Chairs:

Chairs without arm rests should be arranged in a semi-circle. If space permits, leave room behind the chairs adequate for the performer to move around. Otherwise, set them against the back wall. At least fifteen (15) chairs should be set up on stage. Suggested minimum stage is 20' wide x 15' deep – the bigger the better. This will allow us to accommodate more volunteers.

Lighting:

Soft front wash. No effects.
No follow spot required unless the venue warrants it.
Adequate lighting to fully light the entire stage.
Electrical hookups behind the loudspeakers.

Sound:

It is imperative that the volunteers on stage be able to hear DANZIG the HYPNOTIST.

Professional sound system with speakers, stands, and cords.

Playback sound monitors (speakers for the performer on stage) should be used whenever possible to assure crisp and clear sound for the participants.

DANZIG the HYPNOTIST carries and uses his own headset and hand-held microphones.

One extension cord will be required. The cord must be long enough to connect a power strip to an electrical socket in the room.

System input required. Must be able to connect three (3) XLR connections (microphone cable hookups) and one (1) pair of RCA standard stereo jacks.

Table:

For public address system, props, laptop, and controllers.

DANZIG the HYPNOTIST controls musical queues remotely through a ShowCues controller, which is plugged directly into the sound system. The public address system and ShowCues controller will be placed on the back table. If a stage manager is present, a second table will be needed.
