

WESTON BRANDON

Weston Brandon is a dynamic and results-driven speaker and men's coach who delivers real, tangible impact through his powerful blend of scientific principles and real-world application. He is intentional, relentless, self-reliant, and decisive.

After high school, he spent a semester studying sales at LDS Business College but quickly realized that mastering sales came from experience, not a classroom. He dove into door-to-door sales and dominated the field. Just as his career was taking off, his life was rocked by tragedy—In 2019, his wife passed away in his arms after giving birth to their son, Vance. The loss made continuing in sales impossible.

Determined to rebuild, Weston pivoted to trade school, where he discovered an innate talent for fixing things. This hands-on learning ignited his DRIVE, revealing powerful connections between science, discipline, and life. Now, he shares these insights with audiences, delivering high-impact messages that inspire action and transformation.
