

Driving Better Outcomes in Mediation: Strategy, Selection, and Settlement in Today's Dispute Landscape

Date & Time Mar 31, 2026 09:00 AM in Eastern Time (US and Canada)

Description The program offers a practical perspective that positions mediation as a deliberate strategic tool rather than a routine procedural step. The session examines the modern dispute environment and why mediator selection, format decisions, and early preparation increasingly determine resolution outcomes across industries. Panelists will explore how to select the right neutral—matching subject-matter expertise, facilitative or evaluative style, diversity, cultural competency, and regional experience to the specific dynamics of the case. Panelists will provide practical insights into positioning cases for resolution, managing impasse, leveraging mediator proposals, and sustaining momentum beyond the session. The program concludes with insight into how diverse, carefully vetted neutrals strengthen trust, legitimacy, and problem-solving effectiveness in today's dispute resolution landscape.
