

TILLY'S REMOTE VIBRATIONAL MEDICINE SYNOPSIS

Thu, May 15, 2025 at 4:47 PM

Hi Sylvie,

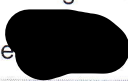

Thank you SO MUCH for your treatment for Tilly! We weren't expecting strychnine poisoning but it all makes perfect sense - all the symptoms she's had since last week. We just couldn't believe how she'd gone from being so well to so poorly in a few short days. At the weekend she was eating grass to try to purge and we couldn't understand how she had a bad tummy at the same time as having mobility problems and how it all linked together. Both her back legs have been collapsing under her, not just the bad one, and she lost control of her back feet too so we thought she might have spinal issues. It all makes sense!

We've been feeling devastated and yesterday we thought it was the end. I cannot express the gratitude we feel for you Sylvie! 💕

Tilly is already looking more lively and relaxed. She's had something to eat with her head raised up instead of lying flat and her eyes are brighter. We were also having to lie her down on her bed and put her in a comfortable position and then she would stay in that position until we moved her again. She actually lay down by herself in a normal position so there are improvements already!

Thank you, thank you, thank you!! 😊 I hope all is well with you? The weather has vastly improved from last year, hasn't it?! My vegetable patch is doing very well, unlike a disappointing 2024, because we have sun!!

We all appreciate hugely what you have done for our dear Tilly, Sylvie. You are an absolute star. I will let you know how she gets on.
