Winners of the
Irving Oil Aviation Scholarship 2024

The New Brunswick Aviation Museum, with the support of Irving Oil, is proud to announce the recipients of the first NBAM-Irving Oil Aviation Scholarships. This prestigious scholarship is awarded to two outstanding students who demonstrate a passion for aviation and/or aerospace and a commitment to academic excellence.

Liam Skedgel (Dieppe, NB) is in his second year at the Moncton Flight School pursuing a Diploma in Aviation Technology. He has demonstrated exceptional academic performance and leadership qualities. Liam also represented our province as a member of the New Brunswick Football team winning the ACL Championship in 2022.

Megan Skedgel (Quispamsis, NB) is starting her first year at the Moncton Flight School also pursuing a Diploma in Aviation Technology. She has earned this scholarship by demonstrating her passion for aviation and her leadership qualities as varsity basketball captain of the Kennebecasis Valley High School team.

These exceptional students have shown remarkable dedication to their studies and a profound interest in the field of aviation. Their achievements reflect the core values of the NBAM-Irving Oil Aviation Scholarship program: excellence, innovation, and a passion for advancing the aviation/aerospace industry.

We extend our heartfelt congratulations to Liam and Megan wish them continued success in their educational and professional endeavors.

The NBAM-Irving Oil Aviation Scholarship is a testament to our commitment to fostering talent and supporting the next generation of aviation and aerospace professionals. We thank all applicants for their interest and commend their achievements.
