Colin Young is an award-winning professional photographer and licensed tour guide based in Colorado and Southern Utah. As a part-time resident of Moab for a decade, he has spent several weeks a year exploring the photographic riches in and around Moab in every season. He has also spent the last 6 years hiking and capturing images in Rocky Mountain National Park, and he moved to nearby Longmont, Colorado in 2020. He is a certified photography tour guide in Arches, Canyonlands, Bryce Canyon and Rocky Mountain National Parks. Lately he has developed a specialty teaching tour clients and workshop participants how to capture the Milky Way.
