PREPARING YOUR DOCUMENTS FOR THE FINAL QUARTER

As the year moves into its final months, many personal and business decisions begin to take shape. Reviewing your important documents now can save valuable time, reduce stress, and help you avoid last-minute complications before the holiday season arrives.

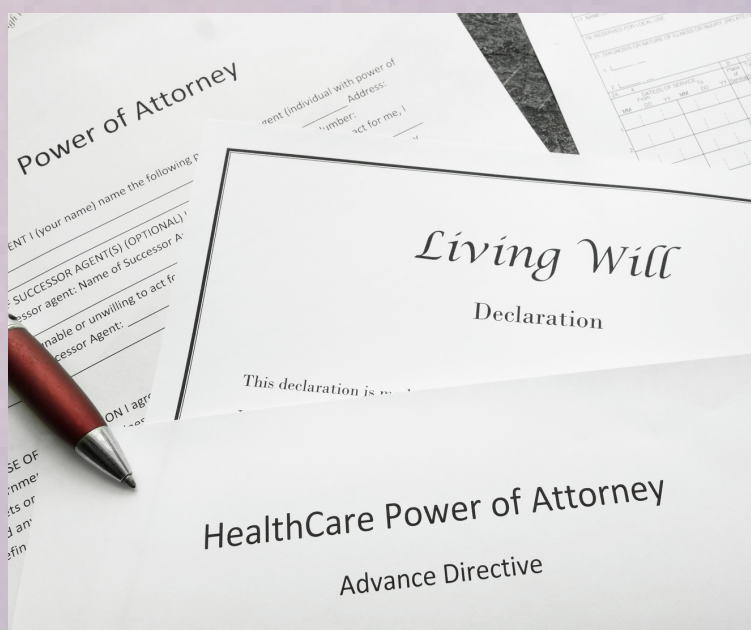

September is an excellent time to review:

- Estate planning documents
- Power of Attorney forms
- Business agreements and contracts
- Real estate paperwork
- Healthcare directives
- Financial authorizations

Taking a few moments now to review your documents can help prevent delays and keep you, your family, and your business prepared for what's next.

SERVICE SPOTLIGHT: ESTATE PLANNING & POWER OF ATTORNEY NOTARIZATION

September is one of the best times to review the legal documents that protect you, your loved ones, and your future. Reviewing them now helps prevent delays and gives you peace of mind for the months ahead.

Legally Notarized can help with:

- Power of Attorney notarizations
- Living Trust and estate planning documents
- Healthcare directives
- Advance healthcare documents
- Financial authorization forms
- Remote Online Notarization for clients anywhere

WHAT TO PREPARE

- Documents completed but unsigned
- Valid government-issued ID
- Email addresses for participants
- Reliable internet connection
- Supporting documents, if applicable

Pro Tip: Estate planning isn't only for retirement. Having these documents prepared early gives you and your family confidence whenever life changes unexpectedly.
