

Signing with a Christian Company

When thinking about signing with a company to publish your book, there are many things to consider.

Those could include the publishing process, the royalty percentage, the reviews, the final product produced and the foundation of the company.

In that consideration, the foundation of Crossroads Publishing is our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. The owner, Pastor Tonya Andrews, has been in ministry for many years in many capacities. This brings aspects that need consideration. You do not have to be a Christian to sign with Crossroads Publishing. We just ask that you please consider the journey if you choose to.

In the Christian belief, there is definitely a separation of the good and the evil. When those who strive to live and exemplify unconditional love share that with others, evil fights back. It is an age-old concept that is no different with a Christian company. While the owner has absolutely no issue with those submitting who do not believe the same or have written something other than a Christian book (outside of erotica), there is still the spiritual battle that ensues on a daily basis. How this could affect anyone's journey specifically with Crossroads is not known. However, there may be instances that will be out of everyone's control in that spiritual battle.

The way to work together through this is understanding and patience, all the way around. This company has some staff beginning in their field, some staff with health issues and a collective that does their best with any of the books in process. In trying to make Crossroads a different kind of publishing company, that extends to every part of the company involved. It is also realizing that Crossroads cannot control Amazon, KDP or any other company involved in the publishing process. There will be unexplained delays when dealing with many companies.

Please realize if you choose to allow Crossroads to publish your book, it will be from a patient, understanding point-of-view across the board. If situations need to be handled, rest assured, the owner will do what needs to be done, whether it be sincere apologies, a different course of action or just getting the work done herself.

Your patience and understanding would be sincerely appreciated if you so choose to sign a book contract with Crossroads Publishing, LLC. The world needs more of both, along with the love of Jesus, and that is what Crossroads strives to share and make known, even if it's only in the process of the book being published.

Those beliefs will not be pushed on you nor expected in this journey. You will not be required to submit to anything that you do not believe in, however, scripture will be referenced in some educational sessions, the Writer's Conferences and along the way. It is your choice as to what you do with the information given.

Thank you very much for considering Crossroads for your publishing needs. We look forward to a possible partnership moving forward that will be beneficial for everyone involved. If you choose not to sign with Crossroads Publishing due to this information, we totally understand and wish you well.
