Disagree

Buyer agrees that they will refrain from taking their puppy out in public and not potty puppy on communal grass or dirt until the puppy has received its final round of vaccine boosters at age 16 or 20 weeks (depending on their veterinarian's recommendation). To be overly cautious regarding the puppy encountering contagion and less concerned with showing the puppy off. Once the puppy leaves the Breeder's home, it is the responsibility of the Buyer to ensure continued well being of their puppy.

Agree

Disagree

Buyer understands that puppies need training. They are babies and only began walking well, playing and behaving like a dog at 6 weeks old, a short few weeks before they go to their family's home. That badly behaved dogs are a result of lack of training, and it is Buyer's responsibility to train themselves, use online training such as Baxter & Bella or hire a local to them Dog trainer as early as possible to ensure that the Puppy and the Family can live long, comfortable lives together. Nipping in puppies is common, and normal. If you are a person that squeals, and acts hurt when nipped puppy brains view this as your being a puppy and it's play time. In young children, the puppy must not view the child on their level, and it is imperative that you or a trainer teach the puppy their place within their perceived pack.

Agree

Disagree

Buyer understands that puppies and dogs are completely reliant on their families for everything and promise to provide a healthy atmosphere and lifestyle conducive to the puppy's happiness, safety and overall well-being. That leaving the sheltered existence of the Breeder's home is life altering and Buyer's response to this assimilation into the Buyer's home and family will be empathetic and patient.

Agree

Disagree

Buyer understands that Meet-Ups and Shipping Days are for the most part set in stone. Again, The Breeder is not McDonald's, everything must be scheduled as Buyer understands that there are other families that, too, are receiving puppies, and it is the Buyer's responsibility to accommodate the Breeder's schedule. If the Buyer cannot personally attend a scheduled meet up, then it is their responsibility to either send a representative in their place or drive to the Breeder's town to in order to pick up. Buyers of shipping puppies understand that Breeder has no control over airline schedules, cancellations, flight changes, or weather causing embargos etc., and as a convenience are booking and handling this aspect of shipping that most other Breeder's require the Buyer to do for themselves.
