NEVADA PARENTAL PROTECTION ACT (NPPA)

This initiative guarantees the legal right of all Nevada parents to direct the education, healthcare, and digital exposure of their children in state-funded public schools and related programs. It requires school districts to notify parents in advance about all lesson plans, surveys, psychological screenings, and third-party partnerships. Parents may opt out of any non-essential educational content, value-based instruction, or social-emotional programming that contradicts their beliefs or preferences.

The measure prohibits schools and outside contractors from referring students to gender-affirming care, mental health counseling, or other treatments without the express written consent of the parent or guardian. All curricula, digital tools, and consultant programs must be made publicly accessible. Violations may result in fines up to $25,000, contract disqualification, and civil liability. Whistleblowers who expose violations are protected and may receive rewards.

A new Nevada Office of Parental Rights will be established to investigate and enforce violations of this law. The measure takes effect January 1, 2026, and ensures that no parent in Nevada will be sidelined or bypassed when it comes to their child's wellbeing, beliefs, or education.
