Role: Design Coordinator
Hiring urgently: role available now!
Salary: Upto £55,000-60,000 depending on experience
Location: Greater London

Company Description - Our partner is rapidly expanding in the façade space in London, and are seeking an experienced Design Coordinator to join their growing team. As part of a rapidly expanding company with an excellent reputation in the industry, you will play a key role in helping them deliver high-quality façade projects.

They provide tested and bespoke facade solutions to the UK market, acting as a Subcontractor for new build residential and commercial contracts or as a Principle Contractor for fire safety remediation contracts. Their services include facade consultancy, design & chartered engineering, flexible procurement, and installation services to meet project deliverables.

Role Description - This is a full-time role for a Design Coordinator in Greater London.

- Coordinating the work of architects, engineers, and other design professionals to ensure that all design elements are integrated effectively.
- Reviewing and approving the design drawings, specifications, and calculations to ensure they are in line with project requirements.
- Communicating with clients to understand their needs and ensuring that the design meets their expectations.
- Ensuring that the construction project complies with all relevant health and safety regulations, building codes, and environmental standards.
- Overseeing the development of budgets and schedules for the design phase of the construction project.
- Identifying and addressing any design or technical issues that may arise during the construction phase and working with the project team to find solutions.
- Maintaining accurate records of all design-related activities and providing regular status reports to project stakeholders.
- Participating in project closeout activities, including conducting final inspections, preparing final reports, and ensuring that all design documentation is complete.
