BUSINESS POLICIES, AUTHORIZATION, & CONSENT TO TREATMENT

I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to my practice. My goal as your therapist is to form a collaborative relationship with you to assist you in finding healthy solutions to your problems.

This document is designed to inform you about what you can expect from me regarding office policies, confidentiality, emergencies, and several other details regarding your treatment. Please read them and if you have any questions, discuss them with me.

Background Information

I am a Licensed Clinical Social Worker in the State of Georgia with over fifteen years of clinical experience, providing individual, couples and family therapy in mental health, social services, managed care and hospital settings. I have extensive experience working with diverse populations. My areas of specialty include, but are not limited to: Trauma, Grief, Mood and Anxiety Disorders, Relationship Issues, Family Conflict and Parenting/Step-Parenting.

Theoretical Views & Client Participation: It is my belief that as people become more aware and accepting of themselves, they are more capable of finding a sense of peace and contentment in their lives. However, self-awareness and self-acceptance are goals that may take a long time to achieve. Some clients need only a few sessions to achieve these goals, whereas others may require months or even years of therapy. As a client, you are in complete control, and you may end your relationship with me at any point. In order for therapy to be most successful, it is important for you to take an active role, both during and between sessions. This also means avoiding any mind-altering substances including but not limited to alcohol and non-prescription drugs for at least eight hours prior to your therapy sessions. Generally, the more of yourself you are willing to invest, the greater the return. Furthermore, it is my policy to only see clients who I believe have the capacity to resolve their own problems with my assistance. It is my intention to empower you in your growth process to the degree that you are capable of facing life's challenges in the future without me. I also don't believe in creating dependency or prolonging therapy if the therapeutic intervention does not seem to be helping. If this is the case, I will direct you to other resources that will be of assistance to you. Your personal development is my number one priority. I encourage you to let me know if you feel that transferring to another therapist is necessary at any time. My goal is to facilitate healing and growth, and I am very committed to helping you in whatever way seems to produce maximum benefit.

Confidentiality & Records: Your communications with me will become part of a clinical record of treatment, and it is referred to as Protected Health Information (PHI). I will always keep everything you say to me completely confidential, with the following exceptions: (1) you direct me to tell someone else and you sign a "Release of Information" form; (2) I determine that you are a danger to yourself or to others; (3) you report information about the abuse of a child, an elderly person, or a disabled individual who may require protection; or (4) I am ordered by a judge to disclose information. In the latter case, my license does provide me with the ability to uphold what is legally termed "privileged communication."

Privileged communication: It is your right as a client to have a confidential relationship with a therapist. The state of Georgia has a very good track record in respecting this legal right. If for some reason a judge were to order the disclosure of your private information, this order can be appealed. I cannot guarantee that the appeal will be sustained, but I will do everything in my power to keep what you say to me confidential.

Please note that in couple's counseling, I do not agree to keep secrets. Information revealed in any context may be discussed with either partner if applicable. Please note that this does not apply if you reveal to me information that might put your life or someone else's at risk. If I am put in a position of being asked to keep a secret, due to ethical reasons, I may have to terminate my work with you. If any person from any party wishes to release the information found in the clinical record, I require that both parties sign the release.

Financial Terms and Fees: As a client, you have the right to pay for your services out of pocket or use your insurance benefits. It is important that you understand the differences between these two options. Insurance companies have many rules and requirements specific to certain plans. Please note that managed care companies typically cover only those services deemed medically necessary, therefore they require a diagnosis for treatment. Please let me know if you have any questions and/or concerns regarding this.

If you have coverage for behavioral healthcare under an insurance plan, you are responsible for obtaining initial authorization for treatment from your insurance carrier. I will bill your insurance; however, you are responsible for co-payment amounts and deductibles as set for the by your benefit plan. Missed appointments, court appearances, copies of records, letters, or any other types of reports are not covered by your insurance and the charges associated with them are your responsibility.

There may be certain circumstances in which a client may not be covered by insurance or wish to pay privately due to concerns about having to release confidential information to their insurance companies or simply due to the fact that certain services are not covered by their insurance plan. I do offer a variety of service packages that can be custom designed to fit your needs if you choose to pay out of pocket. If you choose to pay out of pocket, currently a 50-minute counseling session is $85. All fees are to be paid at the time of service.

Other Service Fees: If a check is returned, there will be a $25 return check fee charged. There is a charge of $15 to copy records, plus postage if applicable.

Cancellation/Missed Appointments Policy: Each session is approximately 50 minutes in length. Your appointment time is reserved especially for you. Please respect that there may be times when other clients are on a waiting list to be seen. If you must cancel, please notify the office as soon as possible. If an appointment is missed or it is cancelled with less than a 24-hour notice, you may be charged $50. Please be aware that your insurance company cannot be billed for fees associated with missed or canceled appointments.

In Case of an Emergency: I am available to return routine and urgent calls within 24 hours. There is always a 24-hour voicemail, so messages can be left at any time. If emergency mental health services are needed and I am unavailable to contact you immediately, please call 911 or the emergency mental health number in your county or Georgia Crisis and Access Line (GCAL) at 800-715-4225 or go directly to the closest emergency room.

