding/pooling, landslides or debris flows, and challenging driving conditions at times.

Event Duration: Friday, June 20, 2025 – Sunday, June 22, 2025

Rainfall amounts: 10 – 40mm

Please continue to monitor your local weather forecasts and alerts.

Key Points

- Significant flood hazard in regions that receive heavy rainfall, including the days following the rainfall.
- Enhanced risk of landslides in vulnerable areas, particularly those affected by recent wildfires (burn scars). Use extreme caution when traveling in areas that have been previously affected by wildfire. Obey “No Stopping” road signage on local roadways if posted.
- The combination of heavy rainfall and potentially unstable soils could trigger landslides or debris flows, posing potential hazards to public safety, infrastructure and natural landscapes.
- The anticipated high precipitation rates over a short duration could lead to water pooling in areas with poor drainage, exacerbating localized flooding concerns.
- Make sure to follow DriveBC recommendations for travel and road conditions.
