- 2 A stadium consists of the stadium body and the stadium cover.

✂ Regarding the Xtreme Stadium

- 1 The Over Zone refers to the two pockets located at the front left and right of the Xtreme Stadium.

- 2 The Xtreme Zone refers to the 2 holes located at the central positions in front of and back of the Infinity Stadium.
- 3 The Battle Zone refers to the parts of the Infinity Stadium main body excluding the Over zone and Xtreme Zone.

X Shooting Method

- 1 When launching your Bey, shoot from a height of 20 cm or less above the stadium body.
- 2 Decide the Shooting position (left position, right position, center position) by a fair means such as rock-paper-scissors. The chosen shoot position cannot be changed during that match.
- 3 Generally, players must prepare to shoot only when part of their Beyblade is within their chosen shoot position. However, this rule does not apply if the judge determines that neither player's shooting stance interferes with the opponent's launch or preparation.
- 4 It is prohibited to interfere with an opponent's launch or stance through your shooting posture. Under no circumstances may a player's body part / launcher / accessories be in contact with the opponent or the stadium during the launch. If an opponent's hand, arm, launcher body, or accessories enter your shooting position and interfere with your shot or stance, you may report this to the judge. If the judge confirms there was interference, players will be required to adjust their launch stance, and the battle will begin. If contact occurs during a shot and the judge deems it dangerous, the judge may specify the shooting stance. Intentional contact with the opponent or stadium, as determined by the judge, will result in disqualification.
- 5 Shoot with the call "Three, Two, One, Go Shoot".
- 6 Shoot your Bey so that it passes through the shoot area.
- 7 When the judge calls "Three, Two, One, Go Shoot", launch your Bey during the call of "Shoot".
- 8 Do not shoot your Bey while keeping it grounded in the stadium. If the judge determines that contact touch was intentional, it will result in disqualification.
- 9 Prepare your shooting stance within the designated hatched area. For the Wide Xtreme Stadium, position your body directly in front of the shooting position marker.

X Regarding Battle

- 1 After shooting, step back one step.
- 2 Do not peer into the stadium.
- 3 If the Bey does not detach from the launcher during the shoot, or if the Bey falls off after the judge has called "Three, two, one, go shoot" or if the Bey is shot outside the designated shoot area and touches the exterior of stadium or the stadium cover, it will be considered a shooting error.
- 4 A shoot before the judge calls "shoot" is considered a premature launch (false start), while a shoot after the call has been completed is considered a delayed launch.
- 5 The judge will determine shooting errors, premature launches, and delayed launches, and will caution the respective players.
- 6 The battle begins once all Beys have passed through the shoot area and touched the stadium. If the Beys collide in the air before they touch the stadium, or if there are cases where parts come off, and the battle has not started, then the battle will be restarted.
- 7 If you have any questions regarding the battle, please inform the judge on the spot. Opinions after the next battle has started or from anyone other than the player will not be accepted.
- 8 Do not touch the stadium or the Beys inside the stadium until the judge grants permission.
- 9 If the judge determines that the way a player uses or launches the Bey is dangerous, or any event that disrupts fair play occurs, the judge will stop and restart the battle.

X Regarding Battle Results

- 1 The Bey that continues to spin in the battle zone longer than the opponent's Bey wins.
- 2 Decisions regarding outcomes and finishing moves must follow the judge's rulings.

If the battle starts without any shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches, points are awarded based on the following finishing moves. The first to earn 4 points wins the match.		Points earned
Xtreme finish	This occurs when the opponent's Bey completely enters the Xtreme zone and cannot return to the battle zone. <small>※ Subject to judge's discretion.</small>	3 Points earned
Over finish	This occurs when the opponent's Bey completely enters the over zone and cannot return to the battle zone. <small>※ Subject to judge's discretion.</small>	2 Points earned
Burst finish	This occurs when the parts of the opponent's Bey detach and separate before your Bey. (such as the Blade, Lock Chip, Main Blade, Over Blade, Metal Blade, Assist Blade, Ratchet, or Bit)	1 Point earned
Spin finish	This occurs when the spinning speed of the opponent's Bey in its original rotation direction becomes zero in the battle zone before your Bey.	1 Point earned

※ BULLET detached from the GRIFFON do not count toward the win/loss judgment mentioned above. The outcome is determined based on the main body itself.

