

CLAUDIA KRONK is an entrepreneur and self-taught baker. From age three, her love for spending quality time in the kitchen with family led to a love for baking. At age 13, Claudia's home-based bakery business, Desserts by Claudia, was born. Through her work selling to restaurants and the film industry, she found a passion much bigger than baking: finding ways to help lessen food waste and fight food insecurity. This book delves into how her business started, why she became interested in food insecurity, and how we can do our part through planet-conscious baking practices.