Professional Relationship: Psychotherapy is a professional service I will provide to you. Because of the nature of therapy, your relationship with me has to be different from most relationships. It may differ in how long it lasts, the objectives, or the topics discussed. It must also be limited to only the relationship of therapist and client. If you and I were to interact in any other ways (e.g., social, business, etc.), we would then have a "dual relationship." Dual relationships may compromise our treatment and, therefore, are discouraged in the mental health profession. In order to offer all of my clients the best care, my judgment needs to be unselfish and purely focused on your needs. This is why your relationship with me must remain professional in nature. Additionally, there are important differences between therapy and friendship. Friends may see your position only from their personal viewpoints and experiences. Friends may want to find quick and easy solutions to your problems so that they can feel helpful. These short-term solutions may not be in your long-term best interest. Friends do not usually follow up on their advice to see whether it was useful. They may need to have you do what they advise. A therapist offers you choices and helps you choose what is best for you. A therapist helps you learn how to solve problems better and make better decisions. A therapist's responses to your situation are based on tested theories and methods of change. You should also know that therapists are required to keep the identity of their client's secret. As much as I would like to, for your confidentiality I will not address you in public unless you speak to me first. I also must decline any invitation to attend gatherings with your family or friends. Lastly, when your therapy is completed, I will not be able to be a friend to you like your other friends. In sum, it is my duty to always maintain a professional role. Please note that these guidelines are not meant to be discourteous in any way; they are strictly for your long-term protection.

Termination Policy: People terminate counseling for various reasons. Sometimes termination is premature of goals being met, while at times counseling is terminated because goals have been accomplished. I want to ensure you that it is my policy to support all termination, for whatever reason. Termination (ending therapy) is an important part of the treatment process. It is best this be a joint decision so progress can be reviewed and expectations for the future can be discussed. Although it is my goal to work with you until your treatment goals have been completed, there will be times when therapy will have to be terminated prematurely. If I cannot provide appropriate therapy for your treatment needs, if treatment goals that are mutually agreeable cannot be developed, if financial commitments are not honored, if you are not benefiting from therapy or if the therapy environment becomes unsafe, if there is repeated non-compliance with appointments, the therapeutic relationship will be terminated. Any non-voluntary termination will be accompanied by an appropriate referral for mental health services. A case will be identified as voluntarily closed after mutual discussion between therapist and client(s) or if there has been no contact for 60 days.

Technology Statement: In our ever-changing technological society, there are several ways we could potentially communicate and/or follow each other electronically. It is of utmost importance to me to maintain your confidentiality, respect your boundaries, and ascertain that our relationship remains therapeutic and professional. Therefore, I've developed the following policies:

Cell phones: It is important for you to know that cell phones may not be completely secure and confidential. If you would like for me not to use a cell phone when contacting you, please let me know.

Text Messaging and Email: Both text messaging and emailing are not secure means of communication and may compromise your confidentiality. However, I realize that many people prefer to text and/or email because it is a quick way to convey information. If you choose to utilize texting or email, please discuss this with me. However, please know that it is my policy to utilize these means of communication strictly for brief topics such as appointment confirmations. Please do not bring up any therapeutic content via text or email to prevent compromising your confidentiality. You also need to know that I am required to keep a copy of all emails and texts as part of your clinical record.

Facebook, LinkedIn, etc.: It is my policy not to accept requests from any current or former client on social networking sites such as Facebook or LinkedIn because it may compromise your confidentiality. Additionally, my ethics code prevents me from soliciting endorsements from clients, and the concept of "Fanning" is considered to be bordering on such solicitation. However, it is still your prerogative to view or share any content on my professional pages. Please note that you should be able to subscribe to my professional Facebook page via Really Simple Syndication (RSS) without becoming a Fan and without creating a visible, public link to my Page, which I strongly encourage for your privacy.

Google: I do not search for clients on Google. I respect your privacy and make it a policy to allow you to share information about yourself to me as you feel appropriate. If there is content on the Internet that you would like to share with me for therapeutic reasons, please print this material out and bring it to your session.

Twitter & Blogs: I may post psychology news on Twitter and write a blog on my website. If you have an interest in following either of these, please let me know so that we may discuss any potential implications to our therapeutic relationship. Once again, maintaining your confidentiality is a priority. I would recommend using an RSS feed or locked Twitter list, which would eliminate you having a public link to my content.

In summary, technology is constantly changing, and there are implications to all of the above that I may not realize at this time. Please feel free to ask questions, and know that I'm open to any feelings or thoughts you have about these and other modalities of communication.

Statement Regarding Ethics, Client Welfare & Safety: Due to the very nature of psychotherapy, as much as I would like to guarantee specific results regarding your therapeutic goals, I am unable to do so. However, with your participation, we will work to achieve the best possible results for you. Please also be aware that changes made in therapy may affect other people in your life. For example, an increase in your assertiveness may not always be welcomed by others. It is my intention to help you manage changes in your interpersonal relationships as they arise, but it is important for you to be aware of this possibility nonetheless.

Additionally, at times people find that they feel somewhat worse when they first start therapy before they begin to feel better. This may occur as you begin discussing certain sensitive areas of your life. However, a topic usually isn't sensitive unless it needs attention. Therefore, discovering the discomfort is actually a success. Once you and I are able to target your specific treatment needs and the particular modalities that work the best for you, help is generally on the way.

I am sincerely looking forward to facilitating you on your journey toward healing and growth. If you have any questions about any part of this document, please ask.
