Frequently Asked Questions

Q: Do I have to own cattle to become a member?

A: Not at all! You simply need a love for the cattle industry—even if that just means you enjoy a great steak.

Q: Who is a Cattlewoman and what does she do?

A: A Cattlewoman is any woman or young lady who is passionate about the promotion and welfare of the livestock industry.

We are dedicated to strengthening and supporting the beef community by:

- Promoting the enjoyment and nutritional benefits of beef.
- Sharing recipes, cooking tips, and industry knowledge at public events.
- Educating members and the public about the environmental stewardship and animal care practices of today's beef producers.

We serve our community by inspiring curiosity and appreciation for agriculture—whether that's reading to children in classrooms, lending a helping hand where it's needed most, or advocating for our cattle and beef industry. We are committed to leaving a lasting legacy by instilling pride and responsibility in future generations, teaching them the value of caring for cattle, respecting the land, and supporting their goals through scholarships that further education in agricultural fields.

Fellowship is also at the heart of what we do. Beyond our monthly meetings, we gather for social events with Cattlewomen and Cattlemen from across Florida, building friendships that last a lifetime. We show up for each other—in times of celebration, in moments of need, and everywhere in between.

Q: When and where do you meet?

A: We typically meet on the 2nd Thursday of the month at 6:00 PM at:

Stable Faith Cowboy Church
12077 Broad St.
Brooksville, FL 34601

Occasionally, our meeting date, time, or location may change. Please check our Facebook page for the most up-to-date information.

About Us

Hernando County CattleWomen, Inc. is dedicated to promoting our county's beef industry through community outreach, education, and promotional projects. We support youth agricultural programs related to beef production and partner with the Florida CattleWomen and Florida Cattlemen's Associations to strengthen and protect the livestock industry.

Membership is open to any woman or young lady at least five years old who is interested in supporting and promoting the livestock industry.

Florida CattleWomen, Inc. is a statewide organization committed to advancing Florida's beef industry through public relations, education, and promotional projects. Members participate in coordinated programs with the Florida Beef Council and collaborate with the Florida Cattlemen's Association. Membership is open to women who are members of the Florida Cattlemen's Association, wives of members, or any woman passionate about the promotion and welfare of the livestock industry.
