FULL DESCRIPTION

 Walking Between Worlds — Walking Fern
The Working of the Liminal Path
Old Spirits, Wild Roots | First Night Hollow

Walking Between Worlds is a sacred anointing oil created for intuition, liminal work, spiritual perception, and the quiet wisdom required to navigate unseen pathways.

Crafted at First Night Hollow from Walking Fern, this oil supports those moving through periods of transition, heightened intuition, spiritual awakening, and inner transformation. It is a working for the seekers, the threshold-walkers, and those who sense that life is often unfolding beneath the visible surface.

Walking Fern grows slowly across stone, rooting itself as it moves — a living symbol of gradual transformation, intuitive navigation, and learning how to move between worlds without losing grounding or direction.

Its energy is observant,
quiet,
ancient,
and deeply liminal.

Walking Between Worlds is not an oil of force.
It is an oil of perception.

Of subtle knowing.
Of trusting what cannot always be explained.
Of learning to move carefully and consciously through spiritual crossings.

Walking Between Worlds whispers:
The path is revealing itself step by step. Trust your movement.
