

Harry's Music

Although Harry's song list spans more than 4 decades, this sample list of songs represents where Harry came from musically. Most of these songs have played a big role in his development and mindset over many years.

All of them bring back great memories of friends and places. More recently he has added some great country songs into his shows, such as songs by Keith Urban, Chris Stapleton, and Thomas Rhett.

He cut an album of originals over ten years ago, called "Traynham, Goddard, Cornett," with Alan Cornett and longtime friend and bass man, Brian Goddard. Many of the cuts were written by Traynham and Goddard. The project was recorded in Boston and the stress of travel and deadlines was too much to handle. At this point, no followup recordings have been planned, but you can listen to the album in the audio section of the website (coming soon). The stage is where the magic is for Harry and that's the way it's always been.
