The Light of A New Day

Joel 2:25-29

And I will restore to you the years that the locust hath eaten, the cankerworm, and the caterpillar, and the palmerworm, my great army which I sent among you. And ye shall eat in plenty, and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt wondrously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed. And ye shall know that I am in the midst of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none else: and my people shall never be ashamed. And it shall come to pass afterward, that I will pour out my spirit upon all flesh; and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions: And also upon the servants and upon the handmaids in those days will I pour out my spirit.

The California Zephyr is the longest train journey in the US. It runs through the Rocky Mountains, Colorado Canyons, and the Sierra Nevada. Engaging this trip, a woman noticed in a seat directly in front of her a young girl who was journeying by herself. Being that most of the trip is through desert terrain, it seemed strange that the young girl was fixated, staring out of the train window at the empty plains and mountains. At lunch time the woman visited the diner. Upon her return she noticed the girl still gazing out the window. The woman then leaned over to the girl and said "are you not tired?" "Some," the girl replied. "Are you hungry?" the woman asked. Gazing into the woman's eyes and smirking, the girl said "A little, however my Father is going to meet me at the terminal." She could weather anything along the way for the joy of the meeting at the end of the journey.

The Prophet Joel also found himself passing through barren territory. A land with only the remains of that which was left by the cankerworm, caterpillar, and palmerworm. The land that Joel loved lie bleak and dismal. Mourning seemed the only adequate response to the condition. However, a brighter day was to come. Joel seemed to find a window of his own, and through it he saw the mountains already tipped with light. It was the Light of A New Day, that gave him courage for his journey through the desert terrain.

Q. After a church service, a minister said to a woman, "I noticed that your husband walked out in the middle of the service. I hope I didn't say anything that offended him." "I don't think so," the wife replied. Answer on pg3

"Resetting for Righteous Resolve" 1 Peter 5:1-10

Joel teaches that we should never give up hope in dry times. We should always anticipate the reveal of Justice, the restoration of Righteousness, and the return of Faith to its rightful place, for the record is "You shall eat in plenty and be satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, who has worked wonders for you; and My people shall never be put to shame" The promise was that the nations would know that God was in their midst. This was their promise, and it is ours as well.

God's Spirit would be poured out upon them, upon all ages and all groups, to give them clear vision, the ability to think, and a will to do. Joel's anticipation for what was promised steadied him to receive this by strengthening his heart. I pray that you will join me, and together let us be steadied and strengthened our heart as we journey into the joys that await all who dare to walk in the Light of this New Day!

Prayer:

Eternal God our Father, God of all ages, we thank you for the ability to look forward. We thank you for the gift to anticipate future days, and to recall departed years. We praise you for hope that sees the better times beyond the barren years. We praise you, and thank you for a hope potent enough to harvest your love, renew usefulness to the seasoned, and stir aspirations of young. God we yield our sights that you might shine upon our brows the Spirit's light to see the New Day, In Jesus Name, Amen.
