

Providing reliable delivery and creating added value for customers is the service philosophy of the Nowtech team. Nowtech strictly controls quality and relies on technology and production capacity to provide customers with safe, stable and efficient battery energy storage solutions through its global service network.

Nowtech's business philosophy is to build a team with the purpose of customer service satisfaction. Creating business success with customers is the value we can create.

Nowtech is proud to offer its premium lithium battery products and battery energy storage systems worldwide. Nowtech has experienced engineering, service and production teams, and has passed ISO9001, ISO14000, TS16949 certification, and its products have IEC, UL, UN38.3, MSDS, BIS and other certificates.

We firmly believe that the world will be a brighter place when everyone has access to free green energy. Nowtech is committed to working with all partners to achieve this great goal.

Nowtech's mission: to provide customers with safe, stable, and technologically impressive battery energy storage solutions.

Nowtech's vision: to become the most influential brand and enterprise in the new energy field through continuous product innovation and technological breakthroughs.

Nowtech's culture: integrity, innovation, responsibility, and win-win.