HOW FAST WILL MY DOG LEARN?

All dogs are wonderfully brilliant! The best results come when the handler is sensitive, timely and appropriate with praise and correction. If your dog is not doing well, look at your handling methods before blaming your dog. It is true that different breeds learn at different rates, but what really matters is the mindset and diligence of the handler. You influence your success more than your dog does. Aim high and you can experience amazing and rewarding results. If you are sloppy, your dog will be too. If you get discouraged, ask Stephanie for help!