- 3 If the judge determines that Xtreme Finish, Over Finish, Burst Finish, Spin Finish, or any combination of these occur simultaneously, it is considered a draw, and the battle will be restarted.
- 4 If multiple finishing moves occur in the same battle, the outcome will be determined by the finishing move that occurs first, based on the following timing.
 Xtreme Finish: The moment the entire Bey enters the Xtreme zone.
 Over Finish: The moment the entire Bey enters the over zone.
 Burst Finish: The moment a Bey's parts detach and separate.
 Spin Finish: The moment the Bey's spinning speed in its original rotation direction becomes zero.
- 5 It is considered as a Reverse if the entire Bey, after entering the Xtreme zone or over zone or after leaving the stadium once, returns to the battle zone while maintaining its rotation. In this case, the Xtreme finish, over finish, or restart is canceled, and the battle continues.
- 6 Do not touch any Beys inside the stadium before the judge announces the outcome. If you do, the judge may determine that you lose the match.
- 7 Malicious battle interference will result in disqualification, as determined by the judge.
- 8 Under no circumstances are players allowed to touch the stadium with their body, launcher, decorations, etc., during the battle. If the judge determines that a touch was intentional, it will result in disqualification.
 ※ However, this does not apply in cases where the handle of the string launcher or string touches the stadium after the shoot, provided the judge determines it does not affect the battle.
- 9 In the event of disqualification, past match results will not be overturned for any reason. Disqualification takes effect from the moment a ruling has been determined.
 ○ In cases where it is impossible to determine any finishing move, such as when a Bey exits the stadium from a location other than the Over Zone or Xtreme Zone and cannot return to the battle zone, the battle may be replayed at the discretion of the judge.
 ○ If the rules vary depending on the tournament, the information provided for that specific tournament may take precedence.
 ○ In the same battle, if there are a total of two shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches, one point is awarded to the opponent, and the battle will be replayed.
 ※ Once a point is scored, any previous shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches will be nullified.
 ※ However, if all players in the same battle simultaneously perform the action for the second time, the second occurrence will be invalidated, and the battle will be replayed with all players considered to have performed the action for the first time.

Regarding Results of 3on3 Battles

Preparation

- ① Place the three Beys in the deck case in the order they will battle, and undergo Bey check.
- ② A player cannot use the same part multiple times among the three Beys. Even if the colors differ, they are considered as the same part. However, among the lock chips in the Custom Line (CX), "Valkyrie" and "Emperor" are each limited to only one each, all other lock chips can be used in multiples.
- ③ During the match, you cannot change the order or combination of the three Beys without the judge's permission.
- ④ If you cannot prepare three Beys, you will receive one rental Bey from the judge. You must use the rental Bey for every battle.

Outcome

- ① The Blader who first accumulates a total of 4 points wins.
- ② Battles are conducted one Bey at a time, following the user's assigned order.
- ③ In the case of a draw, a rematch will be held with the same Beys.
- ④ If a winner is not determined after three battles, you may rearrange your order of Beys. Afterwards, continue with the match, and the match continues.

Regarding Outcomes of 3-Blader Battles

Battle outcomes

- ① Three players battle, and the last person remaining is the winner.
- ② Until the last person remaining is determined, do not touch the Beys inside the stadium. If you do, the judge may determine that you lose the match. In that case, the match continues with the remaining players without changing the Shooting position or points earned.
- ③ If multiple finishing moves occur in the same battle for a single Bey, such as when a Bey that has already achieved a spin finish bursts after touching another Bey, the outcome will be determined by the finishing move that occurred first.
- ④ If a player accumulates two shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches in the same battle, the shooting position will not be changed and the battle will be restarted with two other players, excluding the player who got eliminated. After the battle, if the match has not been settled, the battle will continue with all three players.
  - ※ If one player is eliminated due to shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches, and the other player also accumulates two shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches, the remained player will receive 1 point and the next battle will begin.
  - ※ If two players are playing with the Wide XtremeStadium at the start of a battle, the player will receive 1 point when the opponent accumulates two shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches in the same battle, and the battle will be restarted.
- ⑤ In the same battle, if two players simultaneously accumulate two shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches, the remaining player receives 1 point, and the battle is restarted.
  - ※ Once a point is scored, any previous shooting errors, premature launches, or delayed launches will be nullified.
  - ※ However, if all players in the same battle simultaneously perform the action for the second time, the second occurrence will be invalidated, and the battle will be replayed with all players considered to have performed the action for the first time.

Regarding Match Outcomes

5-point System Start a 3-player battle. All points from the finishing moves of the other two players are awarded to the last person remaining. The player who first accumulates a total of 5 points wins the match.

Best of Two Wins System Start a 3-player battle. The last person remaining, regardless of the finishing move, earns one win. The first player to achieve two wins is the overall winner. If a player earns points due to the opponent's shooting error, premature launch, or delayed launch, it also counts as one win.

About Team Battle Outcomes

About Preparation

- ① Form a team with the number of members specified by the tournament rules. Teams with a different number of members cannot participate.
- ② Place the Beyblades in each blader's deck case in the order they will battle and undergo Bey check.
- ③ The same part cannot be used across the Beyblades in a team. Different color variations of the same part are also considered as the same part. However, among the lock chips in the Custom Line (CX), "Valkyrie" and "Emperor" are each limited to only one each, all other lock chips can be used in multiples.
- ④ Decide the shooting order for your team.
- ⑤ During a match, you cannot change the order of Beys, their combinations, the shooting order, or team members without the judge's approval.
- ⑥ If a team cannot prepare the required number of Beyblades, the judge will provide rental Beyblades. In this case, all team members must use the rental Beyblade for every battle.

About the Outcomes

- ① Matches are conducted in an elimination format.
- ② Each battle follows a first-to-2-points rule.
- ③ The winning Blader continues to the next battle, while the losing Blader is replaced by the next team member.
- ④ The team that defeats all the opposing team's Bladers first wins the match.
- ⑤ When a battle is decided and a new opponent steps in, any points earned up to that point do not carry over.
(Example: If the first battle ends with a score of 2-1, the points earned by both teams' first Bladers do not transfer to the second Bladers, and the new battle starts from 0-0.)
