Who I Am

I'm Barbara — curious, hands-on, and always up for learning new tricks, bringing ideas to life. I'm a visual artist living in Canberra Australia where I have my own art studio.

What I Do

My practice centres around contemporary figurative painting, exploring emotional depth, identity, and the quiet strength found within vulnerability.

I'm drawn to our beautiful country, the colours of our inner Australian desert lands and outer regions of WA and NT, our Red Earth! In these painting I capture the essence of our red earth, and in many of these paintings I depict the image of the female form.

How I Work

I Work primarily in acrylic, and mixed media, and I employ a contemporary style that balances bold colour with softness of gesture. The tactile quality of paint and layered brushwork creates depth, mirroring the complexity of the subject matter.

My artworks are essentially created using a combination of conscious and subconscious thought. As Leonardo da Vinci once said:

‘Where the spirit does not work with the hand, there is no art’.
